BURNABY GUN BATTLE HERO IN GOOD CONDITION

RCMP Constable H. M. C. (Bud) Johnstone, hit with eight bullets during his battle with bandits in Tuesday's bank holdup at Burnaby, was reported in good condition today by hospital officials at New Westminster. Johnstone, seen in hospital bed, had seven of the eight bullets removed Tuesday. Eighth bullet will be removed later. A button on Johnstone's tunic was credited with saving his life in the fusillade of shots. The heavy button was found on the bank floor, smashed by the impact of a bullet.

DRAMATIC ARREST of fourth suspect in bank hold-up is seen. Manacled and under heavy guard suspect watches as Vancouver and Burnaby police search tangle of brush for sawed-off shotgun thrown away when bandit fled in stolen panel truck. The suspect, behind officer's arm, was captured without resistance. An unfired Thompson sub-machine gun was found near the spot. The shotgun was found in the bank. The sub-machine gun was loaded with a 40-round clip and set for firing. (Vancouver Sun photos.)

Mountie Hero of Bank Holdup Promoted, Praised for Bravery

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer H. M. C. "Bud" Johnstone has been promoted from constable to the rank of corporal following his actions in a gun battle at Vancouver on Tuesday.

The promotion was confirmed today by Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac here.

The Assistant Commissioner said Commissioner L. H. Nicholson, MBE, at Ottawa had announced the promotion and also commended Corporal Johnstone for his bravery.

The promotion was dated back to April 1.

Assistant Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said "Constable Johnstone displayed the greatest devotion to duty and courage in apprehension of the bank bandits. His actions were in line with the highest traditions of the force."

Constable Johnstone was awaiting final word of a transfer to command the Qualicum Beach RCMP detachment when the bank holdup took place.

On the mainland Reeve James Christmas of Coquitlam and Tom Goode, Liberal MP for Burnaby-Richmond, praised Constable Johnstone for his "heroism."

Reeve Christmas said he will try to have the officer officially decorated.

Meanwhile, Royal Columbia Hospital in New Westminster today reported Constable Johnstone in good condition. Seven of the eight bullets were removed from his body in an emergency operation Tuesday.

The other will be removed when he recovers his strength.

PAIR REMANDED

Two men were remanded indefinitely Tuesday in police court at Maillardville on a robbery-with-violence charge.

RCMP said Gerry Gordon Owen, 21, and Harold Gilbert Foster, both of Langley, B.C., may face other charges.

A third man William Banks, Vancouver, was to be charged today with robbery with violence. He was treated for a bullet wound in the right arm, suffered during the gun battle.

Fourth bandit William Herbert Howerton of Vancouver was killed.

Official Statement by U.S. Hits Claims of Hoxsey Clinic

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government issued a formal public warning today against the Hoxsey cancer treatment, which it termed worthless and "imminently dangerous" if its use leads to neglect of other care.

The food and drug administration said some of the medicine used by Harry M. Hoxsey in his cancer treatment contains potassium iodide, and "there is evidence that potassium iodide accelerates the growth of some cancers."

Hoxsey disputed the government contentions. At his clinic in Dallas, Tex., he said he has records of cases "proving that we have been successful... after radium, x-ray and surgery have failed." He said the government never has made a full investigation.

Hoxsey said his clinics now have 10,000 patients.

FIGHTING HIM SINCE 1948

The food and drug administration has been fighting Hoxsey since 1948. After years of litigation, a decision by a district court in Texas in October, 1953, prohibited Hoxsey and his clinic from shipping in interstate commerce what the government agency today termed "their worthless cancer medicines."

The agency said Hoxsey set up

UP TO CONGRESS

Ike Wouldn't Order Troops Into Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he would never order U. S. troops into any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval by Congress.

Eisenhower reacted sharply at his press conference when a reporter asked whether he might order U. S. marines, recently sent to the Middle East, into war if he thought circumstances warranted it, and without getting the approval of Congress first.

A battalion of marines, about 1,500 men, was sent last month to join the 6th fleet in the Mediterranean.

With a show of exasperation, Eisenhower said he has said time and time and time again that he never would engage U. S. troops in any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without getting a go-ahead first from Congress.

Eisenhower also dealt with these other matters:

Disputing published reports that the British prime minister had asked a "get tough" policy in the Middle East, Eisenhower said he has received no new communication from Prime Minister Eden.

PRINCESS TO VISIT EAST AFRICA

LONDON (Reuters)—Princess Margaret will visit Mauritius, Zanzibar, Tanganyika and Kenya in East Africa this fall, it was announced today.

An announcement from her home, Clarence House, said: "During the latter half of September, 1956, and during October, the Princess Margaret will visit Mauritius and Zanzibar in Her Majesty's yacht—Britannia, after which Her Royal Highness will make visits to Tanganyika and Kenya."

Tornado Toll Reaches 41

CHICAGO (BUP)—A two-day barrage of killer tornadoes striking at 11 states left 41 persons dead, more than 500 injured, and hundreds homeless and destitute today.

The death count climbed as rescue crews searched the debris in twisted, shattered communities. Some areas looked like bomb-shattered battlefields. Damage was in the millions of dollars.

The tornado damage extended from Oklahoma to Michigan. It killed 34 persons Tuesday and last night, hitting eight southern and midwest states. Tornadoes Monday night killed seven persons in two southwestern states.

GRACE SURE SHE WILL BEAR SON

NEW YORK (AP)—Movie star Grace Kelly in a shipboard interview, said she is confident she will bear Prince Rainier a son.

The princess-to-be wants a large family, especially a boy, she told a press conference aboard the American liner Constitution.

Then she added: "My son will be a Monagque."

That would prevent the tiny principality of Monaco from reverting to France, as it would if Prince Rainier's family line were broken.

A boy or girl could succeed to the throne.

'I'M A LITTLE NUMB,' SAYS STAR BEFORE SAILING FROM NEW YORK

Grace's Departure for Monaco Almost Like Mob Scene

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK (UP)—Movie star Grace Kelly left today to marry her prince, live in a palace and become Her Serene Highness Princess Gracia Patria of Monaco, the most titled woman in Europe.

She sailed amid a clamor that almost resembled a mob scene.

"I'm a little numb, very excited... very happy, the star said.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia girl who topped her sudden rise to movie stardom by capturing bachelor Prince Rainier III, 32, in a brief Christmas holiday courtship, sailed at noon today aboard the S.S. Constitution. She will be married in a civil ceremony on April 18 and in a church ceremony on April 19.

More than 60 of the wedding guests as well as Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr., the bride-to-be's parents; four bridesmaids and the specially-packed wedding dress also are travelling on the ship with Miss Kelly.

IN HARBOR

The reunion with Prince Rainier, who last saw his future princess in Hollywood a month ago, will be a dramatic shipboard meeting in the harbor of Monaco April 12. The Constitution will anchor in the harbor after the regular passengers disembark at Cannes, France, so the prince can pull alongside in the honeymoon yacht to take Miss Kelly and her family aboard.

The prince is one of the most titled of Europe's monarchs, and Miss Kelly inherits all of the titles. He has two titles of prince, eight of count, four of duke and five of baron.

Miss Kelly will live alone aboard the ship in one of the four luxurious veranda suites. Her blue-carpeted stateroom adjoins a glassed-in veranda on the sundeck of the 900-passenger ship. Red-upholstered couch beds take up the major portion of two walls of the stateroom, and a small dressing room and bathroom opens from a third wall.

BIG PRESS PARTY

Others in her party are scattered in staterooms on three decks of the ship, some in cabin class. Twenty-five men and women from press, radio and television occupy cabin class staterooms, in most cases four assigned to one room. Three photographers and a publicity man are assigned beds in the ship's hospital. Everything else was filled.

Government To Pay Third Of '55 Deficits

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter
British Columbia's Social Credit government has scrapped its 1955 freeze order on hospital budgets, and offered to pay one-third of hospitals' operating deficits.

The two major hospital insurance policy changes were sent out to all hospitals in the province this week, the Times learned today.

The hospital administrators have been advised that:

1. BCHIS will pick up the tab for one-third of operating deficits incurred by hospitals on firm budgets during 1955.
2. The freeze order on hospital wage increase issued in May, 1955, has been scrapped.

COST BOOSTED

The two measures will add $1,500,000 to the cost of operating B.C.'s hospital insurance system during 1956.

Acceptance of the 1955 wage rates, will cost an estimated $1,250,000, while one-third of the operating deficits is estimated at $250,000.

In its policy changes, the government maintained brakes on hospital budgets, to prevent a runaway on hospital administration.

Circulars, dated March 28, advised the hospitals that under the new hospital policy, the government will "accept 1955 salary rates, plus 1956 annual increments as listed in the 1955 wage agreements, where a wage agreement exists for that year."

"Where a hospital did not sign a 1955 wage agreement, and is still paying on the basis of a 1954 agreement, a percentage increase in salaries will be allowed, equivalent to the increase granted by nearby hospitals that signed 1955 wage agreements."

In the case of a hospital which did not have a wage agreement for any or all groups of employees, the government will accept the wage rates shown in the hospital estimates for 1956, "where the proposed rates are not out of line with the 1955 salaries for hospitals in the same area."

40-HOUR WEEK

In a further concession to hard-pressed hospital boards, the government announced it will allow "reasonable staff numbers, and salaries," to make possible a 40-hour week in any hospital now operating on a 44-hour week.

The individual hospital (only a few are involved) will decide whether the additional funds are to be used to adopt the shorter week, pay its present employees the added funds, or use the funds in other ways for patient care.

Pension plans, medical health or other forms of "fringe benefits" added as the result of 1955 wage agreements, will not be accepted as an operating expenditure when budgets are up for BCHIS consideration, however.

Another change increases the per diem rate of $4 for newborn patients to $5, from January 1, 1956. The government said that in view of rising costs of hospital care, the existing rate was considered "inadequate."

The circular said "in reviewing budgets, it must be kept in mind that a hospital's operating cost must compare reasonably with those of similar hospitals."

"In this connection, if it so

CITY HOSPITALS PLEASSED WITH DEFICIT OFFER

Victoria hospital officials today expressed satisfaction with the government's plan to have the BCHIS pay one-third of last year's hospital deficits.

"It will mean about $33,000 on our deficit of $100,000," said George Masters, Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator. "We are pleased to have it and it will help us a lot."

Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital said the books had not yet been completed for 1955, but indicated a deficit would exist.

"One-third will be a great help," she said. "But I don't know where we will find the other two-thirds."

Cassiar Road Contractors To Sue Laing

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing has been notified that Wade & Wells Ltd., contractors on the controversial Stewart-Cassiar road, intend suing him for slander.

Mr. Laing was informed of the pending action by Col. C. C. Merritt, V.C., who has been retained by the interior construction firm.

The slander action will revolve on statements Mr. Laing is alleged to have made concerning the northern mining assistance road in a speech before a Vancouver public meeting March 18.

At the meeting, the Liberal leader disclosed contents of a letter he wrote to newly appointed Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, questioning legality of payments to Wade & Wells for work on the road.

Mr. Laing would make no comment today.

Col. Merritt said, "I have no statement to make. I have no instructions to say anything."

Col. Merritt is a partner in the law firm of Bull, Housner & Co. Alfred Bull of the same firm is representing former Mines Minister R. S. Somers in a slander action against Vancouver lawyer David A. Sturdy.

Wade & Wells worked on the Stewart-Cassiar road during the 1954 and 1955 construction seasons. It was the subject of an investigation by a legislative committee at the recent session.

Coffee Price Cut?

A reduction in coffee prices is expected to take effect in Victoria soon but retail prices are unchanged here today.

In Montreal major retail food stores announced a general reduction ranging from two to four cents a pound.

The cuts followed a downward trend in coffee prices in New York last week. Prices of 99 and 87 cents a pound now prevail, depending on grade.

KNOW YOUR TEACHER

Veteran of Dunkirk At Macaulay Point

English expatriate A. J. (Les) Isaacson came to Victoria originally as an airman in 1943 to serve as a navigation officer at Patricia Bay, found the city to his liking and came back to teach in 1951.

Presently he is principal at the brand-new Macaulay School in Esquimalt which provides seven classrooms for grades 1-4.

Mr. Isaacson's home was Cambridge, Eng., where he taught school for five years after his discharge from the Royal Air Force. He began his higher education in England just before the Second World War, which caused him to leave his studies and join the army in 1939.

His enlistment was early enough in the conflict to allow him to serve on the continent and he was one of those who managed to escape at Dunkirk.

In 1940 he transferred to the RAF and served in coastal command before being sent to Pat Bay.

He married a Canadian girl here in 1944 before his return to England.

Back in Canada in 1951, Mr. Isaacson taught at Oak Bay High School, Monterey Elementary and Quadra School, where he was vice-principal in 1954-55.

By means of summer and winter sessions at University of British Columbia, the teacher is now completing study for his bachelor of arts degree interrupted 17 years ago.

When younger he participated in all sports, and still plays badminton for relaxation. He referees local minor soccer and until last year was a referee for Coast Soccer League games.

He lives at 3104 Quadra, where gardening occupies much of his leisure time.

his clinic at Dallas in 1936 and that its growth has been steady.

Officials said the agency never has taken a precisely similar action to warn the public against any medicine or treatment.

The public warning is to be published in the federal register as an official document.

In a separate statement, the agency said it is developing a contempt-of-court proceeding alleging that Hoxsey and members of his staff have violated the 1953 injunction against interstate transportation of their products.

WILL TAKE TIME

But it said this is almost certain to be a lengthy court case, and the action "may not result in a cessation of his Hoxsey's activities for some time to come."

This statement declared also that the agency "has received reports of deaths which occurred after surgery was forsaken in favor of the Hoxsey treatment while the cancer was still operable and where surgery promised excellent prospects of cure."

The government agency said the Hoxsey treatment costs $400, plus $50 in additional fees, and added that these "expenditures... will yield nothing of any value in the care of cancer."

It declared the treatment employs drugs in such a way as to involve "imminent danger to health or gross deception of the consumer."

"Its sale represents a gross deception to the consumer. It is immediately dangerous to rely upon it in neglect of competent and rational treatment."

ASKS COMPLETE INQUIRY

Hoxsey said in his reply: "My statement is that for 35 years I have been pleading and begging the American Medical Association, the pure food and drug administration, the surgeon-general and others to make a complete investigation of our records that show we now have 10,000 patients under treatment and observation from as far away as New Zealand."

"We have pathological records of some of the largest hospitals in the world, proving that we have been successful on these cases after x-ray, surgery and surgery have failed."

"If they will come here and make an investigation and if I fail to prove by my records that we have cured the most deadly type, malignant melanoma or black cancer, I will lock the doors of this clinic forever."

Science Reports Special Tablet Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For Most Women Tested!

Boston, Mass. (Special) — New promise of relief for women who suffer distress of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in a remarkable tablet, developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers great relief during that distressing period each month!

Clinical tests report remarkable results. For most women tested, pain and cramps were strikingly relieved! Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no bothersome backaches or other functionally-caused distress... were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The remarkable tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why it offers such striking relief. It acts on the cause of the distress... has excellent power to calm uterine contractions, and it also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets," the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take Pinkham's Tablets are available at all drug stores.

So why suffer needlessly? Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better this very month! See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—both before and during those "difficult days." (For liquid form... ask for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

This Is It Said Bud as Bullets Hit

Mountie Relates His Big Moment

VANCOUVER (CP) — "Every time I got shot I said to myself: 'this is it,'" Constable H. M. C. "Bud" Johnstone said last night after surviving a hail of bullets from the guns of four bank bandits while killing one of them and wounding another.

Interviewed in hospital where doctors removed seven bullets from his body, Const. Johnstone described his encounter and the 20-second gun battle.

"I ran into the bank and said to the manager: 'Any thing happening?'"

He nodded his head and I soon found out why he didn't speak as the man who had him covered behind the counter took a shot at me.

POINT BLANK

"Then another jumped out from the manager's office and fired at me point blank."

"He was no more than three feet away."

"A third came at me down the long hall inside the bank and he emptied his gun at me. Funny thing, that one surrendered to me and by then my gun was empty."

Const. Johnstone said two men ran out of the bank and he followed.

"The first one I shot at dropped dead and I dropped, too. I was getting weaker and weaker."

"There were about 20 shots fired five of them from my gun."

He said the bandits had "small calibre guns."

"I was shot eight times. The whole thing happened in a matter of 20 seconds."

Chilliwack By-Pass Blueprints Drawn Up

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Blueprints have been drawn up for the proposed Trans-Canada Highway by-pass around Chilliwack except for the area near Cottonwood Corners, Kenneth Kiernan, agriculture minister, said here Tuesday.

In his address to the Chilliwack Board of Trade, Mr. Kiernan said no land has been purchased yet but that the provincial government anticipated an early start on the by-pass.

Small Change for Bank Bandits Where Mounties Rule, Club Told

Bank bandits have plenty of the Royal North West "with a spirit of adventure and encouragement to stay out of RCMP territory, the force's chief officer 4th B.C. Tuesday told the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac said he hoped the result of the Burnaby bank-holdup attempt Tuesday and the fast action of the RCMP would further discourage the bandits.

Giving a resume of bank holdups in RCMP territory in the province within the last five years, the officer cited the incident at Williams Lake when the hoodlum was captured after a chase through the snow and gunfight, another in Burnaby when the bandits got away but were arrested an hour later, again after a gunfight.

In the raid on the mainland bank Tuesday, RCMP were on the scene almost instantly, killing one bandit, wounding another and arresting two more members of the gang.

RCMP training teaches a member of the force "never to give up," the assistant commissioner said.

Members learned, he said, how men's minds reacted, perspective, and such abstract aptitudes as staying calm if conditions "appeared pretty bad indeed."

He said "what we try to do is to provide law enforcement which will protect the community, but always law enforcement which will provide courtesy and service to the public."

Gunderson Appointed PGE Vice-President

Former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson has been appointed executive vice-president of the PGE.

Premier Bennett announced the appointment, which took effect March 14, on his return from vacation on Tuesday.

Mr. Gunderson has been a director of the PGE for several years. In his new post, he will step down to the actual administration of the PGE, directly over PGE general manager Harry Bowman.

"He can now help operate the railway day by day," said Premier Bennett, who described the job as a "fairly full-time" position. Mr. Gunderson's salary will be set by the board of directors.

Mr. Gunderson has been employed as advisor on federal-provincial taxation matters—a job which the premier said was "quite well in hand."

Mr. Gunderson has held various positions with the B.C. government since his defeats at the polls in the 1953 general election, and in the December, 1953, by-election in Victoria, in which he was beaten by Liberal George Gregory.

Premier Disowns Lydia on Cancer

Lady MLA Speaking for Herself, Not Government, Says Bennett

Premier Bennett Tuesday repudiated the cancer cure claims of Social Credit MLA Mrs. Lydia Arsens.

"Her opinions are her own," said the premier. "She is not expressing the government's opinions or policies."

The premier's statement followed demands by the B.C. branch of the Canadian Medical Association and opposition MLAs that the government break its silence on Mrs. Arsens and "put the public straight."

The lady member for Victoria has been embroiled in a battle with the medical profession since the beginning of the last legislative session, when she claimed various clinics in the U.S. had found a definite cure for cancer.

She implied that such "cures" were being held back from the public by the American Medical Association.

The premier said private MLAs, particularly Social Credit members, never have their speeches checked in the House or out of it.

"Mrs. Arsens apparently has very strong opinions regarding food and medical matters. Her opinions are her own," he said, adding that she had a right to say what she wanted.

Shopkeepers On Yates Ask 5-Day Week

Yates Street merchants belonging to the 700 Block Association are in favor of a five-day week in Victoria stores with all-day closing Wednesday.

They give three main reasons:

1. To give the staff a full day off in lieu of the Saturday off enjoyed by many other workers.
2. To avoid increasing costs to the public by staggering hours of work.
3. To give the public better service by not reducing staff during opening hours.

Coupled with all-day Wednesday closing, the 700-Block Association recommends that stores remain open until 6 p.m. on other weekdays.

"It is now up to the individual merchants to make their own arrangements," said Roy Denny, speaking for the 40 Yates Street merchants belonging to the association.

"We hope other city stores will follow suit," he added. "We have discussed the matter thoroughly and we feel that any attempt to work a five-day week by staggering hours of work would result in higher costs to the public."

West Accused of Meddling In Arab Domestic Affairs

RAILWAY WAGE PARLEY FAILS, REPORT CLAIMS

TORONTO (BUP)—The Toronto Star said today in a report from Ottawa that the three-man conciliation board has failed to settle a contract dispute between Canada's two railroads and 150-thousand non-operating employees.

The board is headed by Eric G. Taylor of Toronto, one of the nation's top conciliators. Its report is expected to be handed to the federal government within the next 10 days.

Bruce Macdonald, Ottawa correspondent for the Toronto Star, said the report would show failure of the conciliators to reach agreement over wage increases and other demands made by the employees of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways.

GREAT POWERS WARNED

"Keep Hands Off Palestine" — Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Syria warned the great powers today to keep hands off Palestine.

Syrian Ambassador Ahmed Shukairy, regarded as the Arab spokesman in the United Nations debate on sending Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld on a peace mission to the Holy Land, told the Security Council that Arabs welcomed consideration by the world organization of their dispute with Israel.

He said if the dispute was of international concern it should be handled at the international level, either by the UN Security Council or by the General Assembly.

KEEP AWAY

"If the Palestine question is one of regional concern, then the great powers must keep away, with hands off."

Shukairy urged a UN crackdown on Israeli forces along the Palestine armistice demarcation lines and urged that the council take action to place Israel "in a state of inability and impotence to commit any aggression."

Shukairy expressed approval of clarifications given by the U.S. regarding the motivation and scope of Hammarskjöld's mission. He added: "As to the Soviet amendments (to the U.S. resolution), we are glad to note they merit the attention of the council. They tend to improve the text."

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Russia accused the big Western powers Tuesday of trying to meddle in the domestic affairs of Arab states.

Britain's Sir Pierson Dixon retorted that if the actions of outside parties in the Middle East dispute were discussed, "there would be plenty to debate," an apparent reference to Soviet-bloc arms shipments to the Arab countries.

Soviet delegate Arkady Sobolev made his charge of attempted Western intervention in placing before the UN Security Council amendments to a United States resolution calling for the dispatch of Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld on a peace mission to the Middle East.

A vote on the proposal was postponed when Egypt and Syria asked for permission to speak today. Observers predicted that it will be adopted unanimously and that Hammarskjöld will leave Thursday or Friday.

VOICE SUPPORT

All members of the council, as well as Israel and the Arab states, have voiced support for the resolution at least in principle.

Sobolev said there has lately been "a clear-cut trend among some Western powers" to plan direct intervention in the affairs of Arab states under the pretext of preventing war.

The Vote to Build the Bridge

TOMORROW CITY PROPERTY owners will be asked to approve a by-law to spend $500,000 for the construction of a new Point Ellice bridge.

The vote to endorse that project requires a three-fifths majority. It should receive that and much more.

Victoria faces an impossible situation as long as the present unstable span is in existence. The city cannot afford to have an inadequate bridge. Still less can it afford to have one which is not 100 per cent safe.

The pros and cons of the Point Ellice bridge debate should be common knowledge. They have been aired frequently enough, together with stories of the tragedy which occurred when the earlier span went down before the turn of the century.

One peculiar argument in favor of delay has arisen in recent days. It sets out the theory that Victoria should not build the bridge now because a Greater Victoria may be created in the near future and then taxpayers of the whole community would pay the bill.

The ultimate logic of that argument calls for stagnation. In effect it urges that Victoria do nothing lest it pay for something from which people other than city residents may benefit.

This is the type of thinking which has done so much to prevent progress here.

Point Ellice bridge links two parts of Victoria proper. If the city were to demand that Esquimalt, which would benefit from a new bridge, pay part of its costs, then Esquimalt, presumably, could demand payment for use of Craigflower Road by Victorians driving up-Island.

Mayor Scurrah has made the financing of the project abundantly clear. Money is now on hand or in immediate prospect to pay for the job. It is money raised from tax-sale and can be used only for a capital development. Hence spending that sum will not throw a new burden on the taxpayer. No borrowings will be required and no interest will have to be paid.

The merits of the new bridge plan are apparent. It has, of course, its opponents. On the basis of past experience, it is to be expected that the opposition will turn out to vote tomorrow. That means that those who favor the new bridge must mark their ballots.

They cannot take the easy way, stay home and assume that enough representatives of their line of thought will carry the issue.

By-law votes between civic elections are notoriously small. Hence a fractional minority against the plan could kill it, unless progressive interests in the city bestir themselves and take the trouble to vote.

It seems evident from the results of last December's mayoralty election that a majority wants the bridge. The citizens put Mayor Scurrah in office and the bridge was a basic plank in his platform.

It is now up to members of that majority to reaffirm their position. They can do that at the polls from 9 in the morning to 7 in the evening. And all who have owned property for a month or more may vote.

Stevenson Defines the Issue

MR. ADLAI STEVENSON HAS skillfully shifted the American election debate from the issue of Mr. Eisenhower's health to the constitutional issue of the presidency as an institution of government. The question before the people, he says, is not the President's personal prospects "but the nature of the presidency in our system."

Mr. Stevenson does not doubt the sincerity of Mr. Eisenhower or of his doctors. But he notes that the President has agreed to seek reelection "under certain conditions" and to Mr. Stevenson "such conditions as the President stated . . . sound more like the rules of governing a kingdom or a corporation. They are not the rules for governing a democracy."

In Mr. Stevenson's view the President, by proposing to delegate various duties to subordinates, is proposing a partial abdication of his responsibilities, a reduction in the stature of his office, a "fundamental revision of the role of the presidency in America and the delegation of our highest responsibilities to some 'associate presidents'."

Under the American system as framed in the Constitution, Mr. Stevenson argues, there can be no such delegation of duties: The President alone must be responsible for all decisions of his Government. There is no room for "associate presidents."

Evidently Mr. Stevenson's latest speech on this subject is designed to set the tone of his campaign. He will not argue about the President's health (though doubtless some of his associates will.) He will argue only that the President's plan to escape some of his duties strikes at the root of the Constitution itself and therefore that "this is the most important election this democracy has ever faced."

Such an issue is purely domestic and no business of foreigners. But under Mr. Stevenson's advocacy it can become a great issue for our neighbors to settle and the argument between them will be watched in Canada with keen interest.

Spreading the Jam

IT IS ONLY A FEW WEEKS since Marshal Bulganin and Communist Party leader Khrushchev were touring through India and Burma, castigating Britain—along with her western allies—as a war monger, an evil colonial power, a sinister aid to Hitler in his attack on Russia, and numerous other peace-destraining, unpleasant things.

Today, all these charges and allegations have been filed away in the Kremlin, perhaps for future use. But officially they are forgotten—they never existed. In one of those right-about-face movements so familiar to communism—Moscow has reversed its attitude to Britain and speaks very favorably of this once decadent capitalist monopolist ogre.

The reason, of course, is the forthcoming visit to Britain of the same two who so truculently quipped their way through India. To soften up their British hosts they have ordered Soviet newspapers to refer to the British in laudatory terms.

New Look at the Caribbean

THE DAZZLING, HALF-LEGENDARY traditions of Britain's Caribbean islands have not blinded Canadians to trade opportunities in these units of the West Indies.

Over the years substantial business has grown up between this country and the lands storied since the days of Elizabethan freebooters.

Now, as the islands move toward federation and a new self-governing status within the Commonwealth—a course encouraged by Britain—the opportunities for further dealings with them are being widely appreciated in Canada.

The federating colonies—Jamaica, Trinidad, Barbados, Windward Islands and Leeward Islands—have taken between three-quarters and four-fifths of Canada's exports to the British West Indies and sell us two-thirds to three-fifths of the BWI exports received here. Last year Canada sold goods worth $34 million to the Islands, more than two-thirds of the trade being shared almost equally between Jamaica and Trinidad.

Those exports included a wide variety of commodities—food, electrical apparatus, medicine, textiles and manufactured goods. From the islands we received slightly more in value than we sold, principally sugar, though imports of alumina from Jamaica are climbing.

No one knows yet whether federation will improve trade between Canada and this nascent unit within the Commonwealth, but a trade liberalization program is anticipated and Canada could benefit were import restrictions, familiar in the sterling area, further relaxed.

Some easing has occurred in those regulations since 1951. More may be expected, Canada will watch developments closely, recognizing the trade potential of these islands with a total land mass of 7,806 square miles and a combined population of 2,801,000.

BY DAVID BROCK

WE should all have got used to Punch's new look by now. Yet it still can make me jump. Not because I am a very jumpy person, but because Punch used to be so very Punchlike, it still surprises me to see it breaking its old taboos. As, for example, its old taboo on the human body. Some body gave me a file of Punch for the past ten months or so, and in the Christmas number I found some bogus natural history about certain movie stars, drawing and describing them as if they were strange animals and birds. And the picture of a bird called the Blonde Pouter (Columba monroi) shows Miss Marilyn Monroe as a very bony pigeon, with the following description:

"The exceptional development with which Nature has blessed this engaging little creature might seem at first sight too exaggerated to be of any practical use, but investigation shows that Nature, as so often, knew what she was about."

This is definitely not the old Punch your granny used to chuck and chortle over, when she and Victoria were young. Next thing you know, Punch will be breaking its taboo on death, and cracking jokes about an event which is not supposed to happen to a fully paid-up reader but only to people in general. Cracking jokes about it bone by bone. I pinched that joke-cracking bone-by-bone phrase from Gwyn Thomas . . . who now writes for Punch too, now and then . . . the oftener the better.

OUR AMERICAN SALIENT
I WAS reading a rather dull and hasty English book about some famous murders. It is called "Background to Murder," by Nigel Morland. It all seemed very usual to me . . . the usual shabby murderers killing the usual shabby victims for the usual shabby reasons, while the author says "Little did he know" or "It would have been better for her if . . ." with a great many adverbs such as "probably," "obviously," and "undoubtedly". Mr. Morland sounds very much to me as if he would find even the Crippen case dramatic. I wish there was some way of burying the Crippen case under a basement. If the basement was big enough, maybe we could bury some of the Crippen case's enthusiasts there too.

I DID show a small flicker of interest in the book when the author remarked that a murderer was brought up in a certain religious faith which is obviously not his own faith. Since her childhood faith had nothing to do with her later thefts and murder, I was curious to know why the author dragged it in. There is no use being a religious snob without sketching in the background of your snobbery. But he didn't explain. He didn't even tell what his own faith is, in case any reader wants to know which sect breeds a connoisseur of low-grade murders.

But I did sit bolt upright when I read a passage about Victoria, B.C. I then lay down on the floor, bolt flat. He was talking about a case that occurred 21 years ago in England involving former Victorians. Of the lady concerned, he says:

"SHE grew up in the southern part of Vancouver Island . . . but showed early signs of a not inconsiderable musical talent." I like that word BUT. He goes on: "When World War I broke out, she had quite a reputation as an amateur pianist in that part of the Canadian mainland adjacent to Vancouver Island. Being a friendly soul, she had no difficulty in acquiring engagements to play the piano to an extent that made it worth her while becoming a professional. People liked her and she got along well with everybody, particularly when she took up composing, for which she had a gift. Her home actually being an island jutting out of Canada, 'below' the border of the United States, it was not surprising that she was considerably influenced by American taste."

HOW'S that for theorizing and deduction, boys? You are living in a salient which thrusts into the heart of the States. Not quite into the Deep South, but very nearly. See that man over there, starting at you across the fence? That's Erskine Tennessee Caldwell Williams III, studying you Victoria boys for signs of mental bovineity. And last time John Gunther was staying at the Empress they gave him strawberry jam on his sausages and he said 'You really are inside U.S.A., aren't you?'

But in 1914, if we may believe Mr. Morland, Victoria was even more a part of the State of Washington. Not only was it a hotbed of ragtime but it was the only part of Canada into which ragtime had percolated . . . the salient was full of holes, and acted like any other submerged sieve. It so happened that Port Angeles was the very heart of popular music, the Tin Pan Alley of the Northwest. And being contiguous (if that is the word), Victoria just soaked the stuff up. And has done so ever since. To be continued.

I REMEMBER when Sir James Douglas first landed here, he said to me "My, my, it sho' is nice to be down hyun in de lan' of cotton." And when I told him I planned to have a base at Esquimalt, he said drowsily "Dat's right, Slap-pin' de bass." It seems but yesterday.

A New Frame for St. Paul's

Written for The Victoria Daily Times
BY GERARD FAY, London Editor of the Manchester Guardian

THE idea of sending Malenkov ahead of Bulganin and Khrushchev, like a pilot engine in front of a royal train, might have been to sound out the public reaction. While Malenkov was endearing himself to everybody Bulganin and Khrushchev had the curious notion of sending over General Serov, also known (though he swears it an injustice) as Ivan the Terrible. A lot of ill-will was generated and those of a logical turn of mind wondered why, if Serov is the top secret policeman, the Russians chose to send him in such a glare of publicity. This was achieved by giving him Russia's first civilian jet aircraft to travel in.

Fay

But it is not the rush of Soviet visitors I intend to write about—it is simply that I see a certain parallel between this odd Russian behavior and the method adopted by the Corporation of the City of London in presenting Sir William Holford's plan for putting St. Paul's Cathedral into a more worthy setting.

Controversial

From the moment the City Fathers first saw Sir William's plan and the model which has been built of it they must have known it would cause a rumpus.

Just as Serov was given a jet plane, however, Sir William was given a press conference of the first magnitude and the argument about this model was raging for almost a full week before the plan was officially presented to the Court of Common Council of the City. The Councilors must have felt that they would have had a better chance to consider the plan in peace if they had been the first to see it.

Of course it is possible that they did not want to consider it peacefully. The council meeting at which the plan was presented sounded at times like a lively Sunday morning at Speakers' Corner in Hyde Park.

Cries of "ghastly," "monstrous," "sacrilege" and "chuck him out" went on for half an hour while the chairman of the Town Planning Committee struggled to make himself heard.

Attentive

I am one of those and I feel we shall end up in a minority—who believe that the Holford plan would be a success. I am also one who believes that the opposition to it has hardly begun to make itself heard yet and that almost any time now we may expect to be presented with an alternative which is more likely to commend itself to the President of the Royal Academy and the Minister of Housing and Local Government.

This would be something more formal, more antiquarian, less original and very much less in tune with the idea that a city like London cannot be conducted as though it were a museum.

What Holford has tried to do is to open out the area around the Cathedral by providing terraces, gardens, lawns and a very much larger forecourt. He has led the heavy traffic by a new route so that it does not pass right under the Cathedral and so that it ceases to shake the foundations—so persistently that the whole thing might fall down one of these days.

To achieve this he has had to presume that a good deal of office space immediately around St. Paul's would have to be sacrificed, and to make up for this he has proposed that some blocks a little further away should be allowed to rise to ten storeys and that one of them should be twenty storeys.

It is on this that much of the opposition has been centered up to now—overshadowing Wren's masterpiece by a vulgar skyscraper is the accusation.

But Holford pleads not guilty. In the first place the buildings on his model are purely notional, they might not be in exactly the same relative positions, they might not be as high, they could easily be more decorative.

Commercial

Secondly, even the twenty-storey block is no higher than the figure of Justice on top of the Old Bailey, it obscures no existing view of the Cathedral from nearby and because of the differences in levels between the two buildings it would not stick up on the skyline "like a sore thumb" as some angry aesthetes elegantly phrased it.

The most perverse criticism that has been made of the Holford plan is that it bows down too low to "commercial interests."

As the City of London, the financial district packed into the small area around the Bank of England, exists solely for, and has existed for some centuries solely for commercial activity, this sneer is surely misplaced. But no more misplaced than the suggestion that St. Paul's should be given the same treatment as St. Peter's in Rome.

This overlooks the fact that St. Peter's is a much bigger church (though St. Paul's is second to it) and that it has entirely a different function.

If the St. Paul's forecourt were extended on the St. Peter's scale it would start about half way up Fleet Street and would achieve nothing but the effect of diminishing the size of the Cathedral by an optical illusion which is well known to all designers of theatrical scenery.

Illusionary

But then, if I know my London, the whole plan will prove to be an optical illusion. We seem to be passing through one of those phases—and there have been many—when the atmosphere is not kind to original ideas in architecture.

Some of my best friends are architects and I often spend an unhappy hour, listening to one of them holding forth about the wickedness of clients who offer freedom of expression and then whittle it away by demanding economies never dreamed of when the plan was first put on paper.

They ask, and echo answers, "is this generation going to be shown to posterity as one which added nothing at all to London's glories?"

Judging from the way Sir William Holford's ideas about St. Paul's are being received the same question is going to be asked for at least another generation. Meanwhile a new London of shreds and patches and second-hand notions is rising up around us, and by simple calculations about amortisation they will have to stand for many many decades as a poor monument to the "new Elizabethan" age we heard so much about.

As Our Readers See It

Government Responsibility?

The need for a new Point Ellice bridge is quite apparent as a result of several competent engineering inspections and official reports. But there remains the important question of Federal Government sharing the cost of building the new bridge, having regard to naval base operations and related traffic over the structure, also Provincial Government highway improvement responsibilities.

Thursday's plebiscite on the bridge question should have had a Government share-the-cost proviso. Renewed city efforts—stronger action—appear imperative to secure recognition of Government share-the-cost, military and highway traffic responsibilities.

R. B. SHAW.

1140 Rockland Avenue.

Harbor Obstructions

The permanent removal of Point Ellice Bridge should be undertaken as soon as another bridge located at the entrance of the Gorge Narrows via Styles or Sunshine can be completed and connected to Gorge Road via Lotus to the West and Washington to the East, alternate site Harriet to Dominion Road.

A bridge at either of these sites will bring traffic from Victoria—West and Esquimalt Harbor north of the roundabout where North-bound city traffic begins to disperse, the Bay Street blockade that will occur at Government and Douglas Streets would not take place because what is Bay Street cross traffic, with Point Ellice Bridge away becomes South bound traffic on Government and on Douglas Street.

Furthermore other south outlets for Gorge Road traffic could be developed on Rock Bay Avenue to Government and Bridge Street to Store if necessary. More than 50 per cent of what was Gorge Road traffic is carried now by the new highway.

Every effort should be made to keep our harbor waters clear of blockade by wires, bridges and other obstructions, so that seaplanes carrying cargoes to Britain can assemble in our harbour. This means dredging West Bay, Selkirk waters and clearing out all small islands and tall obstructions, so that Victoria

GOOD PLACE

In work like mine, though one frequently meets the seamy side and the tragic things in life, I am constantly amazed by the courage, patience, yes and generosity of ordinary people. A hospital is a place where one sees, over and over again that the best in people is shown—and for this reason if for nothing else it is a good place to spend one's working life.

—Miss M. J. Roushworth speaking about her work as an almoner on the B.C.

can take advantage of her position as the only port free from fog, smog, and ice—closest to fishing area, 18 hours flight from Britain.

Seaplanes loaded with fresh fish and other foods could replace in part if not in whole such supplies around Britain ruined by bombing their waters. Until this plan is worked out, subsidies allotted if necessary, and amalgamation of City and Municipalities under one council decided, the Point Ellice Bridge should be closed to all traffic other than pedestrians and bicyclists.

In the meantime, steps should be taken by the Council to proceed with completing the Victoria University and setting up scholarships for our students.

Pen Pal

I am writing today to ask if you could get my girl friend Elsie Chamberlain, and me a pen friend. I would like one very much. My friend lives at 67 Park Street, Beeston, Notts, England. We both would like a girl each about 12 to 14 years old.

GILLIAN FAWCETT

Face Lifting

After reading some of the letters, re "The Renovation of the Old Post Office," I would like to give my own views.

First thing, the new front should face the Causeway. The reason: as one comes in on the boat the first and lasting impression is created by the buildings facing the harbor—i.e. the Parliament Buildings, Empress, Belmont and CPR—the last rather dingy. With a good face-lifting job the old post office building could hold its own in a city where symmetry of line is more admired than modernistic design.

The new building is well planned and finished, but I cannot say much for the location. As to the new courthouse, it would seem a pity to hide it away on Wharf Street when the site at Belleville and Government is available and a $2,000,000 building would round out the waterfront view very nicely, giving an almost perfect setting for our toy harbor.

As to the car, a double-deck garage under the new building with ingress and egress ports at three corners, i.e. two on Government Street, one on Belleville, would allow the owners to slip into the traffic stream easily and quickly and would leave the southeast corner free for a heating plant, etc.

As to the fire hazard, it would be less than a big fuel oil tank, and modern steel and concrete won't burn anyway.

I would like to see some letters in both papers re these questions as we, the people, are the ones who pay the bill finally.

Habs Hot on Stanley Cup Trail Now

Whip Detroit 5-1
For Second Victory

MONTREAL (BUP) — The Montreal Canadiens, fresh from two straight victories over the Detroit Red Wings, headed for the Motor City today, hoping to bring back hockey's most prized trophy—the Stanley Cup.

The Canadiens, who ended Detroit's seven-year reign atop the National Hockey League this season, were also dedicated to ending the Red Wings' two-year grip on the Lord Stanley of Preston's battered piece of silverware. The talented Habits now are prohibitive favorites to become the new world's champions—if not in Detroit, then here in Montreal.

The colorful Canadiens made no doubt about Tuesday night's second game in the best four-of-seven finals, after coming up with a "frenzied" four-goal third period in the opening game to win 6-4. Last night they jumped out in front with a single goal in the first period and kept improving it for the next 40 minutes, winning the second game by the wide margin of 5-1.

ALMOST PERFECT

"Except for the first eight minutes of the last period, we played a good game," rookie coach Toe Blake said modestly. "But we just couldn't get the puck out of our own end in the early part of the last period."

"I thought everybody played good," said general manager Frank Selke. "And how did you like that Pocket Rocket (Henri Richard) out there?" he asked. "Isn't he something? And they tried to tell me before the season that he wasn't ready for the National Hockey League."

The little Rocket scored Montreal's second goal and assisted on the last one as brother Maurice closed out the scoring with his 61st goal in playoff competition with less than a minute to go. Blake also expounded on the 20-year-old kid brother of hockey's greatest scorer.

But Blake singled out goalie Jacques Plante when asked to name one man who might have made the difference.

"If he didn't make that big stop on (Norm) Ullman in the second period, the score is 1-1 and it's a different game," the freshman coach pointed out. "He faked Doug Harvey perfectly but Plante came out and stopped him."

Harvey, the game's top defenceman, made the "only mistake we made all night" and Detroit scored its only goal.

The Detroit dressing-room was sullen after dropping its second game in a row to the Canadiens. Coach Jimmy Skinner, who won the league title and the Stanley Cup in his first year last season, didn't want to discuss the game. General manager Jack Adams was only a little more talkative.

LUCKY SAYS ADAMS

"They're lucky," he said disgustedly. "The puck was bouncing for them all night. All they had to do was put their sticks up in the air and the puck went just where they wanted it. Well, we've just got to win the next two at home, that's all," he added.

Precedent pointed to a Detroit sweep on their own ice at the Olympia. This is the third straight year in which these two teams have played each other in the finals and the home team has won in each of the last 11 games.

"Well, I'll tell you one thing," Selke said. "It won't be so easy killing off penalties in Detroit with that screaming crowd behind the Red Wings."

The third game is scheduled Thursday night and the fourth game Sunday night, also at the Olympia.

Reds, Barons Move Into AHL Finals

By The Canadian Press
Providence Reds and Cleveland Barons moved into the finals of the Calder Cup series Tuesday night by winning American Hockey League play-off games.

The Reds defeated Buffalo Bisons 6-3 to win their semi-final series three games to two. Cleveland edged Pittsburgh Hornets 3-2 with a goal in the third overtime period to win their semi-final clash three games to one.

Camille Henry paced the Reds to victory at Providence with two goals. Zello Toppanzini, Andy Branigan, Red Johansen and Aldo Cudolin fired singles. Ken Wharram, Frank Sullivan and Vic Dzurko connected for Buffalo.

Jack Gordon wrapped up the game for the Barons at Cleveland by scoring his second goal in the third overtime period. He also tallied in the second period. Joe Lund sent the game into overtime when he scored at 11:03 of the third period. Both the Pittsburgh goals were fired by Joe Klukay, each of them in the first period.

MARK GETS THE LAST LAUGH

Mark Marquess, ex-Victoria Cougar sold to Vancouver Canucks midway through the season, got the last laugh at his old sweater and teammates Tuesday night following the Vancouver-Victoria WHL playoff game in Vancouver. Mark scored two goals Tuesday in the Canucks' 7-2 rout of the Cougars. Vancouver now leads the Cougars, three games to none, in the best-of-seven western division final. (Halkett Photo.)

Keep Red 'Gooners' Out Cries Yankee Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Marshall Butler (Rep.-Md.) said Tuesday night the United States should make every effort to keep Russia "and her barbaric goon squads" from the 1956 Olympic Games in Australia.

If United States officials don't protest, Butler said, "they will have automatically branded themselves as rank hypocrites."

He added: "Their failure to take a strong stand on this issue will be inscribed in athletic history as a personal insult to every American athlete participating in the Olympic Games."

PERVERTS SPIRIT

Butler said in a speech prepared for a meeting in suburban Silver Spring, Md., that Russia "flagrantly and wantonly perverts the spirit and ignores Olympic rules in international competition."

Earlier in the day Col. Eddie Egan, one of this country's Olympic officials, said in an interview it would be a mistake to try to bar Russia from the Games.

"Let's not raise the Iron Curtain on our side," he said. Butler said the Olympics have flourished in "the spirit of amateur sportsmanship itself." Soviet athletes were trained and paid by their government and should be declared ineligible.

Eilers Win Seventh Cage Title

SASKATOON (CP) — Vancouver Eilers rolled to a 71-43 victory over Saskatoon Aces Tuesday night and wrapped up the Western Canadian senior women's basketball championship for the seventh consecutive year.

They took the two-game, total-point round 140-83. Vancouver's Shirley Topley was the standout, chalking up 23 points. Nora McDermott notched 12 for Eilers and Zoe Robinson and Heather Walker each added 11.

Setting the pace for the Aces were Joan Benson with 12 and Lena Fior with nine.

Vancouver led 24-17 at the half and 51-33 after three-quarters.

Line-ups:
Vancouver—Gibson, McDermott, 12, Robinson, 11, Lawson, 7, Topley, 23, Walker, 11, White, 8. Total: 71.
Saskatoon—Benson, 12, Fior, 9, Robinson, 11, White, 8, Mackay, 4. Total: 43.

THE ACES THAT BLOOM IN THE SPRING

Majors Have Classy Scrap-Heap

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP) — It's been a tough spring on some of the biggest names in baseball.

Two of them, pitchers Billy Loes and Gene Conley, may remember it as the worst of their young lives. The career of each could be ended by sore arms.

A host of other stars have had their troubles, too, though none seems to be as threatening as those of Loes and Conley.

The list includes such as Ted Williams, Ted Kluszewski, Elston Howard, Mickey Mantle, Willie Jones, Andy Carey, Peeewe Reese, Al Kaline, Sandy Amoros, Gil McDougald and Wes Westrum.

BADDIES MEET GOODIES IN TAG-TEAM FEATURE

The bad-guy vs. good-guy routine at Victoria Ballroom's weekly professional wrestling show will have an expanded cast Thursday night for the cash customers.

Bear Cat Wright and Don Kindred, the villains of the piece, will take on Adrian Baillergon and Reg Parkes, two simon-pure types, in the Australian tag team main event.

In the semi-main, Pat McGill will exchange grimaces with Nature Boy Phelps.

An opening bout will start the show at 8:30.

FROM 'BURGERS TO SHASHLIK

Olympic Feed-Bag An Important Item

MELBOURNE (AP) — Athletes competing in the Olympic Games here later this year won't have to worry about their "three square meals" a day. Officials say they'll be the best-fed people in the world.

A special emissary of the Olympic committee, Tom Carlson, is now touring Europe looking for 180 top-flight culinary experts. Already he has interviewed 300 chefs from a staggering list of 3,000 applications.

When the chefs have been chosen they will be drilled in preparation of 70 varieties of food, ranging from U.S. hamburger to the Soviet shashlik.

If a Dutchman wants runderlapen, a Hungarian gulyasleves or a Spaniard insists on arroz con pollo, he or she will get it.

So far Carlson has visited Rome, London, Amsterdam and Cologne. His itinerary also includes Copenhagen, Vienna, Geneva and Paris. The Russians are expected to bring their own cooks. Chinese and Asian teams will be fed by chefs picked from Oriental cafes in Melbourne.

CLGU Qualifying Round Postponed

Qualifying round of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union two-ball foursomes competition scheduled for Thursday at Colwood Golf Club has been postponed due to the funeral that day of Lt.-Cmdr. Hew Paterson.

The round will now be played next Tuesday at Victoria Golf Club, with the same draw as originally scheduled. Post entries will be accepted.

PADRES GET GETTEL
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — The San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League today said they have purchased pitcher Allen Gettel from the St. Louis Cardinals.

OLA VETOS ALLAN, JAY TRANSFERS

Nanaimo Timbermen of the Intercity Lacrosse League have lost the first round of their fight to snare starchy Bobby Allan of the Mann Cup finalists, Peterborough Trailermen, but may still land the shifty forward.

Allan, who played against Victoria Shamrocks last fall in the Victoria in the Mann Cup final, and Ronnie Jay, a promising Peterborough junior, have had their transfer applications to Nanaimo turned down by the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

However, the OLA may still be overruled by the Canadian Lacrosse Association, as in the case of Bob Dobbie and Peeewe Bradshaw, who were granted permission to join Victoria last season after being turned down by the OLA.

DEAN SR. DIES
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Albert Monroe Dean, whose sons became immortal in the sports world as Paul and Dizzy Dean, died Tuesday in hospital. He was 81.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Joe Lope, 145, Sacramento, stopped Henry Davis, 138, Los Angeles, (9).

Stampers Not Dead Yet; Get First Series Win
Calgary 7, Winnipeg 3 (Winnipeg leads best-of-seven series, 2-1)
Calgary (CP) — Calgary's hockey Stampers served notice Tuesday night that they're a long way from being counted out of their Prairie division final against Winnipeg Warriors.

Beaten by 7-2 and 6-4 counts in the opening two games at Winnipeg, Stampers bounced back with a resounding 7-3 victory here before 8,594 cheering fans.

Fourth game of the best-of-seven series will be played here Thursday night and the fifth Saturday night.

Stampers scored in the first two minutes of play and never looked back. They led 3-0 at the end of the first period and extended their bulge to 6-2 in the second period.

Bill Shvetz and Doc Couture led Stampers to victory with two goals each. Jimmy McFadden, Barry Ross and Steve Wittek were the other Calgary marksmen. Billy Mosienko, Skippy Burchell and Paul Masnick scored for Winnipeg.

Referee Eddie Powers handed out 10 penalties, including two majors, as tempers were frayed throughout.

Cougars Belted Again; Canucks Riding High

Vancouver 7, Victoria 2
(Vancouver leads best-of-seven series, 3-0)

By BILL WALKER

PATRICIA BAY AIRPORT—The Trans-Canada Airlines representative here this morning remarked as cheerfully as possible:

"Well, see you next year."

"What do you mean, next year?" replied Cougar captain Colin Kilburn.

"We'll be seeing you Saturday . . . and next Thursday."

This was part of the aftermath following the Cougars' third straight defeat at the hands of Vancouver Canucks in their Western Hockey League Western division final series at Vancouver Forum Tuesday night.

The TCA official later admitted he thought the series was over. Canucks having spanked Cougars, 7-2.

Odds Don't Favor Heroics

And, after last night, odds don't favor the Cougars repeating the Leafs' heroics, although hope always springs eternal, or so the saying goes.

True, as Kilburn said:

"We won four straight in the round-robin, and we can do it again. And Friday we start."

Friday at Memorial Arena is the date of the fourth game with the fifth game set for Vancouver Saturday.

But it's the Canucks who are red hot now, and not the Cougars. Canucks proved it over again Tuesday with a sizzling display of aggressiveness that Cougars couldn't match.

They bombed into a 2-0 lead in the first period, saw Cougars remain in contention until just past the halfway mark in the second, and then poured on the coal over the rest of the route.

"They always come back to haunt you," is an old saying in sport. And never truer was it than Tuesday.

Cougar castoff Mark Marquess led the Canuck parade with two goals. Fred Brown, Ray Cyr, Phil Maloney, George Ford and Tom McCarthy got the others.

Brown got the first at their defensive best in the six-minute mark of the first period when the Cougar attack was stalled time and time before the period was over.

Doug Anderson paid off for Cougars on a power play with Canucks short-handed early in the second to bring the tally against the officiating as to 2-1. But Maloney, always a Cougar nemesis, slipped a backhand past goalie Marcel Pelletier at 11:38 and the Cougar star began to dim.

Marquess picked the short end of one of their counters today to make it 4-1, and Cyr upped the ante to 5-1 before Skip Teal connected from a faceoff in the Canuck zone for Cougars.

Ford rifled his off post and McCarthy faked Pelletier out of position for the final marker.

It was the third time in the Cougars' last four games at Vancouver that they have allowed Canucks seven goals.

Their only escape from that horrendous total was their 3-2 semifinal victory over Canucks. Canucks outshot the Cougars by a wide margin, 35-20, being what their spokesman said.

At any rate, TCA officials are holding reservations open for the Cougars Saturday, regardless of what their spokesman said.

WOMEN JUST HAZARDS AT CLACTON CLUB

CLACTON-ON-SEA, Eng. (AP)—Male members of the Clacton Golf Club embarked Tuesday on an attempt to sweep back at the female tide with a mashie.

Through club secretary Frederick Wilson they announced that women members hereafter are barred from moving resolutions, voting at meetings or serving on the greens committee. They also must stay out of the bar until 5 p.m. The men outnumber the 117 women by 2 to 1.

"We may sound like old diehards, but if a man can't make a stand at his golf club where can he?" Women talk too much. They're not competent to run a golf club," Wilson said.

Carl Mayes, speedy ex-Texas University back, has been signed to a 1956 football contract by B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Mayes, six-foot-one, 195 pounds, signed for the Lions in 1954, but was drafted. He was chosen all-Army halfback in 1955 and has also seen service with Los Angeles Rams and Green Bay Packers. He is 25 years old.

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

Before this thing goes any further, Deacon Jake Proctor would like to get one thing straight.

Just because he won the Mann Cup for Victoria Shamrocks last year, it does not mean that Deacon Jake is going to get mushy about and start liking Victoria.

No indeed, Jake confides; all that business last September, when he jumped into the breach and stemmed the flood of goals off like Hildebrand's stick was merely a matter of business procedure.

It reflected no change in policy.

The Proctor chops are being licked frequently these days as he contemplates the welter of lacrosse material he has on hand as coach of the Vancouver Pilseners, material ear-marked for the destruction of Victoria and Nanaimo lacrosse hopes.

"This should be an enjoyable summer," said Jake this week, toying with words that obviously tickled his palate.

"Mind you, we have always been able to beat a Victoria team if we put our minds to it, but this year, with more material, it will be that much more enjoyable.

"I am also looking forward to trimming the trimmings off that Nanaimo club. They've given us a bad time in the past and they are fat to be knocked off."

Accustomed to operating on a shoestring in the past, Jake this year is shod with silver buckles as far as players are concerned.

He can draw from last year's Indians and Pilseners of the senior league, now that they have amalgamated, and can pick up players from two junior teams, if they are ready for the large step.

Take goal, for instance. Deacon Jake merely has to sit back and watch four players scrap for the honor of tending nets for the Vancouver club.

Immovable Stan Back Again

Immovable Stan Joseph, the Wooden Indian of much boxy yore and young Ron Delmonico, who never really had a chance to live up to all his potentials while playing for the lethargic Pilseners of Johnny Cavallini are the leading candidates for the goal-keeping job; and there are two junior goalies, flushed with ambition, to make sure that Joseph and Delmonico don't go to sleep during practice.

Everyone who was anyone with Indians and Pils last year is back trying to cosy out a spot on the new club.

Then there is Denny Huddleston, one of the biggest bucks ever seen in the league, so large in fact that he has been accused of causing many of those cracks that appear in the cement at Memorial Arena.

Lacrosse, for Denny, has been a spare-time hobby in recent years but this season the Muscled One seems dead serious on making a full-scale comeback.

"Denny is dead serious," says Proctor.

Jake Has Some New Tactics

"He's attending every workout, and he's digging in like a rookie."

Deacon Jake plans to switch tactics this year.

In the past, Indian players, after a victory, would smugly sit in their dressing room, roll their eyes significantly at strangers and whisper about "The System."

The system, with which the players were so taken, was calculated deliberation with shooting, a slow-breaking attack and half control to the point of hogwashness.

But this will be changed this year.

"We're going into Kerrisdale Arena this year and with a booking like that, we gotta produce the entertainment. We'll run this year, run all night if the fans like it. We'll make 'em love us."

Except, we should add, in Victoria, Nanaimo and New Westminster.

TEAMS OPEN WARFARE

Vernon Wins Opener Of Allan Cup Series

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Vernon Canadians won the opening game of the Western Hockey League final for the Allan Cup, but the fight—and the fighting—is far from over.

Vernon licked Winnipeg Maroons 4-1 Tuesday night before a capacity crowd of 3,325. There were four times as many penalties as goals, and the game was considered the roughest played here in a year.

The best-of-seven series continues Thursday in Kelowna, returning for a third tilt at Vernon. Other dates will be announced later.

Ian MacIntosh got the only Winnipeg goal, a 15-footer, at 15:36 of the first period. Merv Bidski, evened it up less than three minutes later with a rising 40-footer and Walt Trenini got the winner midway through the second while both teams were a man short.

Both teams were still minus a player when Don McLeod lifted a hard, screened backhand at 14:29. Odie Lowe got the final goal from 15 feet out with less than four minutes to go in the game.

Edmonton referees Curly Brout and Frank Solloway called 20 penalties on each team. Warriors coach Bill Juzda won a decision over Vernon's Frank King in the only real fist-fight of the night, coming out with a major and misconduct to King's major.

Bill McCracken of Winnipeg got a second-period charity horse while his star teammate, Chuck Lumsden, needed several stitches below his eye and Ron Castlelaine picked up three on the lip from separate encounters. The game closed off with two misconduct penalties.

MARY'S CALL WORKOUT

Mary's Coffee Bar senior "B" softball team will hold a workout Thursday night at 9 at Mount View High School gym. All last year's players and anyone interested are invited to attend.

Weather-Beaten Golfers Hope for Break Sunday

With the squall of Colwood and the rolling hills of Gorge Vale temporarily behind them, the battered survivors of the Times Match Play Open Golf Championship move on to the flatlands of Uplands Golf Club this Sunday.

The tournament moves into the quarter-finals Sunday with 16 players in each of the open and handicap divisions, all that remains from the original starting field of 120, seeking to hang on as the tension and competition mounts.

Very likely, most of the players who got through the qualifying round and the first round of match play will go into Sunday's competition figuring that they are due for a break.

TOUGH CONDITIONS

The qualifying round was a brutal day for the field as wind-driven rain soaked and chilled the players and sent scores soaring. Last Sunday, the normal difficulty of the long, hilly Gorge Vale was enhanced by week-long rain that soaked the fairways and greens.

The field will be reduced to eight in each section this Sunday and the following weekend, the semifinals will be held over 36 holes at Victoria Golf Club.

Two former champions, Eric Hibberson and Bob Morrison, fell by the wayside last Sunday at Gorge Vale.

Hibberson was dropped 2 and 1 by another former champion, Ted Colgate, while Morrison was the victim of the slightly sensation clutch play of Duncan's Gordy Whit.

Colgate, defending champion Bill McColl and 1951 champion Bob Fleming will be scrambling to stay alive this Sunday as the finger of fate points out new victims.

BIG MATCH

Fleming meets Colwood's tough pressure player Vic Painter, former city and Empress champion, in what could be the match of the day while McColl goes against Jack Storrer.

Colgate will have his work cut out for him when he tangles with former B.C. champion Jimmy Robertson.

In other key matches, medalist George Andrews, who defeated veteran Harold Linham last Sunday, meets consistent Johnny Merriman, who put Colwood professional Bill Court out of the running in the first round.

Whan tackles long-hitting Dr. George Bigelow and Oak Bay assistant pro Laurie Carroll stacks up against Gorge Vale stylist Dave Thorpe.

UCLA Rugger Whip Northwest

VANCOUVER (CP)—Giving the best display of English rugby they have shown on their tour, UCLA put on a brilliant exhibition of ball handling, speed, passing and tackling to defeat Vancouver Northwest 10-0 Monday.

Northwest had won the British Columbia championship trophy last Friday, but they were never in the picture Monday and retired well beaten. They lost the services of Art Shannon, left-wing three-quarter, with concussion after 10 minutes. The 130-pound Shannon crashed into Gil Moreno when the California forward, weighing 229 was in full run.

The result left UCLA with one win and two losses in their three-game visit. They scored 19 points against 38 in the three games and Monday was the first time they had registered a try in the series.

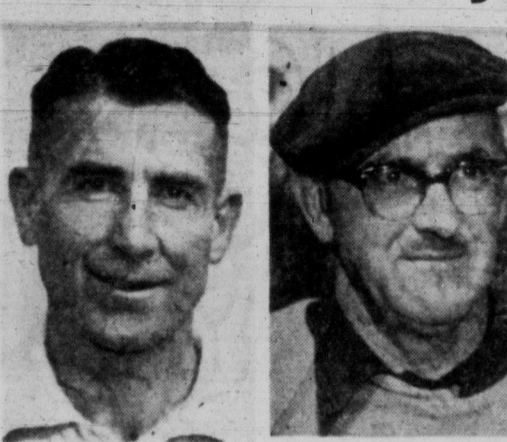

Mounties Nip Bevos On Pinch Home Run

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP)—In-fighter Gary Robin socked a home run in the seventh inning that proved to be the winning blow as Vancouver-downed Portland, 6-3. Robin batted as a pinch hitter for the Mounties' starting pitcher, Charles Drummond.

Rene Valdez, who started on the mound for the Beavers, retired in the seventh as the Mounties got their rally under way.

Portland 600 020 001—3 4 0 Vancouver 000 020 21x—6 9 9 Valdez, Moore (7), Hall (9) and Robinson (10) for Beavers; Drummond, Kulpaka (9) and Materson.

FREEMO, Calif.—Johnny Goncalves, 142, Oakland, Calif., outpointed Frankie Sidmore, 144, San Francisco (10).

Wolves Buy West Ham Star

LONDON (CP)—Wolverhampton Wanderers have paid £25,000 for a player they may not be able to use until next season.

The fee—largest in the club's history—was paid by Wolves to West Ham United of the second division to obtain 23-year-old right winger Harry Hooper. The record transfer fee is £31,000, paid by Sheffield Wednesday to Nottingham County in 1951 for Jackie Sewell.

Wolves could use the fast, hard-shooting Hooper in their drive to finish among the top four teams in the first division. The top four share in a "talent money" pool. But because the deal was completed well after the mid-March transfer deadline, Wolves are unlikely to obtain permission to use the Durham-born winger this season.

Longden Sets Sights On All-Time Win Mark

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (UP)—Johnny Longden, the winningest jockey in American history, has his eye on the all-time record of 1,870 victories set by Sir Gordon Richards of England.

The 46-year-old veteran booted home his 4,700th and 4,701st winners at Tanforan Tuesday and finished second on five other occasions.

Johnny reached the 4,700 mark on Pit Boss in the first race and came through again aboard Ganaja in the fourth. He was dead last in the second and sat out the fifth.

Longden rode his first winner at Lagoon Park, Salt Lake City, in 1926. In 1938, 1947 and 1948 he was the nation's leading saddlesmith.

He won the triple crown in 1943 with Count Fleet and considers that Horse and Noor, whom he guided to three world records, as the greatest thoroughbreds he ever sat upon.

The feature race was won by Speedy Edie. Myrtlewood ran second and First Aid Kit third.

Speedy Edie, with Ralph Neves up, ran the six furlongs in 1:10 3/5 and paid $17.40 straight.

Former POW Year's Best Footballer

LONDON (Reuters)—Bert Trautmann, Manchester City's brilliant German goalkeeper, today was elected England's "footballer of the year" by the Soccer Writers Association.

He will receive the trophy at the association's annual dinner in London May 3—two days before he plays for his club in the English Football Association Cup final at Wembley Stadium here.

The award is made to the soccer player "by precept and example, by the quality of his football and by his bearing on and off the field" merits the title.

The 31-year-old Trautmann was taken prisoner while a wartime German paratrooper and later became one of the German ex-prisoners-of-war who chose to work in England.

His signing by Manchester City in 1949 sparked off one of the biggest rows in soccer history. War veterans and others threatened to boycott the club if he played. But the storm blew over, and Trautmann now has established himself as one of England's foremost goalkeepers.

PAN-BROILED STEAK

Heat a heavy frying pan until hot. Rub it very lightly with a bit of beef fat. Put the steak in the pan and sear it for 1 minute, or until the blood rises on the uncooked surface, turn it and sear the other side. Reduce heat to a low flame and continue cooking until done, about 10 minutes for a 1½-inch steak. Pour off fat in the pan. If it is allowed to accumulate, the steak will be sautéed and not broiled. Season with salt and freshly ground pepper.

Esquimalt Faces Police Pay Raise

A $26-a-month wage boost for first-class police constables in Esquimalt and increases for other members of the force will be recommended by police commission at the next meeting of municipal council.

Increases, which raise wages to the level of Victoria city police, were approved Tuesday in a hearing before department of labor conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin.

Council must give its approval before increases are effective. Before its decision is made Reeve A. C. Wurtele will present councilors with a brief argument against any "drastic wage increase," the same brief he brought before the commission during negotiations.

Mr. Wurtele affirmed the boosts would add at least $2,600 a year to the present wage budget.

Wage scale with increases would be: sergeant, $370; corporal, $349; first class constable, $332; second class constable, $302; third class constable, $278; probationers, $259.

Police union, representing all 12 members of the force apart from chief, had asked parity with city police plus 10 per cent to cover additional risk taken by the men in their dual role as firemen. Before conciliation the commission was prepared only to recommend a $10 across-the-board increase.

One of the reeve's major arguments is that Esquimalt provides more complete police protection per capita than either of Greater Victoria's other two municipalities of Oak Bay and Saanich.

The ratio for Esquimalt is

Sailors Remanded After Guilty Pleas

John Kelly and Jack Frederickson, both of HMCS Naden, were remanded to Thursday for sentence when they pleaded guilty in Saanich police court Tuesday to a charge of taking an auto without consent of the owner.

Saanich police said the two men took a car from 2812 Inlet at about 2.45 a.m. Sunday and were later apprehended in the city.

Elk Lake Labor Day Swim Plans Hatched

Registration of young swimmers for the second annual Labor Day splash from Elk Lake to Beaver Lake will start next month.

A committee headed by chairman Constable Robin Stewart of the Saanich police force is lining up a program which will make the "long-distance" swim for youngsters in September a gala event.

The committee of 35 has made plans for selection of a "water queen," log rolling, diving exhibition, other water sports and a dance.

The swim last year was classified only in one group, 16 years and under.

This year there will be three age groups, 11 to 13 years, 13 to 16 years and 16 to 19 years.

A short swim near Beaver Lake float will be held for youngsters under 11 years, and every safety precaution will be taken for all swimmers.

A rowboat containing safety equipment will accompany each swimmer.

Practices will be held twice a week for a time prior to the swim and instructors will be available.

Each contestant will undergo a medical examination before his entry is accepted.

The swimmers are open to both boys and girls.

STILL SEEK MISSING PASSENGER FROM DITCHED PLANE

Search continued today for body of David V. Razez, of Seattle, flight service attendant, listed as missing from Northwest Orient airliner which ditched in Puget Sound Monday. Thirty-three survived the crash landing and five were lost. Four bodies have been recovered. Small loss of life was due mainly to fine job of ditching performed by pilot, Capt. Robert Heard, right. Most of passengers described landing on water no worse than ordinary let down on runway. Failure of flaps was blamed for ditching.

PLUG FOR CITY'S SYMPHONY

They Loved Jan Peerce Tuesday And Peerce Loved Big Audience

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

It is difficult to say which was most carried away—artist or audience—when Jan Peerce sang his fifth concert in Victoria Tuesday night.

Both Peerce and his accompanist, Warner Bass, appeared delighted with the uninhibited warmth of their reception. Literally beaming, the Metropolitan's most famed tenor scattered encores with a liberal hand throughout the program. Finally he erupted into speech:

"You're wonderful!" he told his audience.

In the truest sense of the word, Peerce was wonderful too. Whether he was singing some of opera's most beautiful arias with the eloquent, fluent ease the rich bel canto that marks him as a true son of the golden age of tenors, or going to bat for the Victoria Symphony Orchestra or indulging in a spate of pure hokum, he was wonderful.

For this reviewer his glow faded considerably when he stooped to the fatality of "Bluebird of Happiness" and "Because." But if anything is to be judged from the reception these numbers got, a good part of the audience thought this portion of the evening most wonderful of all!

Endorsing music as one of the great forces for good in city and community life, he told Victoria it was lucky to have the Symphony Orchestra and Hans Gruber. He had heard about the deficit and dismissed it as "nothing!"

"One of your business firms could write it off and never know the difference... or three or four could get together."

Musically speaking, the major portion of his program was a sheer delight, with such unsurpassed musical treasures as Mozart's great Don Giovanni aria "Il mio tesoro," Brahms' "Mainacht" and "O Liebliche Wangen" and Hageman's "Music I Heard With You," presented with an art that frequently was as close to perfection as anything one is likely to hear.

The living beauty of Peerce's diction in any language is something that every singing student should note with care. This facet, and the marvelous flexibility of tongue, the subtle colorations and textures which he uses at will with such amazing ease, are all a part of a fabulous technical equipment.

But perhaps the most impressive thing about Peerce is the fact that he sings every number—and some surely for the hundredth or so time—with the same full life and flavor as if it were newly a part of his repertory.

Warner Bass, who is so fine an accompanist that the singing and piano parts become a perfectly blended whole, revealed himself a soloist of pleasing proportions in a short piano group.

MURDER RE-TRIAL ASKED

Juror Asked Date Witnesses Claim

CALGARY (CP)—The appellate division of the Alberta Supreme Court was asked Tuesday to grant a new murder trial for Peter Morrison on the grounds one of the jurors tried to arrange dates with two pretty witnesses through a court orderly.

Defence counsel Frank Quigley asked for a retrial. He named Nick Eveno, a Calgary real estate salesman, as the jurist who allegedly flirted with two of Morrison's girl friends.

Morrison was convicted of murder in the pistol-shooting last May of Norman G. Yesny of Niagara Falls, N.Y., on a lonely highway outside Calgary's city limits. He was sentenced to be hanged April 25 and awaits execution in Lethbridge jail.

At the request of the court, Mr. Quigley read aloud letters from Beverley Page, 19, of Detroit to Peter Morrison, in which she is alleged to have said Eveno twice attempted to date her and a friend, Mrs. Darlene Hess of Barstow, Calif.

One of the letters began: "Do you think Mr. Quigley could get a new trial if a juror were proved morally unfit?"

The following letter described dating attempts. The letter said she and Mrs. Hess were getting their coats in the witness room on the second last day of the trial when a court orderly came in and asked them if they would like to go out with two of the jurymen.

The letter said the girls refused the offer and that after the trial Eveno called them at their hotel room.

Crown prosecutor L. A. Justason, in his argument, questioned whether a court orderly speaking to the girls could be termed a communication between a witness and jurymen.

"We must delve into the true meaning of a communication. The only possible direct contact might have been only after the trial when the jurymen had been reabsorbed into society," said Mr. Justason.

(A) "THE LITTLEST OUTLAW" (Capitol)—Here is the perfect picture for the children during the Easter holidays. Parents, too, will delight in "The Littlest Outlaw," the Mexican stableboy who stole a general's injured horse rather than see the noble animal shot.

As is usual with Walt Disney productions, "The Littlest Outlaw" bears the stamp of a special touch, a touch that removes it from the ranks of the ordinary. Here is no blood and thunder, shooting and killing. Here instead is the story of a small boy whose love for an animal causes him to become an outlaw. Suspense is gained through sympathy as the lad, played admirably by Andres Valesquez, is hunted by the soldiers, has a brush with two outlaws, seeks sanctuary for his horse in a church and finally saves him from the savage bulls in the bull ring.

THE PHOTOGRAPHY OF "THE LITTLEST OUTLAW," as is customary in Disney productions, is a thing of true beauty. Cloud, sky and land patterns are caught in haunting manner much as one imagines them in a fairytale—all of which is of great credit to chief photographer Alex Phillips. The entire film was taken at the Churubusco Studio, Mexico City, with the co-operation of General and Senator R. Rodriguez Familiar, of the Rancho Nason del Prado.

In addition to the boy, Valesquez, Joseph Calleja as the priest, who, after having blessed the horse among a lot of other animals cannot find it in his heart to turn boy and horse out of the church, gives a stellar performance as does Pedro Armendariz, the general who orders the once fine jumper to be shot.

Notch up one more triumph for Disney the Distinguished.

Ridley 'Head' Says Schools Face Big Job

Private schools have a "unique opportunity" to meet one of the most pressing problems of today, Dr. J. R. Hamilton, headmaster of Ridley College, St. Catharines, Ont., said here Monday night.

"There is a tendency today to emphasize the material returns of education," the visitor told a reunion gathering of Ridley Old Boys and guests at a dinner in the Pacific Club. "A real education should send a boy out into the world with a sense of dedication, a sense of mission."

"This is particularly so today when there is a growing gap between the science of technology and the science of morals. Schooling should provide a background of religious instruction to counteract this trend. That is something the private school has a unique opportunity to achieve," Dr. Hamilton said.

Old Boys present included Gordon L. Lee, who attended Ridley in 1897. The College is one of the largest residential schools for boys in Canada, and attracts students from a number of foreign countries including Morocco, Guatemala and Venezuela.

The headmaster was introduced by James George, and thanked by Canon F. E. M. Tomalin of St. Matthias Anglican Church. Accompanied by Mrs. Hamilton, he will return east on Wednesday.

40 Persons Hear Mayor On Bridge

Public Meeting Draws Small Crowd

Building of the proposed New Point Ellice bridge for approximately $500,000 can be accomplished without tax increase, Mayor Percy Scurrell told a public meeting Tuesday.

He said the city already had $559,336 in the coffers for this purpose from tax sale property. This money, he said, could only be spent for capital assets with consent of the provincial government, which has been obtained for building the bridge.

He, Aldermen Geoffrey Edgelow and Don Smith, with city engineer J. C. Garnett constituted a panel sponsored by the recently formed Victoria Civic Voters' Association. They discussed the bridge question in the hall of the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion before a disappointingly small crowd. Only about 40 were present.

City property holders vote on a bridge referendum Thursday. The mayor said "it's time we settled the bridge question at least for our lifetime." A new Point Ellice structure was a plank in his platform when elected last December.

NEEDED FOR SAFETY

"For the safety of our people we must have a new bridge," he stressed. "No help would be forthcoming from the federal or provincial governments and Victoria would have to 'go it alone.'"

Industry above the bridge today was being hampered by the low clearance, 18 feet, of the present structure. The proposed new bridge would have 30-foot clearance.

Yearly payroll for industries immediately above the bridge was approximately $1,500,000. At present, surveys which must service some of these industries were held up as much as a week waiting proper tides before materials could be transported. This, said the mayor, retarded proper economic development.

"We need those payrolls very badly."

Eight engineering surveys of the bridge had been made since 1913, he recalled, each of which had said the structure was in poor shape.

Ald. Edgelow listed pertinent phrases of the various engineering reports.

OUTDATED NOW

They all added up to the fact the bridge had been in poor condition the past 43 years of its 53-year-old history. It was not built to withstand rigors of today's traffic, said Mr. Edgelow.

"Replacement of the bridge would give a tremendous lift to Victoria West, both to property values and residents," he said.

Ald. Smith said "every hour of every day we are endangering lives" with the present edifice.

He said a revised trade licence by-law would bring money expended on the bridge back to the city by 1960.

"The only way to clear the matter up once and for all—is to build it."

Mr. Garnett said the present site for the bridge was the best, and all other possible sites had been studied and rejected by his department.

He said the new bridge, a low parapet type, 48 feet in width, would be able to handle up to 4,000 cars hourly, providing approaches allowed this compared with the present bridge's 600 cars an hour.

Suspended Sentence For Attempted Theft

Robert Ker, 1744 Duchess, was given a suspended sentence and placed on probation when he appeared in city police court Tuesday on a charge of attempted theft of a $1 motorcycle foot rest.

Ker was ordered to report monthly for six months to a probation officer, obey directions of the officer as to companions and other matters and post a $500 good-behavior bond.

George A. Hill, 18, 250 Linden, jointly charged with the attempted theft and also charged with theft of a car radio, was remanded to Wednesday on both charges.

Death Car Driver Draws Fine of $35

Fine of $35 or five days in jail was imposed in city police court Tuesday on a 19-year-old woman charged with careless driving in connection with a fatal accident March 8.

Joan Anita Collins, 3132 Qu'Appelle, had pleaded guilty to the charge through counsel. She was again represented by counsel today.

She was charged following an accident at about 12:05 a.m., March 8, on Oak Bay Avenue which resulted in the death of Mrs. Catherine Macfarlane, 1534 Redfern.

TWO LABOR COUNCILS AT VANCOUVER MERGE

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Vancouver labor councils, with a combined membership of 79,000 members, merged Tuesday night into the Vancouver-Lower Mainland Trades and Labor Council.

United were the 56,000 members of the Vancouver Labor Council (VLC) and the 23,000 members of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (TLC).

Lloyd Whalen of the VLC was elected president of the new body.

New Disarmament Proposal by U.S.

LONDON (AP) — Four leading United Nations atomic powers today studied the new American "steps to disarmament" plan calling for staged cutbacks in both conventional and nuclear weapons to reduce the threat of war.

The United States plan calls for strict international inspections and controls, a stumbling block in previous efforts to halt the big-power arms race.

Once this is working, the plan provides for a census of nuclear stocks and gradual conversion of such stockpiles to peaceful purposes.

U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen outlined the proposal at Tuesday's meeting of the five-power sub-committee of the UN disarmament commission. Delegates from the Soviet Union, Britain, France and Canada studied the lengthy, detailed draft overnight before meeting again today for fresh discussion.

The U.S. plan differs significantly from an earlier Russian proposal in that it would set up controls over nuclear weapons and production, as well as limitations on conventional armaments. The Soviet plan, offered last week, dealt only with conventional weapons. This was a reversal of previous Russian demands that nuclear weapons must be banned as a first step to planning disarmament.

The American plan also would limit military forces of the U.S. and the Soviet Union to 2,500,000 men each, while the Russian proposal would restrict them to 1,500,000.

The U.S. outlined its disarmament plan in these stages:

1. A "confidence-building" step between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. This calls for tests of practical disarmament controls in special "non-sensitive" areas of the two countries, 20,000 to 30,000 square miles in size.

NAME COMMISSION

2. Creation of a preparatory armaments regulatory commission made up of the five powers. This body would set maximum manpower limits of 2,500,000 men each for Russia and the U.S., and 750,000 men each for Britain and France, with conventional arms and defence budgets keyed to the manpower level. It also would work out-to safeguard against surprise attack—a control and inspection plan.

3. Drafting of a disarmament treaty by the five powers. Approval of the treaty would be followed by an exchange of military "blueprints" of conventional armed strength; freezing of defence budgets at the Dec. 31, 1955, level, and start of the inspection and control system.

4. Start of the nuclear phase of disarmament. All members would report their stocks and production of nuclear materials and weapons, and plans for testing nuclear weapons. Production of nuclear weapons would be progressively reduced, and eventually stockpiles of nuclear weapons would be whittled down.

Massey Party Visits Ailing George Black

By JOE MACSWEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
WHITEHORSE, Yukon (CP) —

Governor-General Massey leaves this storied Yukon capital today on the home stretch of a 10,000-mile air tour that has taken him across the roof of Canada and over the North Pole.

The much-travelled governor-general will arrive at The Pas, Man., tonight aboard his RCAF North Star for an 18-hour visit, his last stop before returning to Ottawa after an absence of 17 days.

Mr. Massey met a number of pioneers of the Klondike gold rush during his 11-day stay here. Tuesday night he visited the home of George Black, a native of Woodstock, N. B., who has lived in the Yukon for many years and served as Speaker of the House of Commons from 1930 to 1935.

Mrs. Black chatted with reporters from her wheelchair, roguish eyes betraying her 90 years. A native of Chicago, she came over the Chilkoot pass with her brother and cousin in the gold rush in 1898, and since then has lived in the Yukon except for trips to the outside.

TOOK HUSBAND'S PLACE

"I was the only one who struck it rich—I met George," said Mrs. Black, who herself went to Parliament as a Progressive Conservative when her husband was ill.

With a smile she gave her philosophy of life in the Yukon: "You've got to have guts."

Before visiting the Blacks, Mr. Massey drove in his cream limousine to the McBride Museum, where he gazed on pictures of the fabulous old battles of the Yukon and examined an edition of Whitehorse's first "automatic exchange directory."

It listed such imposing places as the Bank of Commerce and further down—in a separate place—the names of Violet Devere, Jessie St. Clair and Mamie Ray, who lived in the red-light district.

GRANTS SCHOOL HOLIDAY

The 69-year-old governor-general also placed a wreath at the cenotaph and visited the public school, addressing pupils assembled in the auditorium. After granting a holiday in the name of the Queen, he was introduced to Yukon Indian chiefs and missionaries who came to Whitehorse for the occasion.

He also went to the Roman Catholic mission, greeting Scouts and Cubs as well as other pupils. In this town of some 6,000 population he saw the only three-story log cabin in the world, and also the world's only log cathedral, an Anglican church.

Earlier, the vice-regal representative went to the federal building to present a new coat of arms to the Yukon territorial council, featuring a sled dog standing on a mound of snow.

Farmers Support Kefauver

Wisconsin Result Pleases Democrats

MILWAUKEE (AP) — President Eisenhower came out on top in a Wisconsin test of strength with Senator Estes Kefauver Tuesday in a presidential primary election which gave Democrats considerable hope for the future, particularly in the farm belt.

The state elected 30 delegates pledged to Eisenhower at the national Republican convention and 56 Kefauver delegates—with one half-vote each—to the Democratic convention.

As the Eisenhower slate had only token opposition, and the Tennessee senator's delegate candidates no opposition at all, the primary was considered a test of popularity between the president and the Democratic aspirant. Such a test was possible because there is no party registration in Wisconsin and voters could vote any ballot they chose.

PLEGGED TO CANDIDATE

In most states, voters are registered for the primaries as either Republican or Democrat, and vote for the men they want as party candidates in the November elections. Candidates for all offices except president and vice-president are named in this way, but the preference for these latter candidates is often taken as an indication of how the summer party conventions will choose the contenders for the two highest posts.

Delegates named in the primaries to the party conventions are technically pledged to their candidate, but at the conventions themselves these pledges of strength are often changed.

The Wisconsin figures showed the Democratic delegates polling about 42 per cent of the total vote—the largest percentage any Democratic candidates have run up in a spring primary in the state in the last several elections.

The Republican Eisenhower candidates got about 55 per cent of the total vote and the John Chapple slate about three per cent. Chapple's slate was entered as a Republican group which opposed the president's foreign policy.

SUPPORT IN RURAL AREAS

The Democratic gains led leaders to hail Kefauver's showing as an indication that he will be able to carry the farm belt.

Kefauver, at Miami, Fla., said that the primary showed "great unrest among the farmers."

Israel Bid for Canadian Jets Certain To Get Cold Shoulder

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — Purchase of an unspecified number of jet aircraft from Canada is being sought by the government of Israel, according to reports circulating here today, which authorities described as "interesting" but declined to confirm or deny.

Israel was said to be anxious to buy F-86 Sabres, built by Canadair Limited of Montreal. The initial inquiry for Canadian jet fighters was reported to be made to the Canadian government last fall.

Canadian government spokesmen declined to comment, but they did say that an order for jet aircraft was not one of the two orders referred to by Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent last month as still pending. This would indicate that the Canadian government has declined to consider granting the authority for the shipment of Sabres to the Middle East.

A report from Washington Tuesday said Israel was seeking Canadian-built jet aircraft as well as large quantities of arms from the United States.

It is regarded here as highly unlikely that if the United States declined to Israel that Canada would step into the picture and make such sales. Sabre jets are single-engine aircraft capable of high speeds. Canada's NATO squadrons are equipped with Sabres.

LIBERALS, PCs, SOCREDS

Man. Parties Given Funds by Breweries

WINNIPEG (CP) — A Winnipeg lawyer today told a committee of the Manitoba legislature that three Manitoba breweries made contributions totaling $28,074 within the last 11 years to persons "professing to be acting" for the provincial Liberal, Conservative and Social Credit parties.

D. A. Thompson, counsel for Drewry's Manitoba division of Western Canada Breweries Ltd., gave the information voluntarily to a legislative committee investigating beer profits. Earlier, the committee had voted not to ask for the information.

Mr. Thompson said he also made the statement for F. J. Turner, representing Shea's Brewery and affiliates.

He said the Liberals received $16,050, the Conservatives $11,500 and the Social Crediters $525. Independents were given $300. The CCF got nothing.

Mr. Thompson said the contributions dated back to 1945 in one case, 1950 in a second and 1951 for the third brewery. The information was given only in general and was not broken down specifically to name the persons who received the money.

Provincial CCF leader Lloyd Stinson, who has headed a move to have the information revealed, said in an interview outside the committee he would confer with party members to decide whether to press for more details, including the names of those who received the contributions.

Mr. Thompson said political donations made by Sheas and Drewry's made up the bulk of the total. Only other brewery listed donations was Grants.

No contributions were made by Kiewit, Pellissier's or Brewery Products Ltd., in the period 1945-55.

At the request of S. E. Burch (LP—Norfolk-Beautiful Plains) H. B. Monk, representing the independent Fort Garry Brewery, said he would later provide a list of contributions made by that organization. He said the amounts were "insignificant" when compared with the donations listed by Mr. Thompson.

Although most witnesses before the committee are obliged to testify under oath, the committee ruled that Mr. Thompson did not need to take an oath because he is a lawyer.

SAYS DONATIONS REQUESTED

Mr. Thompson said the breweries were making the statement to "dispel any rumors that fantastic amounts have been contributed or that payments were made to any one party to the exclusion of others."

He said that in every case contributions were made only after a request had been made by representatives of political groups for donations.

In the case of Shea's Brewery, donations were listed back only as far as 1950 and in the case of Drewry's only back to 1951.

This was due to the death of two persons having "sole personal knowledge of the facts" in the case of these breweries. Names of the two men could be given to the committee if requested, said Mr. Thompson.

Summer holidays previewed. . .

Spring-warmed earth tested. . .

SUMMER SIGNS SEEN AT LONG BEACH, IN LONG TRIP, LONG TOW

Spring is busting out all over, with indications summer won't be far behind. Pre-season camping trip (left) at Long Beach, on West Coast of Vancouver Island, was enjoyed to full over weekend by six Victoria members of the Sourdough Lodge Boys' Club, who returned Monday after three fun-packed days on the glistening sands, where rollers from the wide Pacific pound in.

Led by Ron Berod and Dick Falks, the group is determined to spend all future holidays at "The Beach." On the expedition were Bill Emery, Jack Watchman, Tony Knowles, Blair Kilby, Ian Falks, and Doug Alcock, all 15 and 16-year olds.

The good earth of B.C., slowly warming after a winter's hibernation, was tested thoughtfully (centre) this morning by two of 17 "New-Canadians-to-be" from Portugal. They arrived here Tuesday night, and will be assigned immediately to farms in the Southern Vancouver Island area, in time for spring planting and summer and fall harvesting.

A total of 100 immigrants were in the party, organized by the Canadian Immigration Department and the Canadian National Railways. Balance of the men, all in their early twenties, will be placed on farms in the lower mainland area. None can speak English, but bright smiles and sparkling eyes spoke eloquently of their delight in this "new country."

Also presaging summer activity on the B.C. coast was the arrival today in Vancouver of the ferry Scotian, soon to go into service on Howe Sound for Black Ball Line. Scotian was photographed (right) Tuesday as she approached Cape Flattery in tow to Straits Towing Company's Superior Straits.

Scotian was formerly operated by the Nova Scotia government, was towed to Balboa, Canal Zone, by an east coast tug, thence brought to her new home by Superior Straits, which averaged 8.7 knots for the 4,032-mile tow. Photo was taken from a Pacific Western Airlines plane.

Short, and more or less to the point.

Oh, see the happy schoolboy.
The happy schoolboy is on Easter holiday.
Is the happy schoolboy bored?
Oh, no, the happy schoolboy is not bored.
It is just that he has nothing to do and all day to do it in.

A person has to reach at least middle age before he has had enough practice not doing anything to really enjoy not doing it. And by then he's always so busy doing something he hasn't time to do nothing.

One thing you must give the B.C. government credit for, the B.C. government has done a great deal to ease the unemployment problem.

Especially in the field of chartered accountancy.

See where the government doesn't support Lydia's cancer cure theories.

If it did, it would set up a company to operate same. And you know dang well who'd be executive vice-president.

Can't say I blame Dr. Giovando for declining Lydia's invitation to debate.

In an argument on medical matters, the doctor would be at a distinct disadvantage.

He knows something about the subject.

Things don't seem right around here this spring.

No campaign to save baseball.

Discussion has been going on in this office about lawn-mowing.

It started when one of the staff came in and asked if it is still to early to mow the lawn.

General consensus was, if you can still wonder if it's too early to mow the lawn, it's too early to mow the lawn.

Times are changing over on the mainland.

It's getting so it ain't hardly safe to hold up a bank anymore.

A phone call from an excited Cobble Hill resident gave the Times this information today: he, in turn had got from the RCMP constable at Shawinigan Lake. News of nudists travels fast.

Further information gleaned by The Times indicated the organization now in possession of the Cobble Hill property — which was formerly owned by George Whittaker of Maple Bay — is the Sol Sante Club, successor to the Pak Sun Club which once had a camp at Spectacle Lake, of all places, but disbanded.

Last winter, a report on the Sol Sante club said its public relations officer was J. Ross, its president Walter Hannan, described as a pioneer of the nudist cult in this city, and promised that the club would hold "open house" this summer.

Confirmation of these facts was obtained today and it was understood that newspapermen, radio broadcasters and clergymen — not necessarily in that order — would be welcomed.

'I WAS SCARED' Blazing Guns Watched by Victoria Lad

By AB KENT

MIKE DAVIS
... I couldn't eat

Saanich schoolboy Michael Davis, who spent part of his Easter holiday in the middle of a police-bank robber gunfight, expects to be very popular at Tillicum School when classes reopen Monday.

Speaking by telephone this morning from "Coquitlam," where bandits and RCMP shot it out following a raid on the Royal Bank of Canada just before noon Tuesday, 11-year-old Mike described the fight as he saw it from 100 yards away as he and a friend with whom he is spending the holiday went to get a haircut.

"I was scared," he said. "I didn't eat my lunch. My stomach was upset."

No wonder. He had just seen a man shot dead by police bullets, and was in the line of fire himself as one bandit roared away in a waiting truck.

Mike and his friend Wayne Patience, 11, went to the shopping centre Tuesday morning as the bank robbers were scooping money out of the bank vault.

"We were looking for the barbershop when it started. We were about 100 yards away. There was a policeman sitting on the sidewalk against the bank."

Reeve Arthur Ash raised the question of school sites at a joint meeting of Saanich council and school board held to discuss this year's school estimates of $513,418. Council claims the estimates are too high.

"Some of the schools are located on low-lying areas and are subject to flooding every year," said the reeve. "Ratepayers are complaining and are asking us why such sites are chosen for schools."

John Gough, senior municipal inspector of schools, said the board has little choice in the matter of selecting property. "We take what is left after real estate has had its pickings," he stated.

POWERS LIMITED
"The board cannot buy land for future use," he added. "The Act does not permit the board to obtain financial assistance to purchase school sites unless school construction takes place within a year or so."

Council's main purpose in meeting the board was to obtain a breakdown of the school budget which was not given in the board's financial report. It plans to arbitrate the estimates if it is unable to obtain a detailed report on school costs.

Coun. Ronald Grant said the board's financial statement was like a "blank cheque."

"It tells us nothing," he said. "Something is wrong with the system if we can't get more information on school costs than this."

Board chairman Hu. phrey Golby said the board was prepared to provide council with detailed estimates of school costs.

CKTV WOULD DELAY OPENING TO AVERT JAM

Victoria's TV station opening will be delayed a month or more if necessary to ensure its channel does not interfere with Seattle's channel 5, James Proudfoot, lawyer for CKDA, said today.

Mr. Proudfoot said the station operators had it on good authority there would be no interference with the popular Seattle channel.

Technicians are now engaged in correspondence with TV operators in other districts where similar situations exist, to discover how the difficulty is overcome.

Opening date for the local TV station is tentatively set for Sept. 1.

Local TV experts have expressed opinions to the effect that most Victorians would have to replace their aerials to get channel 5 when channel 6 is in operation. Others say owners of the cheaper makes of sets will have to forget that channel 5 exists, regardless of antenna arrangements.

Driver Survives Sinking of Truck

3-Ton Vehicle Plunges Into 40 Feet of Water

By GEORGE MOLECEY
Times Nanaimo Correspondent

Cool heads, quick thinking, and plenty of luck combined at Nanaimo Tuesday afternoon to save the life of a truck driver who drove his loaded truck off the Gabriola Island ferry into 40 feet of water.

He did not even lose his eyeglasses in the plunge.

J. N. Walford, 52, of Gabriola Island, had driven his fully-loaded three-ton truck aboard the ferry "Eena" at Nanaimo and blocks were put behind the wheels.

About 500 feet from the dock, however, passengers saw the truck roll backwards from the ferry, and shouted a warning.

Immediately Capt. Otto Alcorn reversed the ferry's engines, grabbed a line, and threw it to Walford as he appeared 15 feet away—with his eyeglasses still in position.

Walford had been trapped in the cab of the truck, and could not turn the window down until it had settled on all four wheels on the bottom.

"I thought I'd never come up," he said as he was hoisted back on the ferry.

Bales of hay and other freight from the truck floated to the surface after the accident.

"It seemed about five minutes before Walford came to the surface," said Earl Easthom, Gabriola logger and ferry passenger. "He certainly kept his head."

It is believed the truck engine had been running and the transmission was in reverse when the accident occurred.

Easthom reported that after the accident Walford said he had pumped the brake pedal half a dozen times when he felt the truck moving backward over the blocks, but to no avail.

City Group Buys Lodge At Genoa Bay

A Victoria syndicate headed by Harry Gladwell has purchased Genoa Bay Lodge, popular holiday and fishing resort on Genoa Bay, between Cowichan Bay and Separation Point.

Included in the purchase are a main dining hall and recreation centre, two lodge buildings with accommodation for up to 40 persons, a small golf course, tennis courts, swimming pool and a number of lots that will be sold outright.

"The bay provides the finest yacht anchorage anywhere on this coast," Mr. Gladwell said. "We want to develop it as a haven for yachtsmen."

The site was first occupied by a lumber firm, but after the Second World War buildings remaining were converted for resort use.

A program of painting and redecoration now is under way under direction of Jim and Gina Golby, previous owners who will continue as managers of the lodge.

The lodge is 10 miles from Duncan by road, and five miles from Maple Bay. Its small boat floats and anchorage are protected from all winds.

Cherry Bank Zoning Issue Again Argued

The on-again-off-again zoning question for the Cherry Bank Hotel was on again today at City Hall.

When a special committee investigating the matter adjourned until Monday next, after hearing counsel for neighborhood residents W. H. M. Haldane, QC, and owner F. R. Donnelly, counsel Hugh Henderson, zoning status of the hotel was more up in the air than down to earth on property between Melure and Burdette.

Nub of the confusion, termed "a peculiar position" by Mr. Haldane, is that city council passed an amendment to a zoning by-law classifying the hotel as a "special district" to allow a public dining room.

But this was done without study of affidavits opposing the re-classification, from Mr. Haldane's clients, either by the zoning committee or council itself.

Mr. Haldane called this "a somewhat amazing procedure." Alderman W. F. Pinfold, chairman, said "we reached the point where we seemed to have an overwhelming number of petitions which favored re-zoning. Very confusing. We spent months trying to get to the bottom of these petitions."

Mr. Haldane said council "pushed through what I call a snap judgment without considering very important material."

Said Mr. Pinfold: "We have passed it. Whether we did it in fairness or not I don't know."

A new overall zoning-by-law is now pending.

This could mean the present amendment granting spot re-zoning to the hotel could be repealed by council, and the new by-law amended not to include the amendment in the old by-law.

At this point, neither the committee or Mr. Donnelly's counsel Mr. Henderson having seen any of Mr. Haldane's affidavits from area residents, the hearing adjourned until next Monday.

One of the property owners represented by Mr. Haldane, Mrs. D. B. Turner, was present at the hearing.

Mr. Donnelly, recent purchaser of the Cherry Bank, said through counsel he had bought the property in good faith, not knowing entanglements would result.

Novel Pottery Cookie Jars Almost Ask To Be Raided

By PENNY SAVER

I'm sure that cookie jars are just meant to be raided. And the temptation is a great one when the cookies are housed in a comical cookie jar shaped just like the shoe house where the old lady with so many children lived. Laces, bright windows and patches of flowers in front all add to the charm of this glazed pottery jar. A slanted shake roof with raised chimney lifts off. The little people in the house will adopt this as their own because of its gay colors, and roomy cookie space. This one costs $3.50.

A knobby stump with blossoms and sprigs of green on the side is topped with a flat lid with a posy for a handle. This, too, is a cookie jar. The lids of these jars are easy to hold, so little hands can easily put the lid on again safely. The stump is $2.95.

Those of you who enjoy wine often or occasionally will be interested in the cleverly made wine bottle holder I came across. The holder and handle are made of one length of brass. It curves around to form a flat base, swirls in a loop to hold the neck of the bottle, and curves into a handle, which is covered with woven wicker. The neck of the bottle into the slot, rest it on the base, and there it sits on a handy pouring angle. This would be smart in any setting — formal or informal. The price is $5.25.

Inexpensive and smart are the hostess sets that caught my eye in a downtown shop. A cigarette box with a pair of individual ash trays are of glazed pottery, in an English countryside pattern. Two patterns are shown in these sets. As I said, they're inexpensive, at just 95 cents for the three.

For the hostess who enjoys serving refreshments in an attractive way, there's a large carved wooden acorn to set in the middle of a large wooden of pottery serving plate. Tiny holes cover the four-inch acorn. Olives, pickles, cheese or any number of tidbits on colorful picks burst around the top of the acorn. It's yours for $1.65.

Old-Fashioned Spring Tonic From Molasses

OLD-FASHIONED SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES (2 DOZ.)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted, all-purpose flour; 2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten, ¼ cup unsulphured molasses, ½ cup water.

Sift together flour, soda, ginger, cinnamon and salt. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and molasses; mix well.

Add dry ingredients alternate with water, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Drop by heaping spoonful on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Store in closely covered container.

GINGERBREAD BOYS (1½ DOZEN)

One-half cup shortening, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup unsulphured molasses, 1 egg, 2½ cups sifted, all-purpose flour; ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1½ teaspoons cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Cream together shortening,

Spring tonic in the form of old-fashioned soft molasses cookies and gingerbread boys is just what doctor ordered for a treat.

sugar and molasses. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices. Add to molasses mixture, mix well. Chill dough about 2 hours.

Roll out ¼-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with a 6-inch gingerbread-man cutter, or cut around cardboard pattern.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

ORNAMENTAL FROSTING

Sift together 1 cup confectioners' sugar and ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar; add 1 egg white and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Beat with a rotary beater until frosting holds its shape.

A 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Watson, 1260 Denman Street, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Easter weekend. They were guests of honor at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Watson, 1897 Foul Bay Road, at a party, where family gathered to celebrate the anniversary and the couple's birthdays which were this weekend. Two grandchildren, Master Patrick Watson and Miss Lynn Ricketts presented them with a boutonniere and corsage respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Watson's eldest daughter, Mrs. Arthur Clatworthy presented them with a television set on behalf of the family. Other guests were Mr. Clatworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Ricketts, and guests of honor's other grandchildren, Dennis and Sidney Watson, Beverly Watson, Russell Ricketts, Jerome and Alfred Clatworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Watson were married in Saffron Walden, Essex, Eng., and came to Canada and to Victoria 37 years ago.

Ski Lodge Guests

Last weekend found a number of Victorians at Forbidden Plateau Lodge for skiing and sunning. Guests were Misses Sybil Lees, Didi Cabellu, Susan Cookes, Mrs. Margot Pea, Mrs. Francis Brown and son Larry, Mr. Derek Denny, Mr. Bill Baker, Mr. Peter Fletcher, Mr. Derek Fletcher, Mr. Larry Shipley and Mr. Lloyd Jernslet. From Vancouver were Mr. and Mrs. E. Rich, visitors from London, Eng.; Mr. D. Macdonald and sons, Brock and Gregg; Misses Victoria Gurnther, Inge Gurnther and Annette Dahlse, Mr. E. Bluitzen-Petersen and Mr. F. Brandstatter came from Duncan, and Mr. W. E. Johnson, and K. V. Aro, from Nanaimo.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Let's Face It—Skin on Face Reflects General Condition

The complexion very quickly reflects general health, the way we live and eat, and even the way we feel and think.

Too many women think of the skin on their faces as a thing apart from their general body make-up. They expect to apply one or two of the modern high powered products available and find that these make up for dietary deficiencies and a lack of fresh air and sunshine, exercise and sleep.

There is no one food which will build a beautiful skin but a well balanced diet, with emphasis on the vitamins and minerals, will promote skin beauty. If you sleep and rest enough, exercise and deeply breathe in fresh air, and include generous amounts of the leafy and green vegetables, meat and milk, eggs and whole grain and citrus fruit juices in your diet, you will have a head start on your contemporaries who do not go in for such healthful living.

It is said to be a fine idea to give our skins a rest from cosmetics for part of each 24 hours. Cleanse the skin thoroughly and then let it breathe for a few hours. Even the woman who works outside her home should try to find time for this.

If you do not have the problem of dryness, of course your skin will have this opportunity while you sleep. However, most women need a lubricating cream and others do not wish to go to bed without make-up because of looking less attractive for their husbands.

If you do not work outside your home you can soak your complexion in a lubricating cream for a few hours daily, then remove the cream and let the skin "breathe" for another few hours.

You can accomplish many beauty routines while doing your housework. Remember to watch your posture while going about the house. Pull your tummy in, lift your chest and keep your chin parallel to the floor as you perform your tasks. Housewives have a big advantage over the career gal when it comes to skin care and beauty routines.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Your Outer Coating," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

One mother sneaks into Baby's room after he's asleep and puts another toy in his bed along with his blanket, stuffed animals and favorite saucer. She finds that he will play with the "new" toy in the morning and let her catch 40 more winks.

Lime-flavored gelatin prepared according to package directions and zipped up in flavor with prepared horseradish is a perfect base for molding canned cling peach slices. Chill in individual molds and serve on crisp lettuce.

Egg yolk now comes ready to use, sealed in a jar. Eliminate that daily egg-boiling chore. Keep unused portion refrigerated. Baby won't know the difference between it and the fresh article.

Bring Enemy Out From Behind Iron Curtain Urges Soroptimist Head

The western world, those who believe in democracy, freedom of thought, freedom of worship, must widen the circle of their faith to embrace the enemy, instead of screening him off, as Russian has done, behind an Iron Curtain of prejudice and hate.

This thought was enunciated by Mrs. Pluma Batten, president of the North American Federation of Soroptimists, in an address given at a tea in the Empress Hotel on Monday.

Sponsored by the Victoria Soroptimists, the tea was one of several social events held following a three-day Soroptimist convention in Nanaimo last week. Several midwestern delegates were among guests.

Miss Marian Storey, Victoria Soroptimist president, chaired the formal part of the gathering. Mrs. Batten, who was introduced by the western regional governor, Mrs. Lennie McNeill, Edmonton, brought with her, as evidence of the new "peaceful" instruments against war, some of the balloons sent adrift from western Europe to carry messages of friendship to Russia.

The grim impact of two world wars within 30 years had roused mankind to realization that another "hot" war could not and must not happen again, she said. Other means must be found to settle international disputes.

Monetary cost of the First World War was $17,000,000,000. Thirteen of every 100 of the 65,000,000 combatants were killed. By 1939 war had become even more deadly and costly. This war cost one trillion dollars. Three of every 100 of the 16,000,000 combatants died.

"No nation with any understanding of economics is going to support a repetition of such a disaster," declared Mrs. Batten. The cruel materialism of Karl Marx's godless philosophy was today seeking domination of the eastern world. The mantle of leadership in the opposite school of thought, democracy, had fallen, it seemed, on the English-speaking world.

One philosophy placed the emphasis on materialism; the other, recognized higher power and spiritual guidance. It was imperative that efforts be made to teach democracy through every available channel to all lands behind the Iron Curtain.

Miss Storey received the guests at the tea. Mrs. J. U. Kimmett and Miss Alma Russell presided and servitors were Mrs. Margaret Dockrill, Mrs. Nan Pohl, Miss Gertrude Maywood, Miss Muriel Vincent and Miss Ella Walker.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Batten and Miss MacNeill. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. B. Harvey, Mrs. Anne Williams and Miss Edith Pritchard of Courtenay; Miss Mary Munn, Miss Sue Brewster and Miss Amy Hall Regina. Others present included Senator Nancy Hodges, Miss Nel Jones, Miss L. Milne, Mrs. J. Boyd, Miss Ethel Bruce, Mrs. M. Christie, Mrs. R. Greenslade, Mrs. J. R. Roberts, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Anne Pearson.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ben Under (MOTHER OF 5)

Surprising how soon babies come to the conclusion that everything is to be eaten, or at least tasted—from toes to toys—fingers to food—crib bars to bonnet ribbons. New mothers often worry about it, but by and large this nibbling pastime does no harm, since most things a baby can be, and objects small enough to swallow are kept well out of baby's reach. On the plus side: the mouth is baby's first great "teacher." With it he learns taste, texture, shape and one of the pleasures of life: the enjoyment of good food.

Speaking of taste and texture in the pleasantest sense of the word—Foods satisfy baby's needs beautifully. True-to-nature flavors and a nice-on-the-tongue texture spell downright eating pleasure for the baby on the verge of a full food schedule. Fruits, vegetables, meats, soups and desserts—all processed with particular care to preserve maximum food values. Over 35 varieties.

MOCK POACHED EGG
1 potato • Butter or margarine
Hot milk • Gerber Strained or Junior Carrots • Salt

Cook and mash potato. Add butter, milk, seasoning. Heat carrots and place in the center of a mound of mashed potato.

Ball game for one. If baby has crawl privileges, a bright-colored ball provides a wonderful creeping incentive. Helps teach concentration and co-ordination, too.

Early addition to the infant diet—orange juice—for the vitamin C so vital to sound gums and body tissues. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened fruit, selected for high vitamin-C content, mild flavor and appealing color. Careful pasteurization insures purity. LEBANON STORY

Sees Boys' Farm Near Jericho; Jerusalem Same as Years Ago

By LYNN NEWTON LOWES
BEIRUT, LEBANON

"Peter had to go to Musi Alami's at Jericho (you remember I told you about this great man's work in a former letter). He traveled with his boss, Bell Sandels and I went along, too.

"I was enthralled to meet the great Musa Alami and to be shown around his boy's farm just outside Jericho. Ford Foundation has completed a new school building for him which was proudly showed to us but he said the more money he gets involved in the more he needs. Which is so true. Now he has the new building he needs more funds to equip and run it.

"It really is a wonderful sight to see the place and those happy boys. We passed a row of huts. One was a carpenter shop and you could see the boys, ages 10 to 15, out front planing and sawing.

"In another was a bakery shop, then a cobbler's shop and a tailor shop. We even peeked in to one of the living quarters and there was a row of beds made army style and with not even a speck of dirt underneath them. This is quite something for Arabs!

"We visited the chickens and the turkeys, too. All raised from eggs sent from the United States. All perfectly kept and all fine looking.

"The sad thing about all this is that there is no market for the produce. Finding markets for his products is Bey Alami's biggest problem in order to make the farm pay. One industrious American woman in Beirut arranged that all the American community take their last year's Thanksgiving and Christmas turkeys from him. This was managed only when she got hold of the UN director at a party and persuaded him to take all the birds to Beirut via the UN plane. It worked too!

Handsome Legionnaires in Amman

"We took the UN plane to Amman and spent one night there. The town isn't much. I saw only one European down town, but English is spoken in the shops more often than in Beirut. The Arab Legion give color to the place with their red kafias and silver badges. The Jordan Arabs must be a purer stock for they are all tall and dark and most handsome in a rather fierce way.

"Later we drove from Amman to Jericho and then to Jerusalem via the Dead Sea through dry desolate good-for-nothing country. Just occasionally one could see the black goat hair tents of the Bedouin Arabs who would possibly have a few goats grazing, but nothing more.

"Jerusalem is the most fascinating place in this area. One feels that nothing has changed since the time of Christ—(except the new hotel we stayed in). I'm really speaking of the old part of Jerusalem—the walled city with its narrow-stepped streets; the children and old men sitting in groups just as they are portrayed in Bible story pictures.

"We walked into the city via the old Damascus gate along the Via Dolorosa, the road over which Christ was taken with the cross. We stopped at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre on the spot where it is believed Christ was buried.

"The terrible tragedy is that the city is split by barbed wire. You can see the Arab with his gun ready and watching the Jewish guard not more than a stone's throw away.

"We had an Arab Legion driver who could speak English, on the way to Bethlehem (usually six minutes from Jerusalem but now three quarters of an hour away as the old road is cut off by the new frontier) he kept pointing out the places where the Jews would come across the line and shoot up the cars.

"We passed the frontier villages which are worse off than the refugee camps as their means of survival—the land—has been cut off right from their own doorsteps. As they are not on relief it is very difficult for them to live.

"We flew back to Beirut at 11,000 feet and in clouds over the mountains.

"My, was it cold (and no central heating) in Bethlehem and Jerusalem! The air actually seemed summertime when we stepped off the plane at Beirut!"

Tea Honors Miss Kay Lawrie

Mrs. W. T. Lawrie, 3250 Beach Drive, entertained this afternoon at a bon voyage tea honoring their daughter, Miss Kay Lawrie, who is leaving Victoria April 14 for England, where her marriage to Mid. (E.) John Bertrand Plant, RCN, will take place in Plymouth on April 21. A wedding cake, iced with anchors and the words "Bon Voyage" centred the tea table, at which Mrs. D. C. Hill-Tout, Miss Pat Gannon and Miss Pam Campbell presided. Guests included Mrs. F. Gannon, Mrs. J. R. Kingham, Mrs. Howard Damaske, Mrs. Larry Wood, Mrs. Maurice Humber, Mrs. H. McFadyen, Mrs. E. Badminton, Mrs. M. Garcin, Mrs. D. E. Hartness and Misses Jackie Freer, Edith Nixon, Sunny Wyatt, Kitty Dixon, Terry French, Adele Goult, Belinda McConnell, Daphne Legg-Willis, Trudie Humber, Nora Garcin, Mary Biddle and Joan Ross of Vancouver.

West Vancouver Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Mather, and their three children Elená, Alan and Jean, are visiting in Victoria with Mrs. Mather's parents, Magistrate and Mrs. Henry C. Hall, 1381 Craigdarroch Road. The Mather family live in West Vancouver.

Vacationers Return

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Robertson accompanied by Miss Doris Jack of Quebec, have returned to their home at Royal Oak after a month's holiday in Hawaii. Miss Jack is a guest at the Robertson home, and will visit in Victoria for several weeks.

Now that spring is here, get outdoors frequently—walking, golfing, or even driving with the windows wide open. There's nothing like fresh air to put a sparkle in the eyes. It purifies the lungs and blood stream, making dull eyes alive and shining.

The longer and brighter daylight hours that come with spring and summer—necessitate checking on your lighting for TV viewing. A soft light is easiest on eyes, according to a study made for a firm that produces egg drops. Avoid intense darkness or bright light. The study shows that bad lighting causes squints and frowns that not only mar eye beauty but can cause permanent changes of facial features as well.

TO BE MARRIED THIS MONTH

Mr. and Mrs. I. R. Erb, 4505 Pipeline Road, Royal Oak, wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Sylvia Mae, to Mr. Douglas Wayne Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rose, Victoria, B.C. The wedding will take place at 8 p.m., April 20, in Belmont United Church. Rev. T. L. Lan- celey will officiate. Miss Erb has asked Miss Nonie Eckert to be senior attendant, and Miss Barbara Jones and Miss Deanna Silman the bridesmaids. The groom-elect will have his brother, Mr. Thomas Rose, as best man, and Mr. Patrick Carson and Mr. Donald Royston as ushers. (Photo by Paul Jones).

VON Reports Many Visits

At a board meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Miss E. Riddell reported that 4,137 visits were made during January and February. A total of 79 physiotherapy visits have been made since January. Miss Ruby Simpson presided.

Topics suggested for discussion at the provincial annual meeting in June were physiotherapy, old-age pensioners, and cost of operating cars in other branches, compared to those in the Victoria branch.

Reports were given by Miss R. Simpson, nurses' advisory committee; L. deS. Duke, motors committee; W. Maude-Moore, View Royal; Mrs. H. Smith, Junior VON. Mrs. G. Simons announced the annual VON rummage sale will take place in May at the Public Market.

DATE SET

Place and time of the meeting at which Mrs. H. E. Vautelet, CBE, national president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, will speak in Victoria, has been set as Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p.m., in the YWCA. The public may attend.

A Sixtieth Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Scholefield, 3821 Cadboro Bay Road, quietly celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary a few days ago with a family gathering in St. Luke's rectory. Congratulatory messages were received from Her Majesty the Queen and the Prime Minister of Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Scholefield were married in St. Mary's Church, Colaton, Paignton, Devon, England.

Smaller Brims Acceptable

The large-size hat is big news this spring. But milliners have not forgotten the woman who is reluctant to wear a very big hat. For her, there are charming small toques that are simply pillboxes grown large, higher in the crown, curved at the edges and fitted more securely on the brow.

Small tambourine silhouettes are also easy to wear. The shallow shell becomes a cushioned bonnet, its prow brim reaching forward to shade the brow.

Small sailors with larger-than-headsize crowns are another choice.

While most brimmed hats are posed level across the top of the head, the deep, downward curve of their brims makes them seem to be pushed forward. Smaller, pot-shaped toques are often tilted down almost to the eyebrows. Synthetic strawcloths appear in weaves that imitate fabrics such as satin, ribbed faille, alpaca and shantung.

Key Your Lingerie To Spring Fashions

Along with the newer fabrics, embossed cottons, plisses, nylons and cotton-synthetics get fresh, attractive treatments.

Plain or fancy, slips and petticoats are designed with an eye to their appropriateness under spring fashions. A complete lingerie wardrobe should include both slim and full-skirted silhouettes.

Slender slips make effective use of the empire effect, with tucked and ribbon-trimmed bodices. A pretty example of the flaring-skirted slip has diagonal lace insets.

For spring slumbers, popular entries are knicker pyjamas and straight shorts with long torso tops. The latter style is a variation on the "baby doll" combination of shortie top with bloomer briefs.

Often this coat is decorated with embroidery and other detail. Pale beige tones are most effective in setting off the woven fabrics.

The illusion of a broader shoulder line is sometimes created with capelet sleeves or deep capes directing the eye to the top, at other times with dropped shoulders or yoke seams. Wrap coats, tapering imperceptibly to the hemline, also give the effect of shoulder width.

AS WE LIVE

Show Family Members Need for Responsibility

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

People are not born disorderly, but become that way from lack of training in orderliness during their childhood years.

(Q) "My husband was an only child. All the years he lived at home, his mother used to pick up after him and find things he had misplaced. The result is he has never taken any responsibility for his possessions. Every morning, while I am getting breakfast, he will call me to find this or that he needs to finish dressing. When he comes home from the office, he just drops his coat, hat, papers, and anything he has been carrying and, if I don't pick them up and put them away, they will stay there until he is ready to use them again. We have two children, 6 and 8 years old. They don't see why they should put away their things when their father doesn't. I am having so much trouble with them that I am constantly after them to put their things away but end up doing it myself. Don't you think people should take some responsibility for their things?"—Mrs. R. T.

(A) I certainly do think people should be responsible for their possessions or pay the penalty of losing them. You have been too indulgent with your whole family and this has made too much work for you.

Explain this to your husband and emphasize how he is setting a bad example for the children. Surely he will see he is not being fair to you or the children by letting you carry the burden he and they should be carrying.

Then, when you have his promise to co-operate, call a family gathering and explain to the children that each member of the family will have to do his bit from now on. Each day, have a "pickup" time to take care of all the odds and ends that have not been put away as the day progressed.

If, after a reasonable time, you find things are no better, give the whole family the warning that things left lying around will be picked up by you and returned to their owners only after a fine has been paid. Your children and your husband will quickly discover that carelessness can be costly and this may give them the needed incentive to reform.

Write for Elizabeth B. Hurlock's new 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems," sending 25c in coin care of this newspaper.

Dainty Trimmings Spark Spring Gloves

Femininity is in the forefront of fabric glove fashions for spring. Dainty accents include ball fringe, flower appliques, fagoting, feather stitching and other embroidery.

Even tailored gloves have a touch of daintiness, with eyelid or open work detailing, hand-stitching and pearl buttons. Pearl and bead trims are liked for cocktail styles.

Colors are varied, and combination of two or more shades look especially new. These include harlequin, polka dot, striped and floral patterns.

Double-woven cottons, nylons, sheer, string and stretch gloves appear in a wide range of pastels, with special attention to yellow. Blues, greens, roses and other reds fit the spring style picture.

Whites, browns, blacks and neutrals come in for their share of attention.

FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

When Choosing Diamond Mix Sense and Sentiment

NEW YORK—Sense belongs to the bride. No one cut costs more than another but quality of workmanship affects both brilliance and price.

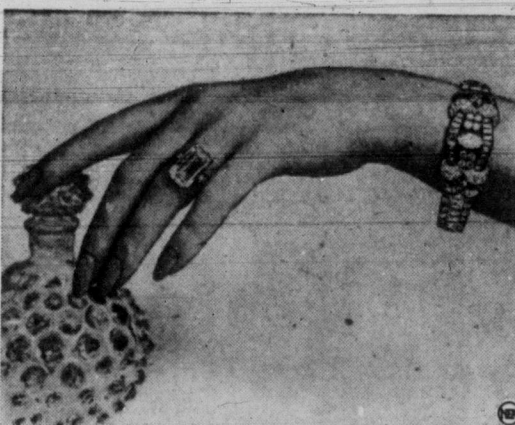

Color: Traditionally, the bridal diamond is clear and colorless. But it picks up and reflects color. More than two hundred shades of white have been found in diamonds. The whiter a diamond is, the more it costs.

Clarity: This refers to an absence of flaws such as carbon spots or fissures. The absolutely perfect diamond is priced accordingly. But a diamond may have flaws you can never see and still be beautiful.

Best Buy: The solitaire, or single-stone ring, is the best buy for your money.

Carat: This is the unit of weight for diamonds. Today the standard weight for a carat is 200 milligrams. Each carat is divided into 100 points. So if your jeweler says that a diamond is a 25-point stone, this means that it's a quarter of a carat.

Cut: This means the shape of the stone and arrangement of facets. Facets are the tiny planes that catch light and make the diamond sparkle. A popular cut is the round, called a brilliant. The marquise is boat-shaped. The emerald cut is oblong or square. Its facets are polished straight along the sides and diagonally across the cor-

The engagement ring which Prince Rainer gave to actress Grace Kelly is a 12-carat emerald cut oblong diamond much like the one shown above. With it, the model wears a 60-carat bracelet made up of marquise, round and baguette diamonds.

One of the most popular diamond cuts is the round or brilliant cut which we show here in 11-carat size. This is a jager blue diamond, distinguished by an exquisite light blue coloring. Round diamonds are the most brilliant of all cuts.

CAROLE SLATER WINS PRIZE IN DRESSMAKING CONTEST

More than 300 persons crowded the T. Eaton Company dress goods department, Tuesday afternoon, to watch final judging of a junior dressmaking contest, won by Miss Carole Slater. W. Bart Carson, merchandise manager, presented Miss Slater with the coveted first prize, a portable sewing machine. Runners-up who received prizes of $35, are Misses Frances Smigol, Gayle Johnson, Jean Comer and Louise Parry. Judges were Mrs. Nona Damaske, Victoria Daily Times fashion editor; Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin of the Victoria Press Ltd., and president of the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, and Mrs. D. Mr. and Mrs. Banks Married in St. John's

In St. John's Anglican Church recently, Canon George Biddle heard the wedding vows of Miss Sheila Lois Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wilkinson, Glen Lake, and Harold Irvin Banks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edwin Banks, 'Cumberland.

Spring flowers were arranged in the church for the ceremony.

Miss Wilkinson was given in marriage by her father, and chose a white lace over satin bridal gown with strapless bodice, bouffant skirt, lace jacket with lily point sleeves and beaded collar, and her head-dress, a seed pearl tiara, held a misting fingertip veil, which had also been worn by her sister. She wore a gold locket belonging to her grandmother, and carried a bridal bouquet of red roses and white freesia.

mauve net over pink taffeta. Her headpiece was of mauve flowers, and her colonial bouquet, of pink roses, blue freesia and split pink carnations.

Best man was Robert Edwards, and ushers, William Rose and Donald Grant.

A reception was held in Britannia Legion Hall, where the bride's table was decorated with pink carnations flanking the wedding cake. Mrs. D. C. Webster sang two solos, accompanied by Mrs. John Murray. Walter Benson proposed the toast to the bride.

For traveling, the bride donned a pale pink wool boucle suit flecked with white and grey. Her accessories were white and pink and her corsage was of deep pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Banks will make their home in Royston, V.I.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

District Notes—The regular winners on points, Owls and monthly meeting of the Akela Rattlesnakes scoring a tie for second.

First Baptist Pack—At a recent meeting Tommy McKay and Ray Painter were invested as Wolf Cubs. First year service star was presented to Ken Ward and Swimmers' badges to Ken Ward and David Bird.

Albion District—Mrs. R. France, a holder of the "Woods Badge," and Douglas George have joined the First Arrow-smith Group. This group has added another Wolf Cub Pack with 15 boys. Vic Stevens and Al McCann are the Scouters in charge. The group will take care of the overflow from the other packs.

Fifth Arrow-smith Pack—Douglas Walters, Clifford West, Ronnie Stewart and Brett McLean were presented with their "Second stars." Raymond Tonk his "First star" and Donnie Ewen received his "Collector's" badge.

The troop went for a weekend outing under their Patrol Leaders, each setting up separate camp, each boy cooking his own meals. The Seagulls were the

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy!

Andy who is a sixth grade person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prize for the main question, either a 16-volume set of The Children's Hour or a 20-volume set of The American People's Encyclopedia. Prizes for the secondary question will be an American People's Encyclopedia Year Book or a year's subscription to Treasure Trails plus Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy" Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of The American People's Encyclopedia to Charles Orgel, aged 13, of Brooklyn, N.Y., for his question:

What Does It Mean to Milk a Snake?

This is most definitely a job for experts. A milkable snake is poisonous. In fact, the milk extracted is the snake's supply of venom. Every smart person learns to recognize the poisonous snakes in his own area and favorite vacation areas. And no sensible amateur tangles with these fellows.

But you may be surprised to learn that many poisonous snakes are carefully kept for their supplies of venom. They may be milked of their poisons every two weeks. A snake may yield one drop to a teaspoonful of venom at a time. The champion yielders are the diamond-backed rattlers.

The trick is to get the snake to give up its venom for free. He would much rather use it to bite and kill his prey. He injects this venom with the two long fangs in his upper jaw.

An expert snake milker can fool a rattler into emptying his poisonous liquid harmlessly into a jar.

First, the snake is grasped and held so that he does not bite the milker. This means a good grasp on the head. It also means being ready for the wriggler as he turns his snaky body this way and that. The head is placed over a jar.

Very often the top of the jar is covered with a plastic or rubber top.

The milker must be gentle with the snake. If the head is badly bruised the snake may die and yield no more snake milk.

The head is held with the mouth wide open and the upper jaw over the jar. Gentle pressure may be used to push the deadly fangs through the thin cover of the jar. The venom usually falls out in drops, though it may rush out in a jet. A little extra pressure on the head between the fangs extracts the last few drops of yellowish liquid.

Strange to say, this snake venom will be used as medicine. It will become the antivenin used to treat snake bites. The liquid is dried and diluted. Very small doses are injected into a healthy horse. The doses are not large enough to kill the horse. Over a period of time the horse builds up defences against the injections. A special substance is formed in the horse's blood stream. This substance neutralizes snake venom and makes it harmless.

In time, the blood of that horse becomes very valuable. The substance it contains can be used to save others from snakebite.

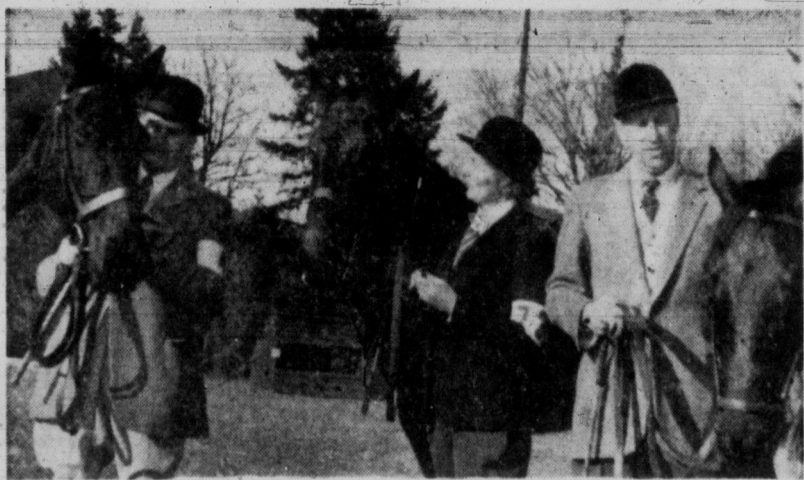

The horse gives up his blood for processing. The serum, which contains the antivenin, is extracted. The medicine is prepared in proper doses. Campers and travelers into lonely rattlesnake country often take along a kit of antivenin, just in case. This wonderful medicine will cure almost all snake bites if injected within a few hours after the attack.

The rattlesnake, it seems, has some use after all. He can be milked to produce medicine to cure the bites of other rattlesnakes.

Andy sends a year's subscription to Treasure Trails to Virginia Biemel, age 8, of Cleveland, Ohio, for her question:

Why does lb. stand for pound?

Crofton; C. C. Carpenter, Victoria. Horses are "Lady Mary," "Pyjama Game," and "Great Triumph." Good entry list was reported in trials. (Flett Studio photo.)

AROUND AND ABOUT

With Jo Healy

DOWN WITH UMBRELLAS, OFF WITH GALOSHES, up with the awnings and on with the screendoors. Spring's here!

Nope, I didn't see a fly. I saw that lovely optimistic sight—a group of little girls with their skipping ropes on this western coast, and simultaneously a column from Ottawa by Elmore Philpott, who shares with me the conviction that neither the calendar nor the weatherman are the trustworthy prophets of spring.

"The sure sign of spring," writes Mr. Philpott, "is when small girls get out their skipping ropes, jacks and rubber balls and begin to sing those 100 per cent made-in-Canada sidewalk songs."

I scurried around the neighborhood querying the small girls (who thought I was quite mad); I ransacked the memories of our own two in their above-skippping, sophisticated teens, and I tracked down verses that I'd never heard and a few that ruffled a spot in my own memory.

One from Mr. Philpott's list rang a far-away bell (tickles the ribs, too):

Help, Murder, Police!

Teacher fell in the grease.

I laughed so hard I fell in the lard.

Help, Murder, Police!

And the Teddy Bear lyric, I triumphantly produced a verse or two on my own. Remember . . .

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, turn around.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, touch the ground.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, show your shoe.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, you skiddoo!

and countless verses later:

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, climb the stairs.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, say your prayers.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, switch out the light.

Teddy Bear, Teddy Bear, say good-night.

The skipper must perform each order, without tripping, through the entire length of verses, retiring undefeated on the final "good-night."

ONE THAT AMUSED ME GREATLY, ONE I'D NEVER heard before, goes as follows:

Lulu had a baby, his name was Tiny Tim.

She put him in the bath tub to teach him how to swim.

First he drank the water, then he ate the soap.

Now Lulu's baby knows how to float.

Then the skippers call for reinforcements with . . .

In comes the doctor, in comes the nurse.

In comes the lady with the big fat purse . . .

using the same doggerel with the substitution of "out" for "in" to disperse the participants.

Mr. Philpott regards these rhymes as "about the only authentic folk poetry we can boast so far."

He concludes his column with a request to readers for other songs or similar chants to add to his collection—address to the House of Commons, Ottawa, where Mr. Philpott is one of our own Members of Parliament.

Any contributions? My own is an authentic bit of Canadiana, obviously of the pre-Elizabethan era:

I'm a little Girl Guide dressed in blue,

These are the actions I must do,

Salute to the King, bow to the Queen,

Never turn my back on the Union Jack.

Sidney Aviation Plant To Expand, Boost Staff

SIDNEY — Expansion of plant facilities and an increase in staff have been announced here by Denis W. Howell, resident manager of Fairley Aviation Ltd. at Patricia Bay Airport.

The company has taken over a second hangar at the airport beside present plant, and will make immediate use of it for administration and installation of equipment for maintenance of Fairley power units on CF-100 aircraft.

In addition to work for the armed services, the company does considerable civilian work. Present payroll is $200,000 annually.

Officials from the plant at Eastern Passage, N.S., including managing director C. E. Hibbard and secretary-treasurer Murray Cameron, will be here later this month to discuss expansion. Purchase of the hangar will increase floor space to 120,000 square feet.

The company has a staff of 35. "We will increase gradually," Mr. Howell said. "We don't anticipate hiring 100 persons right away, but our Nova Scotia plant started like this one and now employs more than 1,000."

The company started here about a year ago following establishment of a naval air squadron at Patricia Bay. It has a policy of keeping in step with naval air strength, and of meeting the navy's need for major overhaul and repair facilities.

In a report to the federation's annual convention here Monday, the executive announced Ladysmith has been declared "a district in dispute."

"The expectation is that no teacher would wish to apply for or accept a position in such a situation," the report said.

General secretary C. D. Ovens said later the classification will remain on the district until the school board "makes a move to resolve the dispute."

The report said a salary increase had been awarded by the school board by including the increase on teachers' cheques following the deadline for arbitration in their dispute.

This was protested on the grounds there was no ratified agreement.

"The issue is," the report said, "that the profession can not accept the proposition that any school board is entitled to its sole discretion to decide what salary increase, if any, is appropriate for the teaching staff in any year."

Arena at Nanaimo

Burgled Third Time

NANAIMO—An estimated 115 packages of cigarettes were stolen Monday from two vending machines stored in the office of Nanaimo Civic Arena.

The machines had been smashed. William Oliver, arena manager, said the break-in was the third in less than a year.

RCMP are checking on the possibility that three boys missing from a Brannan Lake School skating session at the arena Monday night spent the night in the building.

Teachers Talk Press Relations

Ladysmith Story (See Column Three)
Smacks of Sensationalism, Says Speaker

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Teachers Federation hopes to establish closer contact with the public and the press to stamp out "sensationalism and unfounded criticism" of their group and the school system.

At a meeting of the federation's public relations committee, members said "personal contact with members of the press" was the answer.

"Closer press relations will help us to present our policy to the public and interpret the school program. We will be able to plan with the people, rather than for them. It will make them feel a closer part of it," said committee chairman Kathleen Elliott, a Vancouver teacher.

"If we expect the press to help us, we can't always be fighting them," said Victoria teacher Ross Sims.

"The headlines in the papers of the 'Boycott of Ladysmith School' is something smacking of sensationalism. The public will gobble it up."

"Our job is a continual battle against sensationalism," he continued. "News has to be dramatic, but not sensational."

VICTORIA-CAMP BORDEN-TORONTO-MONTREAL-VICTORIA

Truck-Driver Wanders 7,000 Miles in Five Weeks

Canada's "traveling men" are not all dapper, sample-case-carrying salesmen.

A leather-jacketed Langford man, who may on occasion sleep by the side of the road, is due home late this week after driving a truck about 7,000 miles across the rugged face of Canada for nearly five weeks.

When he arrives back in Victoria late this week, Noel Ballerone of 27 Claude Road, Langford, will take a well-earned rest with his wife and family.

Mr. Ballerone arrived in Winnipeg today on the last lap of a marathon journey that has taken him from Victoria to Camp Borden, on to Toronto, back to Camp Borden, on to Montreal and then back across Canada heading for Vancouver.

Driving across Canada is not any novelty for him. That is his regular job as truck driver with McIlwaine Van Storage Ltd. and he takes it in his stride.

But on this particular trip Ballerone has covered more mileage than usual.

He left Victoria with a 12,000-pound load of household furniture destined for Camp Borden, Ont. On arrival there he had intended to ship around for a worthwhile load to justify the long haul back.

Instead he was commissioned to go south to Toronto, pick up three service families there and drive them with their belongings to Camp Borden.

When he arrived back at Camp Borden, Ballerone was told of a quantity of household goods waiting to be shipped from Montreal to Vancouver.

He promptly set off east for Montreal and crammed every spare inch in the truck before beginning the long-haul back to the Pacific.

After delivering his heavy load in Vancouver Ballerone will look around for anyone who wants to ship furniture to Victoria.

"We can always rely on him to pick up any business that's going," a spokesman for McIlwaine Van Storage Ltd. said.

BURNABY GUN BATTLE HERO IN GOOD CONDITION

of the eight bullets removed Tuesday. Eighth bullet will be removed later. A button on Johnstone's tunic was credited with saving his life in the fusillade of shots. The heavy button was found on the bank floor, smashed by the impact of a bullet. (See Page 2.)

DRAMATIC ARREST of fourth suspect in bank hold-up is seen. Manacled and under heavy guard suspect watches as Vancouver and Burnaby police search tangle of brush for sawed-off shotgun thrown away when bandit fled in stolen panel truck. The suspect, behind officer's arm, was captured without resistance. An unfired Thompson sub-machine gun was found near the spot. The shotgun was found in the bank. The sub-machine gun was loaded with a 40-round clip and set for firing. (Vancouver Sun photos.)

Mountie Hero of Bank Holdup Promoted, Praised for Bravery

Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer H. M. C. "Bud" Johnstone has been promoted from constable to the rank of corporal following his actions in a gun battle at Vancouver on Tuesday.

The promotion was confirmed today by Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac here.

The Assistant Commissioner said Commissioner L. H. Nicholson, MBE, at Ottawa had announced the promotion and also commended Corporal Johnstone for his bravery.

The promotion was dated back to April 1.

Assistant Commissioner Rivett-Carnac said "Constable Johnstone displayed the greatest devotion to duty and courage in apprehension of the bank bandits. His actions were in line with the highest traditions of the force."

Constable Johnstone was awaiting final word of a transfer to command the Qualicum Beach RCMP detachment when the bank holdup took place.

On the mainland Reeve James Christmas of Coquitlam and Tom Goode, Liberal MP for Burnaby-Richmond, praised Constable Johnstone for his "heroism." Reeve Christmas said he will try to have the officer officially decorated.

Meanwhile, Royal Columbia Hospital in New Westminster today reported Constable Johnstone in good condition. Seven of the eight bullets were removed from his body in an apprehension of the bank

The other will be removed when he recovers his strength.

PAIR REMANDED

Two men were remanded indefinitely Tuesday in police court at Maillardville on a robbery-with-violence charge.

RCMP said Gerry Gordon Owen, 21, and Harold Gilbert Folster, both of Langley, B.C., may face other charges.

A third man William Banks, Vancouver, was to be charged today with robbery with violence. He was treated for a bullet wound in the right arm, suffered during the gun battle.

Fourth bandit William Herbert Howerton of Vancouver was killed.

See also Page 3

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government issued a formal public warning today against the Hoxsey cancer treatment, which it termed worthless and "imminently dangerous" if its use leads to neglect of other care.

The food and drug administration said some of the medicine used by Harry M. Hoxsey in his cancer treatment contains potassium iodide, and "there is evidence that potassium iodide accelerates the growth of some cancers."

Hoxsey disputed the government contentions. At his clinic in Dallas, Tex., he said he has records of cases "proving that we have been successful . . . after radium, x-ray and surgery have failed." He said the government never has made a full investigation.

Hoxsey said his clinics now have 10,000 patients.

FIGHTING HIM SINCE 1948

The food and drug administration has been fighting Hoxsey since 1948. After years of litigation, a decision by a district court in Texas in October, 1953, prohibited Hoxsey and his clinic from shipping in interstate commerce what the government agency today termed "their worthless cancer medicines."

The agency said Hoxsey set up

Ike Wouldn't Order Troops Into Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he would never order U. S. troops into any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without prior approval by Congress.

Eisenhower reacted sharply at his press conference when a reporter asked whether he might order U. S. marines, recently sent to the Middle East, into war if he thought circumstances warranted it, and without getting the approval of Congress first.

A battalion of marines, about 1,500 men, was sent last month to join the 6th fleet in the Mediterranean.

With a show of exasperation, Eisenhower said he has said time and time again that he never would engage U. S. troops in any kind of action which could be interpreted as war without getting a go-ahead first from Congress.

Eisenhower also dealt with other matters:

Disputing published reports that the British prime minister had asked a "get tough" policy in the Middle East, Eisenhower said he has received no new communication from Prime Minister Eden.

Tornado Toll Reaches 41

CHICAGO (BUP)—A two-day barrage of killer tornadoes striking at 11 states left 41 persons dead, more than 500 injured, and hundreds homeless and destitute today.

The death count climbed as rescue crews searched the debris in twisted, shattered communities. Some areas looked like bomb-shattered battlefields. Damage was in the millions of dollars.

The tornado damage extended from Oklahoma to Michigan. It killed 34 persons Tuesday and last night, hitting eight southern and midwest states. Tornadoes Monday night killed seven persons in two southwestern states.

GRACE SURE SHE WILL BEAR SON

NEW YORK (AP)—Movie star Grace Kelly in a shipboard interview, said she is confident she will bear Prince Rainier a son.

The princess-to-be wants a large family, especially a boy, she told a press conference aboard the American liner Constitution.

Then she added:

"My son will be a Monaganese."

That would prevent the tiny principality of Monaco from reverting to France, as it would if Prince Rainier's family line were broken.

A boy or girl could succeed to the throne.

Government To Pay Third Of '55 Deficits

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

British Columbia's Social Credit government has scrapped its 1955 freeze order on hospital budgets, and offered to pay one-third of hospitals' operating deficits.

The two major hospital insurance policy changes were sent out to all hospitals in the province this week, the Times learned today.

The hospital administrators have been advised that:

1. BCHIS will pick up the tab for one-third of operating deficits incurred by hospitals on firm budgets during 1955.
2. The freeze order on hospital wage increase issued in May, 1955, has been scrapped.

COST BOOSTED

The two measures will add $1,500,000 to the cost of operating B.C.'s hospital insurance system during 1956.

Acceptance of the 1955 wage rates, will cost an estimated $1,250,000, while one-third of the operating deficits is estimated at $250,000.

In its policy changes, the government maintained brakes on hospital budgets, to prevent a financial runaway in hospital administration.

Circulars, dated March 28, advised the hospitals that under the new hospital policy, the government will "accept 1955 salary rates, plus 1956 annual increments as listed in the 1955 wage agreements, where a wage agreement exists for that year."

"Where a hospital did not sign a 1955 wage agreement, and is still paying on the basis of a 1954 agreement, a percentage increase in salaries will be allowed, equivalent to the increase granted by nearby hospitals that signed 1955 wage agreements."

In the case of a hospital which did not have a wage agreement for any or all groups of employees, the government will accept the wage rates shown in the hospital estimates for 1956 "where the proposed rates are not out of line with the 1955 salaries for hospitals in the same area."

40-HOUR WEEK

In a further concession to hard-pressed hospital boards, the government announced it will allow "reasonable" staff numbers, and salaries, to make possible a 40-hour week in any hospital now operating on a 44-hour week.

The individual hospital (only a few are involved) will decide whether the additional funds are to be used to adopt the shorter week, pay its present employees the added funds, or use the funds in other ways for patient care.

Pension plans, medical health or other forms of "fringe benefits" added as the result of 1955 wage agreements, will not be accepted as an operating expenditure when budgets are up for BCHIS consideration, however.

Another change increases the per diem rate of $4 for newborn patients to $5, from January 1, 1956. The government said that in view of rising costs of hospital care, the existing rate was considered "inadequate."

The circular said "in reviewing budgets, it must be kept in mind that a hospital's operating cost must compare reasonably with those of similar hospitals."

"In this connection, if it so

CITY HOSPITALS PLEASSED WITH DEFICIT OFFER

Victoria hospital officials today expressed satisfaction with the government's plan to have the BCHIS pay one-third of last year's hospital deficits.

"It will mean about $33,000 on our deficit of $100,000," said George Masters, Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator. "We are pleased to have it and it will help us a lot."

Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital said the books had not yet been completed for 1955, but indicated a deficit would exist.

"One-third will be a great help," she said. "But I don't know where we will find the other two-thirds."

Cassiar Road Contractors To Sue Laing

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing has been notified that Wade & Wells Ltd., contractors on the controversial Stewart-Cassiar road, intend suing him for slander.

Mr. Laing was informed of the pending action by Col. C. C. Merritt, VC, who has been retained by the interior construction firm.

The slander action will revolve on statements Mr. Laing is alleged to have made concerning the northern mining assistance road in a speech before a Vancouver public meeting March 18.

At the meeting, the Liberal leader disclosed contents of a letter he wrote to newly appointed Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, questioning legality of payments to Wade & Wells for work on the road.

Mr. Laing would make no comment today.

Col. Merritt said, "I have no statement to make. I have no instructions to say anything."

Col. Merritt is a partner in the law firm of Bull, Housser & Co. Alfred Bull of the same firm is representing former Mines Minister R. S. Somers in a slander action against Vancouver lawyer David A. Sturdy.

Wade & Wells worked on the Stewart-Cassiar road during the 1954 and 1955 construction seasons. It was the subject of an investigation by a legislative committee at the recent session.

Coffee Price Cut?

A reduction in coffee prices is expected to take effect in Victoria soon but retail prices are unchanged here today.

In Montreal major retail food stores announced a general reduction ranging from two to four cents a pound.

The cuts followed a downward trend in coffee prices in New York last week. Prices of 99 and 87 cents a pound now prevail, depending on grade.

'I'M A LITTLE NUMB,' SAYS STAR BEFORE SAILING FROM NEW YORK

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Movie star Grace Kelly left today to marry her prince, live in a palace and become Her Serene Highness Princess Gracia Patricia of Monaco, the most titled woman in Europe.

She sailed amid a clamor that almost resembled a mob scene.

"I'm a little numb, very excited . . . very happy," the star said.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia girl who topped her sudden rise to movie stardom by capturing bachelor Prince Rainier III, 32, in a brief Christmas holiday courtship, sailed at noon today aboard the S.S. Constitution. She will be married in a civil ceremony on April 18 and in a church ceremony on April 19.

More than 60 of the wedding guests as well as Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr., the bride-to-be's parents; four bridesmaids and the specially-packed wedding dress also are travelling on the ship with Miss Kelly.

IN HARBOR

The reunion with Prince Rainier, who last saw his future princess in Hollywood a month ago, will be a dramatic shipboard meeting in the harbor of Monaco April 12. The Constitution will anchor in the harbor after the regular passengers debark at Cannes, France, so the prince can pull alongside in the honeymoon yacht to take Miss Kelly and her family aboard.

The prince is one of the most titled of Europe's monarchs, and Miss Kelly inherits all of the titles. He has two titles of prince, eight of count, four of duke and five of baron.

Miss Kelly will live alone aboard the ship in one of the four luxurious veranda suites. Her blue-carpeted stateroom adjoins a glassed-in veranda on the sundeck of the 900-passenger ship. Red-upholstered couch beds take up the major portion of two walls of the stateroom, and a small dressing room and bathroom opens from a third wall.

BIG PRESS PARTY

Others in her party are scattered in staterooms on three decks of the ship, some in cabin class. Twenty-five men and women from press, radio and television occupy cabin class staterooms, in most cases four assigned to one room. Three photographers and a publicity man are assigned beds in the ship's hospital. Everything else was filled.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O GOD OF GRACE we speak to Thee today on behalf of those who have lost the joy they once had. Lift them out of the difficulties and indifference into which they have fallen. Give them a place and a part in Thy love; in Jesus' name. Amen.

day national holiday in Monaco, will be preceded by several days of colorful celebrations and countless parties. Theatres will be open around the clock. There will be a public ball on the night of April 17 and a garden party for all 4,000 citizens of Monaco at the palace on April 18. Later in the day the prince will hold a gala at the Monte Carlo opera, including two ballets.

The tiny, 370-acre principality is expected to be jammed with people and automobiles. Rooms have been at a premium for months. Only Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, the bride-to-be and the papal delegate will be at the palace. Most of the other wedding party members will stay at the Hotel De Paris in Monte Carlo.

The future princess has taken along her secretary, Nadia Woods, and her personal hair dresser, Virginia D'Arcy, but they do not plan to work for her after the wedding.

Veteran of Dunkirk At Macaulay Point

English expatriate A. I. (Les) Isaacson came to Victoria originally as an airman in 1943 to serve as a navigation officer at Patricia Bay, found the city to his liking and came back to teach in 1951.

Presently he is principal at the brand-new Macaulay School in Esquimalt which provides seven classrooms for grades 1-4. Mr. Isaacson's home was Cambridge, Eng. where he taught school for five years after his discharge from the Royal Air Force. He began his higher education in England just before the Second World War, which caused him to leave his studies and join the army in 1939.

His enlistment was early enough in the conflict to allow him to serve on the continent and he was one of those who managed to escape at Dunkirk. In 1940 he transferred to the RAF and served in coastal command before being sent to Pat Bay.

He married a Canadian girl here in 1944 before his return to England. Back in Canada in 1951, Mr. Isaacson taught at Oak Bay High School, Monterey Elementary and Quadra School, where he was vice-principal in 1954-55. By means of summer and winter sessions at University of British Columbia, the teacher is now completing study for his bachelor of arts degree interrupted 17 years ago.

When younger he participated in all sports, and still plays badminton for relaxation. He referees local minor soccer and until last year was a referee for Coast Soccer League games.

He lives at 3104 Quadra, where gardening occupies much of his leisure time.

Mountie Relates His Big Moment

VANCOUVER (CP) —

"Every time I got shot I said to myself: 'this is it,'" Constable H. M. C. "Bud" Johnstone said last night after surviving a hail of bullets from the guns of four bank bandits while killing one of them and wounding another.

Interviewed in hospital where doctors removed seven bullets from his body, Const. Johnstone described his encounter and the 20-second gun battle.

"I ran into the bank and said to the manager: 'Any thing happening?'"

"He nodded his head and I soon found out why he didn't speak as the man who had him covered behind the counter took a shot at me.

POINT BLANK "Then another jumped out from the manager's office and fired at me point blank."

"He was no more than three feet away."

"A third came at me down the long hall inside the bank and he emptied his gun at me. Funny thing, that one surrendered to me and by then my gun was empty."

Const. Johnstone said two men ran out of the bank and he followed.

"The first one I shot at dropped dead and I dropped, too. I was getting weaker and weaker."

"There were about 20 shots fired five of them from my gun."

He said the bandits had "small calibre guns."

"I was shot eight times. The whole thing happened in a matter of 20 seconds."

Chilliwack By-Pass Blueprints Drawn Up

CHILLIWACK (CP) — Blueprints have been drawn up for the proposed Trans-Canada Highway by-pass around Chilliwack except for the area near Cottonwood Corners, Kenneth Kiernan, agriculture minister, said here Tuesday.

In his address to the Chilliwack Board of Trade, Mr. Kiernan said no land has been purchased yet but that the provincial government anticipated an early start on the by-pass.

Small Change for Bank Bandits Where Mounties Rule, Club Told

Bank bandits have plenty of the Royal North West "with a spirit of adventure and encouragement to stay out of RCMP territory, the force's chief officer in B.C. Tuesday told the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac said he hoped the result of the Burnaby bank holdup attempt Tuesday and the fast action of the RCMP would further discourage the bandits.

Giving a resume of bank holdups in RCMP territory in the province within the last five years, the officer cited the incident at Williams Lake when the hoodlum was captured after a chase through the snow and gunfire, another in Burnaby when the bandits got away but were arrested an hour later, again after a gunfight.

In the raid on the mainland bank Tuesday, RCMP were on the scene almost instantly, killing one bandit, wounding another and arresting two more members of the gang.

RCMP training teaches a member of the force "never to give up," the assistant commissioner said.

Members learned, he said, how men's minds reacted, perspective, and such abstract aptitudes as staying calm if conditions "appeared pretty bad indeed."

He said "what we try to do is to provide law enforcement which will protect the community, but always law enforcement which will provide courtesy and service to the public."

Present day members of the force follow traditions established by the original members

Gunderson Appointed PGE Vice-President

Former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson has been appointed executive vice-president of the PGE.

Premier Bennett announced the appointment, which took effect March 14, on his return from vacation on Tuesday.

Mr. Gunderson has been a director of the PGE for several years. In his new post, he will step down to the actual administration of the PGE, directly over PGE general manager Harry Bowman.

"He can now help operate the railway day by day," said Premier Bennett, who described the job as a "fairly full-time" position. Mr. Gunderson's salary will be set by the board of directors.

Mr. Gunderson has been employed as advisor on federal-provincial taxation matters—a job which the premier said was "quite well in hand."

Mr. Gunderson has held various positions with the B.C. government since his defeat at the polls in the 1953 general election, and in the December, 1953, by-election in Victoria, in which he was beaten by Liberal George Gregory.

Health Minister Eric Martin was not available for comment on the policy changes, which were not openly announced by the government.

his clinic at Dallas in 1936 and that its growth has been steady. Officials said the agency never has taken a precisely similar action to warn the public against any medicine or treatment. The public warning is to be published in the federal register as an official document.

In a separate statement, the agency said it is developing a contempt-of-court proceeding alleging that Hoxsey and members of his staff have violated the 1953 injunction against interstate transportation of their products.

WILL TAKE TIME

But it said this is almost certain to be a lengthy court case, and the action "may not result in a cessation of his Hoxsey's activities for some time to come."

This statement declared also that the agency "has received reports of deaths which occurred after surgery was forsaken in favor of the Hoxsey treatment while the cancer was still operable and where surgery promised excellent prospects of cure."

The government agency said the Hoxsey treatment costs $400, plus $60 in additional fees, and added that these "expenditures... will yield nothing of any value in the care of cancer."

It declared the treatment employs drugs in such a way as to involve "imminent danger to health or gross deception of the consumer."

"Its sale represents a gross deception to the consumer. It is immediately dangerous to rely upon it in neglect of competent and rational treatment."

ASKS COMPLETE INQUIRY

Hoxsey said in his reply: "My statement is that for 35 years I have been pleading and begging the American Medical Association, the pure food and drug administration, the surgeon-general and others to make a complete investigation of our records that show we now have 10,000 patients under treatment and observation from as far away as New Zealand."

"We have pathological records of some of the largest hospitals in the world, proving that we have been successful on these cases after radium, x-ray and surgery have failed."

"If they will come here and make an investigation and if I fail to prove by my records that we have cured the most deadly type, malignant melanoma or black cancer, I will lock the doors of this clinic forever."

Mass Swim Fund Aid Refused By Government

Provincial government contribution to a Juan de Fuca strait swim jackpot was ruled out Tuesday by Premier Bennett.

Meanwhile, a match race across the strait between Cliff Lumsdon and Bert Thomas has been ruled out definitely by Junior Chamber of Commerce in favor of a mass swim for a giant prize late this summer.

"We're planning on a mass swim unless something comes up to change our minds," said Stickney Harris, junior chamber president.

"A certain amount of interest has been shown," Mr. Harris said. Details of a campaign to raise from $10,000 to $15,000 as a purse for the winner will be heard tonight at a meeting of the junior chamber's executive and swim committee.

Science Reports Special Tablet Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For Most Women Tested!

Boston, Mass. (Special) — New promise of relief for women who suffer distress of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in a remarkable tablet... developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers great relief during that distressing period each month!

Clinical tests report remarkable results. For most women tested, pain and cramps were strikingly relieved! Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no bothersome backaches or other functionally-caused distress... were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The remarkable tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why it offers such striking relief. It acts on the cause of the distress... has excellent power to calm uterine contractions, and it also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets", the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take Pinkham's Tablets are available at all drug stores.

So why suffer needlessly? Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better this very month! See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—both before and during those "difficult days." (For liquid form...ask for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

You Just Can't Win

LONDON.—I shouldn't let a ten-year-old kid infuriate me so. It represents a loss of dignity. Here I am, presumably a grown man, letting this boy make me so mad that I see red.

He is a neighbor's boy, son of an American who is over here on guided missiles. I'd like to steer a couple of them in the kid's direction.

He knows it all, this boy. That is perhaps excusable in a child. It is a phase I think we all go through. But tied in with the fact that he can put me straight on any given thing is this added irritant that everything about the United States is perfect.

They are the best at everything, they are first in the field with any new achievement and no other country has any redeeming feature whatsoever. England, of course, stinks.

This boy, Richard by name, came for a walk with young Mac and me yesterday. Crossing Oxford street he started skylarking and I reminded him that he was in the largest city in the world and you don't start playing Davy Crockett in the middle of one of its busiest thoroughfares.

"I'm not surprised it's dangerous," says he. "Back in the States we know how to drive. These English drivers are the loudest in the world."

That started it. After he had picked holes in everything on our walk, from the crummy buildings to the narrow streets that weren't laid out in blocks like back in the States, I found myself involved in a hectic argument. The more he told me how wonderful America was, the more I came back at him in defence of England, until eventually I felt like a kid having a slanging match on the level of "my father can lick your father any way."

He was such a smarty-pants about how the great U.S.A. led the world that at length I decided to let him have it. I gave him a rundown on British achievements. I started with Watt's steam engine, then progressed through Friese-Green's first ever movie camera, Baird pioneering television, the invention of radar and the discovery of penicillin, winding up with my clincher—the fact that America's much boasted atomic developments were merely the outcome of the work of a Britisher, Lord Rutherford, first man to split the atom.

It was quite an oration on my part. Baffled by science, he looked up at me and said: "Aw, skip it."

Only the unwritten rule that one never strikes another parent's child saved him from the hottest clip across the ear he'd ever had in his young life.

But on reflection I felt that perhaps he himself is not entirely to blame. Much of the fault lies in the fact that Americans stationed here have set up their own schools for their children—American schools in every sense except location. He has American propaganda pumped into him every day. He will return to the States with practically none of the broadening influence of having lived in England, because he has been kept apart from the English way of life.

When we got back from our walk I decided to take Mac to the pirate adventure movie, Raiders Of The Seven Seas. Richard was unable to join us. It was just as well. I'm sure as we entered the theatre he would have informed me that the Americans had invented pirates.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Chimpanzees and Children

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

I was just reading in Science News Letter that Dr. H. W. Nissen, of the great Yerkes laboratories for the study of mentality of apes, reported recently that chimpanzees, all living under the same good environment, are all different, with strong individual characteristics. They are like the several children in a human family: Some are bright and some are dull; some are friendly and affectionate; some are not; some are emotionally stable, and others are neurotic and excitable; some suck their thumbs and some do not.

I got to wondering if perhaps some baby chimps suffered early traumas or were a bit rejected by their mother or were given an Oedipus complex! A while ago I was disturbed at the explanation given by an analyst for the well-known fact that commonly in a family of five children, four will be easy to handle and easy to teach, while one is a problem. The four will be good, happy and loving children at home and at school. The teachers will have no trouble with them, and they will grow up easily into fine, useful and well-liked citizens. But the other child, from birth, will be a problem. He will be rebellious and will refuse to conform to discipline either in the home or in school. He will be wilful and destructive and even cruel. At school, he may get into all sorts of mischief. In spite of everything the parents can do, he may later get into running with a tough gang, and may end up as a criminal.

Thousands of families have puzzled over this sort of thing. Why should four children be so good and one so bad? Usually the grandmother seems to have a good answer. She says that the difficult child just inherited the curse that made one of her brothers or her sons a good-for-nothing, a wastrel, a hobo, or an alcoholic.

EXPLANATION SCOFFED

The writer of the article I saw hooted at such an explanation: He evidently believed that all human beings are born alike, with the same amount of ability and sanity and self-control and purpose in life. Here was his astounding explanation: He said that when one of a couple's four or five children is born, they decide that he is going to be the bad one, and thereafter they do all sorts of evil things to him; they hurt him and reject him, or the mother loves him too much, or the father becomes sexually jealous of him. In answer to all those sensible people who say that, obviously, the difficult child had the same good environment that the other children had, the analyst took refuge, as some others do, in the crazy idea that the parents made a special environment for him within the family circle; and thereby ruined his mind and made a bad boy out of him!

According to the writer of the article, the laws of heredity apply only to animals: They do not apply to man. Or, perhaps, they apply to a man's stature, build, color of hair and eyes, appearance of the face and great gifts of musical or scientific or other ability, but not to gifts of intelligence and good sense and sanity. Well, fortunately, all sensible and observant men and women in this world know that curses are inherited in many families just as great gifts of intelligence are inherited in other families. Years ago the great Galton showed that in the preceding 100 years most of the genius in Great Britain had shown up in only a few families. Similarly, someone showed that a considerable percentage of the insane in mental hospitals in England belong to a few unhappy families.

Why did I write this? Because I so hate to see the unhappy and perhaps able and kind and highly respected parents of a delinquent or psychotic boy or girl told by people with queer theories that from birth they—the parents—planned that the child should be abnormal, and so behaved as to bring this about. To me such a theory sounds utterly stupid; it is just a device to get around the hated idea that there is such a thing as the inheritance of bad traits as well as good ones. So far as I know, there is no proof for this new sort of theorizing. It is horribly cruel to lay all the blame on the unfortunate and unhappy parents of abnormal children.

REPAIR OF TORN NERVES

Recently, Dr. Donald M. Glover, of Cleveland, Ohio, reported to the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery the case of a child of three whose arm was terribly mangled and torn in a wringer. The arm was quickly rebuilt, but because the nerves that run down from the neck were torn in two the child could neither move a muscle nor feel anything with his hand. Then a surgeon operated and sewed the ends of the torn nerves together. Now, 15 months later, the child is able to move his hands and to feel things.

CITY CLEAN-UP PLAN PROPOSED BY MOONEY

Clean-up weeks in Victoria when residents could have all junk carted away free was proposed Tuesday by Ald. M. H. Mooney at a city council public works committee meeting. One was that a place should be established where residents could dump garbage and junk on Sundays and holidays, and the other that certain periods could be established when all garbage and junk left out would be taken away.

Resources 'Farmed' To U.S., — Pearkes

The federal government is "farming out" Canada's resources to the United States. Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Esquimalt-Saanich M.P., told a meeting of the Victoria Federal Progressive Conservative Association Tuesday.

He cited as an example the Trans-Canada pipe line. He said Ottawa is prepared to give U.S. financial interests a major interest in the project.

Maj.-Gen. Pearkes warned that "financial colonization" would take place if Canada did not develop its resources for its own use and benefit.

"What Canada needs is a policy for developing its resources in Canada instead of shipping raw materials to the United States," he said. "This would provide more employment and would develop our industries." He charged the federal government's "inflationary methods" are in part responsible for problems of old age pensioners. "During the last three months in Ottawa I have had more letters than ever before from old age pensioners, war veterans, retired civil servants and others," he said. "These letters all point out that pensions are inadequate to meet requirements of today."

He said there was a challenge

RCMP said Paterson had been in sole charge of the letters when they disappeared and that a trap had been laid by means of a registered letter containing marked bills.

F SHARP GOES —PIANIST TOO; AUDIENCE FLAT

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)

—Pianist Benno Moisewitsch tonight marched off the town hall stage here after an F sharp note failed while he was playing.

Midway through Schumann's symphonic study No. 13, Moisewitsch stopped playing.

While the audience of 2,000 listened in silence, the pianist thumped the mute key hard five times. Then he walked off.

HONOR SCOUTS OF B.C. HERE ON THURSDAY

Top provincial Scout officials will be present Thursday for awarding of Queen's Scout certificates to 241 Scouts from throughout the province by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

It will be the first ceremony of its kind ever held at Government House, and the first time the scouting elite of B.C. has gathered in one place.

Present for the ceremony, which will see 13 Victoria and 20 up-Island boys receiving certificates, will be provincial president Les Way, R. Ken Jordan, provincial executive commissioner, and George Barr, Victoria district commissioner.

The navy frigate Sussexvale was scheduled to arrive here at 4 p.m. today with 75 mainland scouts aboard. The remainder, from as far away as Dawson Creek, were to arrive by ferry in the afternoon. Another group of scouts will make the return trip aboard the frigate Friday.

Thursday morning the boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17, will swim in the Crystal Garden pool and visit the legislative buildings. The lieutenant-governor will be their host for lunch before presentation of certificates at 2:30 p.m.

Scheduled to pronounce the grace at the meal is Garry Yee, 16, of Victoria's Chinese troop. In the evening, the government, represented by five cabinet ministers, will honor the boys at a dinner in the Empress Hotel.

Scouts will be billeted in Victoria homes and in outlying

Tuberous Begonia Needs Early Start

The tuberous rooted begonia gives a long season of bloom in this area, but to do so it must have an early start.

If tubers were kept from last season, and started into growth indoors as advised in February, roots will have formed by this time.

Potting—into 4-inch pots may be done at once, using a rich fibrous soil to hold moisture and plenty of crock in the bottom of the pot so that the soil does not become saturated.

Keep the plants in a 55-70 deg. F. temperature, in strong light but not direct noonday sun on a cloudless day.

If one shoot should become too tall break it from the tuber with a quick snap. Other stronger shoots will develop.

Some gardeners may be purchasing tubers now, and these must be started into growth without delay.

Press the base of the tubers firmly into a 2-inch depth of peat moss or terralite (horticultural vermiculite) in a tray or box. Dampen the rooting medium, and keep the box in a temperature 65-75 deg. F. until a mass of fine roots have formed and top growth is apparent.

As the top growth buds develop, a fine spray dampening will provide the necessary humidity. Weak shoots should be removed, and when the roots have formed, pot each tuber carefully as suggested.

Whatever pea moss or terralite adheres to the roots should remain undisturbed, and will be incorporated into the potting soil.

The plants should not be put into the garden until all danger of cold nights is past, often as late as early June.

Summer holidays previewed...

Spring-warmed earth tested...

SUMMER SIGNS SEEN AT LONG BEACH, IN LONG TRIP, LONG TOW

Spring is busting out all over, with indications summer won't be far behind. Pre-season camping trip (left) at Long Beach, on West Coast of Vancouver Island, was enjoyed to full over weekend by six Victoria members of the Sourdough Lodge Boys' Club, who returned Monday after three fun-packed days on the glistening sands, where rollers from the wide Pacific pound in.

Led by Ron Berod and Dick Falks, the group is determined to spend all future holidays at "The Beach." On the expedition were Bill Emery, Jack Watchman, Tony Knowles, Blair Kilby, Ian Falks, and Doug Alcock, all 15 and 16-year olds.

The good earth of B.C., slowly warming after a winter's hibernation, was tested thoughtfully (centre) this morning by two of 17 "New-Canadians-to-be" from Portugal. They arrived here Tuesday night, and will be assigned immediately to farms in the Southern Vancouver Island area, in time for spring planting and summer and fall harvesting.

A total of 100 immigrants were in the party, organized by the Canadian Immigration Department and the Canadian National Railways. Balance of the men, all in their early twenties, will be placed on farms in the lower mainland area. None can speak English, but bright smiles and sparkling eyes spoke eloquently of their delight in this "new country."

Also presaging summer activity on the B.C. coast was the arrival today in Vancouver of the ferry Scotian, soon to go into service on Howe Sound for Black Ball Line. Scotian was photographed (right) Tuesday as she approached Cape Flattery in tow to Straits Towing Company's Superior Straits.

Scotian was formerly operated by the Nova Scotia government, was towed to Balboa, Canal Zone, by an east coast tug, thence brought to her new home by Superior Straits, which averaged 8.7 knots for the 4,032-mile tow. Photo was taken from a Pacific Western Airlines plane.

Driver Survives Sinking of Truck

By GEORGE MOLECEY
Times Nanaimo Correspondent

Cool heads, quick thinking, and plenty of luck combined at Nanaimo Tuesday afternoon to save the life of a truck driver who drove his loaded truck off the Gabriola Island ferry into 40 feet of water.

He did not even lose his eyeglasses in the plunge.

J. N. Walford, 52, of Gabriola Island, had driven his fully-loaded three-ton truck aboard the ferry "Eena" at Nanaimo and blocks were put behind the wheels.

About 500 feet from the dock, however, passengers saw the truck roll backwards from the ferry, and shouted a warning.

Immediately Capt. Otto Alcorn reversed the ferry's engines, grabbed a line, and threw it to Walford as he appeared 15 feet away—with his eyeglasses still in position.

Walford had been trapped in the cab of the truck, and could not turn the window down until it had settled on all four wheels on the bottom.

"I thought I'd never come up," he said as he was hoisted back on the ferry.

Bales of hay and other freight from the truck floated to the surface after the accident.

"It seemed about five minutes before Walford came to the surface," said Earl Easthom, Gabriola logger and ferry passenger. "He certainly kept his head."

It is believed the truck engine had been running and the transmission was in reverse when the accident occurred.

Easthom reported that after the accident Walford said he had pumped the brake pedal half a dozen times when he felt the truck moving backward over the blocks, but to no avail.

City Group Buys Lodge At Genoa Bay

A Victoria syndicate headed by Harry Gladwell has purchased Genoa Bay Lodge, popular holiday and fishing resort on Genoa Bay, between Cowichan Bay and Separation Point.

Included in the purchase are a main dining hall and recreation centre, two lodge buildings with accommodation for up to 40 persons, a small golf course, tennis courts, swimming pool and a number of lots that will be sold outright.

"The bay provides the finest yacht anchorage anywhere on this coast," Mr. Gladwell said. "We want to develop it as a haven for yachtsmen."

The site was first occupied by a lumber firm, but after the Second World War buildings remaining were converted for resort use.

A program of painting and redecoration now is under way under direction of Jim and Gina Golby, previous owners who will continue as managers of the lodge.

The lodge is 10 miles from Duncan by road, and five miles from Maple Bay. Its small boat floats and anchorage are protected from all winds.

Cherry Bank Zoning Issue Again Argued

The on-again-off-again rezoning question for the Cherry Bank Hotel was on again today at City Hall.

When a special committee investigating the matter adjourned until Monday next, after hearing counsel for neighborhood residents W. H. M. Haldane, QC, and owner F. R. Donnelly, counsel Hugh Henderson, zoning status of the hotel was more up in the air than down to earth on property between McIure and Burdett.

Nub of the confusion, termed "a peculiar position" by Mr. Haldane, is that city council passed an amendment to a zoning by-law classifying the hotel as a "special district" to allow a public dining room.

But this was done without study of affidavits opposing the reclassification, from Mr. Haldane's clients, either by the zoning committee or council itself.

Mr. Haldane called this "a somewhat amazing procedure." Alderman W. F. Pinfold, chairman, said "we reached the point where we seemed to have an overwhelming number of petitions which favored rezoning. Very confusing. We spent months trying to get to the bottom of these petitions."

Mr. Haldane said council "pushed through what I call a snap judgment without considering very important material."

Said Mr. Pinfold: "We have passed it. Whether we did it in fairness or not I don't know."

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

Short, and more or less to the point.

Oh, see the happy schoolboy.

The happy schoolboy is on Easter holiday.

Is the happy schoolboy bored?

Oh, no, the happy schoolboy is not bored.

It is just that he has nothing to do and all day to do it in.

A person has to reach at least middle age before he has had enough practice not doing anything to really enjoy not doing it. And by then he's always so busy doing something he hasn't time to do nothing.

One thing you must give the B.C. government credit for, the B.C. government has done a great deal to ease the unemployment problem.

Especially in the field of chartered accountancy.

See where the government doesn't support Lydia's cancer cure theories. If it did, it would set up a company to operate same. And you know dang well who'd be executive vice-president.

Can't say I blame Dr. Giovando for declining Lydia's invitation to debate.

In an argument on medical matters, the doctor would be at a distinct disadvantage. He knows something about the subject.

Things don't seem right around here this spring. No campaign to save baseball.

Discussion has been going on in this office about lawn-mowing.

It started when one of the staff came in and asked if it is still to mow the lawn.

General consensus was, if you can still wonder if it's too early to mow the lawn, it's too early to mow the lawn.

Times are changing over on the mainland.

MIKE DAVIS
... I couldn't eat

'I WAS SCARED' Blazing Guns Watched by Victoria Lad

By AB KENT

Saanich schoolboy Michael Davis, who spent part of his Easter holiday in the middle of a police-bank robber gunfight, expects to be very popular at Tillikum School when classes reopen Monday.

Speaking by telephone this morning from Coquitlam, where bandits and RCMP shot it out following a raid on the Royal Bank of Canada just before noon Tuesday, 11-year-old Mike described the fight. He saw it from 100 yards away as he and a friend with whom he is spending the holiday went to get a haircut.

"I was scared," he said. "I didn't eat my lunch. My stomach was upset."

No wonder. He had just seen a man shot dead by police bullets, and was in the line of fire himself as one bandit roared away in a waiting truck.

Mike and his friend Wayne Patience, 11, went to the shopping centre Tuesday morning as the bank robbers were scooping money out of the bank vault.

"We were looking for the barbershop when it started. We were about 100 yards away. There was a policeman sitting on the sidewalk against the bank."

FELL DOWN DEAD

"Two men came out and one fell down dead. The policeman was shooting at him. He had a metal box of money and a paper bag. The other man fell wounded under a truck."

"I was standing there and Wayne pushed me down behind a pile of dirt (at a construction job near the bank)."

"Where were the other robbers?"

"There was one captured inside and there was one in the panel truck."

"I don't think so. He was waiting in the getaway truck. When he heard the shooting he drove away as fast as he could."

"The truck was just in front of the bank and the back door was open, too."

"What about the policeman?"

"The policeman was in the car when the alarm rang and he jumped out and went into the bank and came back out before he fell down."

"He was shot once while he was in the bank, I believe. He fell down when he came out."

"He shot the man who was dead and wounded the other one. The one under the truck was shooting back at the policeman for a couple of seconds."

"By that time there were about four police cars down there, and that's about all we saw because the police took over. Some chased the truck. It went right past us."

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Davis of 2855 Inez Drive. He is a Wolf Cub of Tillikum Pack, and was an outstanding boy at summer camp last year.

Saanich Told Why School Sites Poor

School Board 61 informed Saanich Council Tuesday some school sites in Saanich are poorly located because the School Act does not permit the purchase of property for future building purposes.

Reeve Arthur Ash raised the question of school sites at a joint meeting of Saanich council and school board called to discuss this year's school estimates of $513,418. Council claims the estimates are too high.

"Some of the schools are located on low-lying areas and are subject to flooding every year," said the reeve. "Ratepayers are complaining and are asking us why such sites are chosen for schools."

John Gough, senior municipal inspector of schools, said the board has little choice in the matter of selecting property. "We take what is left after real estate has had its pickings," he stated.

POWERS LIMITED

"The board cannot buy land for future use," he added. "The Act does not permit the board to obtain financial assistance to purchase school sites unless school construction takes place within a year or so."

Council's main purpose in meeting the board was to obtain a breakdown of the school budget which was not given in the board's financial report. It plans to arbitrate the estimates if it is unable to obtain a detailed report on school costs.

Coun. Ronald Grant said the board's financial statement was like a "blank cheque."

"It tells us nothing," he said. "Something is wrong with the system if we can't get more information on school costs than this."

Board chairman Humphrey Golby said the board was prepared to provide council with detailed estimates of school costs.

North-South: Helen Healing and Bill Simpson-Baile; Michael Bruce and Jack Patterson; Elizabeth Warren and Leslie Stewart; Jim Duprau and Eric Goodwin.

East-West: Ethel Cleworth and Tony Marsh; Gladys Rutherford and Roland Perrin. Tied were Eric and Ida Druce, Lili Tattersall and George Morgan.

The illness of a Supreme Court judge in Nanaimo resulted Tuesday in the adjournment until Thursday morning of the trial of Harry Hansen, 21, of Esquimalt, charged with break-in and theft of a vacuum cleaner at Amberline Products Ltd.

Trial Justice A. D. Macfarlane adjourned the trial due to a request for him to take over the court duties in Nanaimo, leaving Victoria without a Supreme Court justice for today. The trial will continue at 10:30 Thursday morning.

Last winter, a report on the Sol Sante club said its public relations officer was J. Ross, its president Walter Hannan, described as a pioneer of the nudist cult in this city, and promised that the club would hold "open house" this summer.

Confirmation of these facts was obtained today and it was understood that newspapermen, radio broadcasters and clergymen—not necessarily in that order—would be welcomed.

Further information gleaned by The Times indicated the organization now in possession of the Cobble Hill property—which was formerly owned by George Whittaker of Maple Bay—is the Sol Sante Club, successor to the Pak Sun Club which once had a camp at Spectacle Lake, of all places, but disbanded.

CKTV WOULD DELAY OPENING TO AVERT JAM

Victoria's TV station opening will be delayed a month or more if necessary to ensure its channel does not interfere with Seattle's channel 5, James Proudfoot, lawyer for CKDA, said today.

Mr. Proudfoot said the station operators had it on good authority there would be no interference with the popular Seattle channel.

Technicians are now engaged in correspondence with TV operators in other districts where similar situations exist, to discover how the difficulty is overcome.

Opening date for the local TV station is tentatively set for Sept. 1.

Local TV experts have expressed opinions to the effect that most Victorians would have to replace their aerials to get channel 5 when channel 6 is in operation. Others say owners of the cheaper makes of sets will have to forget that channel 5 exists, regardless of antenna arrangements.

Listed among the criminal cases is the appeal of Donald Keith Cathro, 26, against a life sentence for the manslaughter of Ah Wing, who was slain during a holdup at his suburban Kitsilano grocery store in Vancouver on Jan. 6, 1955.

Cathro, a construction worker, was convicted of murdering the elderly Chinese but was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court of Canada last year. The murder indictment was reduced to manslaughter by a jury which tried him for a second time in Vancouver in January.

Protection for birds of prey stems from a plea made by Dick Bird, Regina, Sask., famous wildlife photographer, who showed a colored nature film in Victoria Tuesday.

Dr. Carl said scientists, conservationists, naturalists and sportsmen, favor some changes to the game laws to protect predatory birds.

Predatory birds, the majority of which live chiefly on destructive rodents and insects, he said, are important to maintain the "balance of nature."

Navy Trust Fund Official Found Dead on Street

A resident of Victoria for many years and secretary of the western claim section of the Canadian Naval Benevolent Trust Fund, Paul A. Fecteau died this morning at age of 58.

His body was found at the intersection of Esquimalt and Admirals Road shortly before 10 a.m. by Esquimalt police. It is presumed he died of a heart attack.

Mr. Fecteau, retired from the Royal Canadian Navy, was born in Quebec City and had been a resident of Esquimalt since 1931.

He is survived by his wife at 530 Lampson; two daughters, Mrs. (Mimi) Eastland of Courtenay, B.C., and Mrs. (Rita) Pecknell of Seattle, and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later from Sands Mortuary Ltd.

METAMORPHOSIS OF OLD FARM

Cobble Hill Spot Becomes Nudist Camp

By PENNY SAVER

I'm sure that cookie jars are just meant to be raided. And the temptation is a great one when the cookies are housed in a comical cookie jar shaped just like the show house where the old lady with so many children lived. Laces, bright windows and patches of flowers in front all add to the charm of this glazed pottery jar. A slanted shake roof with raised chimney lifts off. The little people in the house will adopt this as their own because of its gay colors, and roomy cookie space. This one costs $3.50.

A knobby stump with blossoms and sprigs of green on the side is topped with a flat lid with a posy for a handle. This, too, is a cookie jar. The lids of these jars are easy to hold, so little hands can easily put the lid on again safely. The stump is $2.95.

Those of you who enjoy wine often or occasionally will be interested in the cleverly made wine bottle holder I came across. The holder and handle are made of one length of brass. It curves around to form a flat base, swirls in a loop to hold the neck of the bottle, and curves into a handle, which is covered with woven wicker. Slip the neck of the bottle into the slot, rest it on the base, and there it sits on a handy pouring angle. This would be smart in any setting — formal or informal. The price is $5.25.

Inexpensive and smart are the hostess sets that caught my eye in a downtown shop. A cigarette box with a pair of individual ash trays are of glazed pottery, in an English countryside pattern. Two patterns are shown in these sets. As I said, they're inexpensive, at just 95 cents for the three.

For the hostess who enjoys serving refreshments in an attractive way, there's a large carved wooden acorn to set in the middle of a large wooden of pottery serving plate. Tiny holes cover the four-inch acorn. Olives, pickles, cheese or any number of tidbits on colorful picks burst around the top of the acorn. It's yours for $1.65.

Old-Fashioned Spring Tonic From Molasses

OLD-FASHIONED SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES (2 DOZ.)

Two and one-quarter cups sifted, all-purpose flour; 2 teaspoons soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 egg, unbeaten, 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses, 1/2 cup water.

Sift together flour, soda, ginger, cinnamon and salt. Cream shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add egg and molasses; mix well.

Add dry ingredients alternately with water, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Drop by heaping spoonful on ungreased cookie sheet.

Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Store in closely covered container.

GINGERBREAD BOYS (1 1/2 DOZEN)

One-half cup shortening, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses, 1 egg, 2 1/2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour; 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cloves, 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.

Cream together shortening,

Spring tonic in the form of old-fashioned soft molasses cookies and gingerbread boys is just what doctor ordered for a treat.

sugar and molasses. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices. Add to molasses mixture; mix well. Chill dough about 2 hours.

Roll out 1/4-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with a 6-inch gingerbread-man cutter, or cut around cardboard pattern.

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 10 to 12 minutes.

ORNAMENTAL FROSTING

Sift together 1 cup confectioners' sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar; add 1 egg white and 1/4 teaspoon vanilla. Beat with a rotary beater until frosting holds its shape.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Let's Face It—Skin on Face Reflects General Condition

The complexion very quickly reflects general health, the way we live and eat and even the way we feel and think.

Too many women think of the skin on their faces as a thing apart from their general body make-up. They expect to apply one or two of the modern high powered products available and find that these make up for dietary deficiencies and a lack of fresh air and sunshine, exercise and sleep.

There is no one food which will build a beautiful skin but a well balanced diet, with emphasis on the vitamins and minerals, will promote skin beauty. If you sleep and rest enough, exercise and deeply breathe in fresh air, and include generous amounts of the leafy and green vegetables, meat and milk, eggs and whole grain and citrus fruit juices in your diet, you will have a head start on your contemporaries who do not go in for such healthful living.

It is said to be a fine idea to give our skins a rest from cosmetics for part of each 24 hours. Cleanse the skin thoroughly and then let it breathe for a few hours. Even the woman who works outside her home should try to find time for this.

If you do not have the problem of dryness, of course your skin will have this opportunity while you sleep. However, most women need a lubricating cream and others do not wish to go to bed without make-up because of looking less attractive for their husbands.

If you do not work outside your home you can soak your complexion in a lubricating cream for a few hours daily, then remove the cream and let the skin "breathe" for another few hours.

You can accomplish many beauty routines while doing your housework. Remember to watch your posture while going about the house. Pull your tummy in, lift your chest and keep your chin parallel to the floor as you perform your tasks. Housewives have a big advantage over the career gal when it comes to skin care and beauty routines.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Your Outer Coating," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 47 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Lime-flavored gelatin prepared according to package directions and zipped up in flavor with prepared horseradish is a perfect base for molding canned cling peach slices. Chill in individual molds and serve on crisp lettuce.

Egg yolk now comes ready to use, sealed in a jar. Eliminate that daily egg-bolling chore. Keep unused portion refrigerated. Baby won't know the difference between it and the fresh article.

Bring Enemy Out From Behind Iron Curtain Urges Soroptimist Head

The western world, those who believe in democracy, freedom of thought, freedom of worship, must widen the circle of their faith to embrace the enemy, instead of screening him off, as Russian has done, behind an Iron Curtain of prejudice and hate.

This thought was enunciated by Mrs. Pluma Batten, president of the North American Federation of Soroptimists, in an address given at a tea in the Empress Hotel on Monday.

Sponsored by the Victoria Soroptimists, the tea was one of several social events held following a three-day Soroptimist convention in Nanaimo last week. Several midwestern, mainland and up-island delegates were among guests.

Miss Marian Storey, Victoria Soroptimist president, chaired the formal part of the gathering. Mrs. Batten, who was introduced by the western regional governor, Mrs. Lennie McNeill, Edmonton, brought with her, as evidence of the new "peaceful" instruments against war, some of the balloons sent adrift from western Europe to carry messages of friendship to Russia.

The grim impact of two world wars within 30 years had roused mankind to realization that another "hot" war could not and must not happen again, she said. Other means must be found to settle international disputes.

Monetary cost of the First World War was $17,000,000,000. Thirteen of every 100 of the 65,000,000 combatants were killed. By 1939 war had become even more deadly and costly. This war cost one trillion dollars. Three of every 100 of the 16,000,000 combatants died.

"No nation with any understanding of economics is going to support a repetition of such a disaster," declared Mrs. Batten. The cruel materialism of Karl Marx's godless philosophy was today seeking domination of the eastern world. The mantle of leadership in the opposite school of thought, democracy, had fallen, it seemed, on the English-speaking world.

One philosophy placed the emphasis on materialism; the other recognized higher power and spiritual guidance. It was imperative that efforts be made to teach democracy through every available channel to all lands behind the Iron Curtain.

Miss Storey received the guests at the tea. Mrs. J. U. Kimmett and Miss Alma Russell presided and servers were Mrs. Margaret Dockrill, Mrs. Nan Pohl, Miss Gertrude Maywood, Miss Muriel Vincent and Miss Ella Walker.

Guests of honor were Mrs. Batten and Miss MacNeill. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. B. Harvey, Mrs. Anne Williams and Miss Edith Pritchard of Courtenay; Miss Mary Munn, Miss Sue Brewster and Miss Amy Hall, Regina. Others present included Senator Nancy Hodges, Miss Nel Jones, Miss L. Milne, Mrs. J. Boyd, Miss Ethel Bruce, Mrs. M. Christie, Mrs. R. Greenslade, Mrs. J. B. Roberts, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Anne Pearson.

A 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Watson, 1260 Denman Street, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Easter weekend. They were guests of honor at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Watson, 1897 Foul Bay Road, at a party, where family gathered to celebrate the anniversary and the couple's birthdays which were this weekend. Two grandchildren, Master Patrick Watson and Miss Lynn Ricketts presented them with a boutonniere and corsage respectively. Mr. and Mrs. Watson's eldest daughter, Mrs. Arthur Clatworthy presented them with a television set on behalf of the family. Other guests were Mr. Clatworthy, Mr. and Mrs. Sid Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Norm Ricketts, and guests of honor's other grandchildren, Dennis and Sidney Watson, Beverley Watson, Russell Ricketts, Jerome and Alfred Clatworthy. Mr. and Mrs. Watson were married in Saffron Walden, Essex, Eng., and came to Canada and to Victoria 37 years ago.

Ski Lodge Guests

Last weekend found a number of Victorians at Forbidden Plateau Lodge for skiing and sunning. Guests were Misses Sybil Lees, Didi Cabellu, Susan Cookes, Mrs. Margot Pea, Mrs. Francis Brown and son Larry, Mr. Derek Denny, Mr. Bill Baker, Mr. Peter Fletcher, Mr. Derek Fletcher, Mr. Larry Shipley and Mr. Lloyd Jernslet. From Vancouver were Mr. and Mrs. E. Rich, visitors from London, Eng.; Mr. D. Macdonald and sons, Brock and Gregg; Misses Victoria Gurnther, Inge Gurnther and Annemarie Dahlse, Mr. E. Bluitzen-Petersen and Mr. F. Brandstatter came from Duncan, and Mr. W. E. Johnson, and K. V. Aro, from Nanaimo.

Bringing Up Baby.

WHILE COLLECTED BY Mrs. Ann Barker (MOTHER OF 5)

Surprising how soon babies come to be eaten, or at least tasted—from toes to bonnet ribbons. New mothers often worry about it, but by and large this nibbling pastime does no harm, since most things around a baby are clean as can be, and objects small enough to swallow are kept well out of baby's reach. On the plus side: the mouth is baby's first great "teacher." With it he learns taste, texture, shape and one of the pleasures of life: the enjoyment of good food.

Speaking of taste and texture in the pleasant sense of the word—Gerber Strained Foods satisfy baby's needs beautifully. True-to-nature flavors and a nice-on-the-tongue texture spell downright eating pleasure for the baby on the verge of a full food schedule. Fruits, vegetables, meat, soups and desserts—all processed with particular care to preserve maximum food values. Over 35 varieties.

MOCK POACHED EGG
1 potato • Butter or margarine
Hot milk • Gerber Strained or Junior Carrots • Salt

Cook and mash potato. Add butter, milk, seasoning. Heat carrots and place in the center of a mound of mashed potato.

Ball game for one. If baby has crawl privileges, a bright-colored ball provides a wonderful creeping incentive. Helps teach concentration and co-ordination, too.

Early addition to the infant diet—orange juice—for the vitamin C so vital to sound gums and body tissues. Gerber Strained Orange Juice is made from tree-ripened fruit, selected for high vitamin-C content, mild flavor and appealing color. Careful pasteurization insures purity. FINAL ★★★★★ BULLETINS

Bank Bandit Brought Guns From Korea

LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—Father of bank bandit William Howerton, killed Tuesday in a gun battle with RCMP, said here today he knew it was his boy who had done most of the shooting.

"I know Hank shot the policeman," he said.
He blamed the Canadian Army for allowing his son to bring back a Thompson sub-machine gun as well as Chinese "burp" gun from Korea. The machine gun was found by police Tuesday after the bank theft and recovered the "burp" gun from the Howerton home.

Ottawa to Restrict 'Goof-Ball' Sales

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department is planning regulations to ban drugstore sales of sleep-inducing "goof balls" except through a doctor's prescription. Dr. C. A. Morrell, head of the health department's food and drug division, said today, "we are working on the regulations and they should be coming down soon."

French N. Africans Eyeing Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—A heavy flow of inquiries from residents of French North Africa wishing to settle in Canada is being received by Canadian immigration officials. Apparent cause is the Arab terrorism and political unrest in the area.

An immigration department spokesman said today about 3,000 inquiries have been received in the last six or eight months here and at the Canadian embassy in Paris. Most are believed to be French nationals.

Washington State Faces Flood Threat

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—A gigantic blanket of snow covering the Cascade Mountains could cause serious spring floods in western Washington, a U.S. geological survey engineer said here today.

Fred M. Veatch, who has conducted the Cascade snow surveys for 14 years, said the snow pack is 50 per cent greater than the average for the last 10 years.

Three Perish in Northern B.C.

RED ROCK, B.C. (BUP)—Three lives were lost in a fire which destroyed a house at Red Rock, B.C., 20 miles south of Prince George, today.

Dead are Mrs. Vera Harrison, James Vickers, 17, and his sister, Ella, 15. Mrs. Harrison's husband, Jack, is in Prince George district hospital suffering from burns.

Suspect in $38,000 Theft Returning

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A man suspected of robbing a Florida visitor to Vancouver of $38,000 in 1953 is on his way back to Vancouver under police guard.

Detective Harry Horton of Vancouver police force flew to Tampa, Florida, Tuesday night to escort Edward R. Scott, 60, to stand trial. He is believed to be one of two men who robbed Mrs. Lillian Kolenutt, 65, of Clearwater, Florida, of the money.

UN Secretary to Visit Middle East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The UN Security Council today unanimously approved a United States plan to send secretary-general Dag Hammarskjöld on a special peace mission to the Middle East.

LONDON (Reuters)—Three Israeli soldiers were killed in a shooting incident on the Israel-Egyptian border today, Israel radio reported.

Public Warned On Cancer Cure

Official Statement by U.S.
Hits Claims of Hoxsey Clinic

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government issued a formal public warning today against the Hoxsey cancer treatment, which it termed worthless and "imminently dangerous" if its use leads to neglect of other care.

The food and drug administration said some of the medicine used by Harry M. Hoxsey in his cancer treatment contains potassium iodide, and "there is evidence that potassium iodide accelerates the growth of some cancers."

Hoxsey disputed the government's contentions. At his clinic in Dallas, Tex., he said he has records of cases "proving that we have been successful... after radium, x-ray and surgery have failed." He said the government never has made a full investigation.

The agency said Hoxsey set up

HOSPITALS BUDGET 'FREEZE' SCRAPPED

Gov't To Pay Third Of 1955 Deficits

By TOM GOULD, Times Legislative Reporter

British Columbia's Social Credit government has scrapped its 1955 freeze order on hospital budgets, and offered to pay one-third of hospitals' operating deficits.

The two major hospital insurance policy changes were sent out to all hospitals in the province this week, the Times learned today.

The hospital administrators have been advised that:

1. BCHIS will pick up the tab for one-third of operating deficits incurred by hospitals on firm budgets during 1955.

2. The freeze order on hospital wage increase issued in May, 1955, has been scrapped.

COST BOOSTED

The two measures will add $1,500,000 to the cost of operating B.C.'s hospital insurance system during 1956.

Acceptance of the 1955 wage rates, will cost an estimated $1,250,000, while one-third of the operating deficits is estimated at $250,000.

In its policy changes, the government maintained brakes on hospital budgets, to prevent a financial runaway in hospital administration.

Circulars, dated March 28, advised the hospitals that under the new hospital policy, the government will "accept 1955 salary rates, plus 1956 annual increments as listed in the 1955 wage agreements, where a wage agreement exists for that year."

"Where a hospital did not sign a 1955 wage agreement, and is still paying on the basis of a 1954 agreement, a percentage increase in salaries will be allowed, equivalent to the increase granted by nearby hospitals that signed 1955 wage agreements."

In the case of a hospital which did not have a wage agreement for any or all groups of employees, the government will accept the wage rates shown in the hospital estimates for 1956 "where the proposed rates are not out of line with the 1955 salaries for hospitals in the same area."

40-HOUR WEEK

In a further concession to hard-pressed hospital boards, the government announced it will allow "reasonable staff numbers, and salaries," to make possible a 40-hour week in any hospital now operating on a 44-hour week.

The individual hospital (only a few are involved) will decide whether the additional funds are to be used to adopt the shorter week, pay its present employees the added funds, or use the funds in other ways for patient care.

Pension plans, medical health or other forms of "fringe benefits" added as the result of 1955 wage agreements, will not be accepted as an operating expenditure when budgets are up for BCHIS consideration, however.

Another change increases the per diem rate of $4 for newborn patients to $5, from January 1, 1956. The government said that in view of rising costs of hospital care, the existing rate was considered "inadequate."

The circular said "in reviewing budgets, it must be kept in mind that a hospital's operating cost must compare reasonably with those of similar hospitals."

"In this connection, if it so

CITY HOSPITALS PLEASED WITH DEFICIT OFFER

Victoria hospital officials today expressed satisfaction with the government's plan to have the BCHIS pay one-third of last year's hospital deficits.

"It will mean about $33,000 on our deficit of $100,000," said George Masters, Royal Jubilee Hospital administrator. "We are pleased to have it and it will help us a lot."

Sister Superior at St. Joseph's Hospital said the books had not yet been completed for 1955, but indicated a deficit would exist.

"One-third will be a great help," she said. "But I don't know where we will find the other two-thirds."

BURNABY GUN BATTLE HERO IN GOOD CONDITION

RCMP Constable H. M. C. (Bud) Johnstone, hit with eight bullets during his battle with bandits in Tuesday's bank holdup at Burnaby, was reported in good condition today by hospital officials at New Westminster. Johnstone, seen in hospital bed, had seven of the eight bullets removed Tuesday. Eighth bullet will be removed later. A button on Johnstone's tunic was credited with saving his life in the fusillade of shots. The heavy button was found on the bank floor, smashed by the impact of a bullet. (See Page 2.)

Cassiar Road Contractors To Sue Laing

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing has been notified that Wade & Wells Ltd., contractors on the controversial Stewart-Cassiar road, intend suing him for slander.

Mr. Laing was informed of the pending action by Col. C. C. Merritt, VC, who has been retained by the interior construction firm.

The slander action will revolve on statements Mr. Laing is alleged to have made concerning the northern mining assistance road in a speech before a Vancouver public meeting March 18.

At the meeting, the Liberal leader disclosed contents of a letter he wrote to newly appointed Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, questioning legality of payments to Wade & Wells for work on the road.

Mr. Laing would make no comment today.

Col. Merritt said, "I have no statement to make. I have no instructions to say anything."

Grace Kelly Sails To Marry Her Prince

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Movie star Grace Kelly left today to marry her prince, live in a palace and become Her Serene Highness Princess Gracia Patricia of Monaco, the most titled woman in Europe.

She sailed amid a clamor that almost resembled a mob scene.

"I'm a little numb, very excited... very happy," the star said.

The 26-year-old Philadelphia girl who topped her sudden rise to movie stardom by capturing bachelor Prince Rainier III, 32, in a brief Christmas holiday courtship, sailed at noon today aboard the Ss. Constitution. She will be married in a civil ceremony on April 18 and in a church ceremony on April 19.

More than 60 of the wedding guests as well as Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr., the bride-to-be's parents; four bridesmaids and the specially-packed wedding dress also are travelling on the ship with Miss Kelly.

The reunion with Prince Rainier, who last saw his future princess in Hollywood a month ago, will be a dramatic shipboard meeting in the harbor of Monaco April 12. The Constitution will anchor in the harbor after the regular passengers disembark at Cannes, France, so the prince can pull alongside in the honeymoon yacht to take Miss Kelly and her family aboard.

The prince is one of the most titled of Europe's monarchs, and Miss Kelly inherits all of the titles. He has two titles of prince, eight of count, four of duke and five of baron.

Miss Kelly will live alone aboard the ship in one of the four luxurious veranda suites. Her blue-carpeted stateroom adjoins a glassed-in veranda on the sundeck of the 900-passenger ship. Red-upholstered couch beds take up the major portion of two walls of the stateroom, and a small dressing room and bathroom opens from a third wall.

KNOW YOUR TEACHER

Veteran of Dunkirk At Macaulay Point

English expatriate A. I. (Les) Isaacson came to Victoria originally as an airman in 1943 to serve as a navigation officer at Patricia Bay, found the city to his liking and came back to teach in 1951.

Presently he is principal at the brand-new Macaulay School in Esquimalt which provides seven classrooms for grades 1-4.

Mr. Isaacson's home was Cambridge, Eng., where he taught school for five years after his discharge from the Royal Air Force. He began his higher education in England just before the Second World War, which caused him to leave his studies and join the army in 1939.

His enlistment was early enough in the conflict to allow him to serve on the continent and he was one of those who managed to escape at Dunkirk.

In 1940 he transferred to the RAF and served in coastal command before being sent to Pat Bay.

He married a Canadian girl here in 1944 before his return to England.

Back in Canada in 1951, Mr. Isaacson taught at Oak Bay High School, Monterey Elementary and Quadra School, where he was vice-principal in 1954-55.

By means of summer and winter sessions at University of British Columbia, the teacher is now completing study for his bachelor of arts degree interrupted 17 years ago.

When younger he participated in all sports, and still plays badminton for relaxation. He referees local minor soccer and until last year was a referee for Coast Soccer League games.

He lives at 3104 Quadra, where gardening occupies much of his leisure time.

happens that a hospital in the past paid lower than average salaries and employed a higher than average number of personnel, that hospital must be prepared, if it increases salary rates to the area average, to reduce staff accordingly, or otherwise compensate for the excess cost over that of comparable hospitals.

Health Minister Eric Martin was not available for comment on the policy changes, which were not openly announced by the government.

his clinic at Dallas in 1936 and that its growth has been steady. Officials said the agency never has taken a precisely similar action to warn the public against any medicine or treatment. The public warning is to be published in the federal register as an official document.

In a separate statement, the agency said it is developing a contempt-of-court proceeding alleging that Hoxsey and members of his staff have violated the 1953 injunction against interstate transportation of their products.

WILL TAKE TIME

But it said this is almost certain to be a lengthy court case, and the action "may not result in a cessation of his Hoxsey's activities for some time to come."

This statement declared also that the agency "has received reports of deaths which occurred after surgery was forsaken in favor of the Hoxsey treatment while the cancer was still operable and where surgery promised excellent prospects of cure."

The government agency said the Hoxsey treatment costs $400, plus $50 in additional fees, and added that these "expenditures... will yield nothing of any value in the care of cancer."

It declared the treatment employs drugs in such a way as to involve "imminent danger to health or gross deception of the consumer."

"Its sale represents a gross deception to the consumer. It is immediately dangerous to rely upon it in neglect of competent and rational treatment."

ASKS COMPLETE INQUIRY

Hoxsey said in his reply: "My statement is that for 35 years I have been pleading and begging the American Medical Association, the pure food and drug administration, the surgeon general and others to make a complete investigation of our records that show we now have 10,000 patients under treatment and observation from as far away as New Zealand."

"We have pathological records of some of the largest hospitals in the world, proving that we have been successful on these cases after radium, x-ray and surgery have failed."

"If they will come here and make an investigation and if I fail to prove by my records that we have cured the most deadly type, malignant melanoma or black cancer, I will lock the doors of this clinic forever."

Mass Swim Fund Aid Refused By Government

Provincial government contribution to a Juan de Fuca strait swim jackpot was ruled out Tuesday by Premier Bennett.

Meanwhile, a match race across the strait between Cliff Lumsdon and Bert Thomas has been ruled out definitely by Junior Chamber of Commerce in favor of a mass swim for a giant prize late this summer.

"We're planning on a mass swim unless something comes up to change our minds," said Stickney Harris, junior chamber president.

"A certain amount of interest has been shown," Mr. Harris said. Details of a campaign to raise from $10,000 to $15,000 as a purse for the winner will be heard tonight at a meeting of the junior chamber's executive and swim committee.

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Blueprints have been drawn up for the proposed Trans-Canada Highway by-pass around Chilliwack except for the area near Cottonwood Corners, Kenneth Kiernan, agriculture minister, said here Tuesday.

In his address to the Chilliwack Board of Trade, Mr. Kiernan said no land has been purchased yet but that the provincial government anticipated an early start on the by-pass.

'This Is It' Said Bud as Bullets Hit

Mountie Relates His Big Moment

VANCOUVER (CP)—

"Every time I got shot I said to myself: 'this is it,'" Constable H. M. C. "Bud" Johnstone said last night after surviving a hail of bullets from the guns of four bank bandits while killing one of them and wounding another.

Interviewed in hospital where doctors removed seven bullets from his body, Const. Johnstone described his encounter and the 20-second gun battle.

"I ran into the bank and said to the manager: 'Any thing happening?'"

"He nodded his head and I soon found out why he didn't speak as the man who had him covered behind the counter took a shot at me."

POINT BLANK

"Then another jumped out from the manager's office and fired at me point blank."

"He was no more than three feet away."

"A third came at me down the long hall inside the bank and he emptied his gun at me. Funny thing, that one surrendered to me and by then my gun was empty."

Const. Johnstone said two men ran out of the bank and he followed.

"The first one I shot at dropped dead and I dropped, too. I was getting weaker and weaker."

"There were about 20 shots fired five of them from my gun."

He said the bandits had "small calibre guns."

"I was shot eight times. The whole thing happened in a matter of 20 seconds."

Small Change for Bank Bandits Where Mounties Rule, Club Told

Bank bandits have plenty of encouragement to stay out of RCMP territory, the force's chief officer in B.C. Tuesday told the Victoria Kiwanis Club.

Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac said he hoped the result of the Burnaby bank holdup attempt Tuesday and the fast action of the RCMP would further discourage the bandits.

Giving a resume of bank holdups in RCMP territory in the province within the last five years, the officer cited the incident at Williams Lake when the hoodlum was captured after a chase through the snow and gunfight, another in Burnaby when the bandits got away but were arrested an hour later, again after a gunfight.

In the raid on the mainland bank Tuesday, RCMP were on the scene almost instantly, killing one bandit, wounding another and arresting two more members of the gang.

RCMP training teaches a member of the force "never to give up," the assistant commissioner said.

Members learned, he said, how men's minds reacted, perspective, and such abstract aptitudes as staying calm if conditions "appeared pretty bad indeed."

He said "what we try to do is to provide law enforcement which will protect the community, but always law enforcement which will provide courtesy and service to the public."

Present day members of the force follow traditions established by the original members

Gunderson Appointed PGE Vice-President

Former Social Credit finance minister Einar Gunderson has been appointed executive vice-president of the PGE.

Premier Bennett announced the appointment, which took effect March 14, on his return from vacation on Tuesday.

Mr. Gunderson has been a director of the PGE for several years. In his new post, he will step down to the actual administration of the PGE, directly over PGE general manager Harry Bowman.

"He can now help operate the railway day by day," said Premier Bennett, who described the job as a "fairly full-time" position. Mr. Gunderson's salary will be set by the board of directors.

Mr. Gunderson has been employed as advisor on federal-provincial taxation matters—a job which the premier said was "quite well in hand."

Mr. Gunderson has held various positions with the B.C. government since his defeats at the polls in the 1953 general election, and in the December, 1953, by-election in Victoria, in which he was beaten by Liberal George Gregory.

GRACE SURE SHE WILL BEAR SON

NEW YORK (AP)—Movie star Grace Kelly in a ship-board interview, said she is confident she will bear Prince Rainier a son.

The princess-to-be wants a large family, especially a boy, she told a press conference aboard the American liner Constitution.

Then she added: "My son will be a Monagasque."

That would prevent the tiny principality of Monaco from reverting to France, as it would if Prince Rainier's family line were broken.

A boy or girl could succeed to the throne.

radio and television occupy cabin class staterooms, in most cases four assigned to one room. Three photographers and a publicity man are assigned beds in the ship's hospital. Everything else was filled.

The wedding, declared a two-day national holiday in Monaco, will be preceded by several days of colorful celebrations and countless parties. Theatres will be open around the clock. There will be a public ball on the night of April 17 and a garden party for all 4,000 citizens of Monaco at the palace on April 18. Later in the day the prince will hold a gala at the Monte Carlo opera, including two ballets.

The tiny, 370-acre principality is expected to be jammed with people and automobiles. Rooms have been at a premium for months. Only Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, the bride-to-be and the papal delegate will be at the palace. Most of the other wedding party members will stay at the Hotel De Paris in Monte Carlo.

The future princess has taken along her secretary, Nadia Woods, and her personal hair dresser, Virginia D'Arcy, but they do not plan to work for her after the wedding.

Plane Missing

WINNIPEG (CP)—A twin-engine Anson aircraft, with a pilot and six passengers aboard, is missing on a 200-mile flight from Red Sucker lake in northwestern Ontario to Riverton, Man. RCAF officials reported here today.

Sir Stanley Marchant, British organist who died in 1949, wrote many pieces of church music and some songs.

Tornado Toll Reaches 41

CHICAGO (UPI)—A two-day barrage of killer tornadoes striking at 11 states left 41 persons dead, more than 500 injured, and hundreds homeless and destitute today.

The death count climbed as rescue crews searched the debris in twisted, shattered communities. Some areas looked like bomb-shattered battlefields. Damage was in the millions of dollars.

The tornado damage extended from Oklahoma to Michigan. It killed 34 persons Tuesday and last night, hitting eight southern and midwest states. Tornadoes Monday night killed seven persons in two southwestern states.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

O GOD OF GRACE we speak to Thee today on behalf of those who have lost the joy they once had. Lift them out of the difficulties and indifference into which they have fallen. Give them a place and a part in Thy love, in Jesus' name. Amen.

DRAMATIC ARREST of fourth suspect in Burnaby bank holdup. Manacled and under heavy guard suspect watches as Vancouver and Burnaby police search tangle of brush for sawed-off shotgun thrown away when bandit fled in stolen panel truck. The suspect, behind officer's arm, was captured without resistance. An unfired Thompson sub-machine gun was found near the spot. The shotgun was found in the bank. The sub-machine gun was loaded with a 40-round clip and set for firing. (Vancouver Sun photo.)

VICTORIA-CAMP BORDEN-TORONTO-MONTREAL-VICTORIA

Truck-Driver Wanders 7,000 Miles in Five Weeks

Canada's "traveling men" are not all dapper, sample-case-carrying salesmen.

A leather-jacketed Langford man, who may on occasion sleep by the side of the road, is due home late this week after driving a truck about 7,000 miles across the rugged face of Canada for nearly five weeks.

When he arrives back in Victoria late this week, Noel Ballerone of 27 Claude Road, Langford, will take a well-earned rest with his wife and family.

Mr. Ballerone arrived in Winnipeg today on the last lap of a marathon journey that has taken him from Victoria to Camp Borden, on to Toronto, back to Camp Borden, on to Montreal and then back across Canada heading for Vancouver.

Driving across Canada is not any novelty for him. That is his regular job as truck driver with Mellwaine Van Storage Ltd. and he takes it in his stride.

But on this particular trip Ballerone has covered more mileage than usual.

He left Victoria with a 12,000-pound load of household furniture destined for Camp Borden, Ont. On arrival there he had intended to shop around for a worthwhile load to justify the long haul back.

Instead he was commissioned to go south to Toronto, pick up three service families there and drive them with their belongings to Camp Borden.

When he arrived back at Camp Borden, Ballerone was told of a quantity of household goods waiting to be shipped from Montreal to Vancouver.

He promptly set off east for Montreal and crammed every spare inch in the truck before beginning the long haul back to the Pacific.

After delivering his heavy load in Vancouver Ballerone will look around for anyone who wants to ship furniture to Victoria.

"We can always rely on him to pick up any business that's going," a spokesman for Mellwaine Van Storage Ltd. said.
